PARIS HEARS U.S. REJECTS PLEA TO HELP AVERT WAR

French Make Appeal in Czech-Nazi Row.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 24.—The United States tonight was reported to have refused to associate itself with France and Great Britain in their efforts to prevent Adolf Hitler from leading Germany into a war with Czechoslovakia.

William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to Paris, was said to have transmitted the United States government's refusal to Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France. It was delivered after the Paris government had asked America to make diplomatic representations to Germany, expressing the interest of the United States in the maintenance of peace.

Refuses to Change Policy.

The reply of President Roosevelt's government, it was reported, expressed sympathy with British and French efforts to avert war in central Europe. In addition, it was said to have declared that such intervention by the United States would be contrary to the traditional policy of noninterference in European affairs.

France's plea for American "support" for preventing war was sent to Washington, D. C., through Bullitt, who was called to the foreign office this afternoon.

The French, it was said, did not expect the United States to assume any responsibility in regard to the German-Czech crisis. Nevertheless, it was strongly believed that if Washington put itself clearly on record as favoring the keeping of peace and condemning any act of violence against Czechoslovakia, it would have a deterrent effect upon Germany.

Request Made Twice.

The French foreign ministry said its request to the United States has been made twice—through Bullitt and through Count Rene Doynel de St. Quentin, the French ambassador in Washington.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Paris said an American embassy spokesman insisted no such request had been received and there was no question of joint action including the United States.]

While negotiations in Prague between Konrad Henlein, leader of the 3,250,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia, and Dr. Milan Hodza, Czech premier, for a settlement of the Sudeten crisis were delayed, more important consultations were going on in Paris and in London to insure the future existence of a reorganized Czechoslovakia.

Offer Equal Rights for All.

The Czechs informed the French and British governments they are willing to become a central European Switzerland in which all races of the polyglot republic will have equal rights. However, they insist on further guarantees against German aggression to compensate for weakening their defense.

Without such guarantees the Czechs declared the proposed reorganization of their nation simply would put them at the mercy of the Germans and in some future crisis they would be unable to stave off attack a second time by mobilizing their army.

On the other hand, if France and England make it clear they will be as firm and vigilant in the future as they were in this crisis, the Prague government, it is understood, is prepared to go a long way to seek a stable accord with Germany.

Suggest Another Locarno.

For one thing Czechoslovakia would become an economic associate of Germany. Also the Czech military alliances with soviet Russia and France which the Germans consider as an "encirclement" automatically would be superseded if some new instrument of collective security like the Locarno pact were forged to guarantee Czechoslovakia's frontiers and sovereignty.

[The Locarno pact guaranteed the frontiers in western Europe. Germany's action in remilitarizing the Rhineland in March, 1936, marked the end of this agreement.]

France, needless to say, fully is behind Czechoslovakia in the demand for new guarantees to compensate for the huge concessions expected from her.

It even is possible that experts in the French foreign office may be working on an even more ambitious scheme for central Europe which

CHICAGO BOUND LINER CRASHES NEAR CLEVELAND

Take Charred Bodies from Wreckage.

Cleveland, O., May 24.—[Special.]—A huge twin motored plane of the United Air Lines crashed in flames late tonight near the village of Independence, south of here, killing its crew of three and seven passengers.

Arrow points to site of crash.

Firemen from the village and from Cleveland, who hurried to the scene, found the still blazing wreckage of the big craft in a field. They recovered the ten bodies, all badly charred.

List of the Victims.

Miss Mildred Macek, stewardess, 3820 North Fairwell street, Milwaukee.

E. H. Veblen, Santa Monica, Cal., test pilot for the Douglas Aircraft corporation.

R. C. Lewis, Ansonia, Conn., sales engineer for the Farrell Birmingham company, steel founders.

L. Arthur Doty, Boston, Mass.

C. F. Lickel of the Barron Welding company, New York.

J. R. Moffett, believed to have been from Chicago.

R. P. Morrell, New York salesman.

Doty had left Boston late in the afternoon to go to Chicago, where his brother, Harold Doty, died today. The Dotys formerly were residents of Decatur, Ill.

Report Flames in Air.

The ship a 21 passenger Douglas made up as a sleeper plane for night service, left New York at 7:30 p. m. [E. S. T.] and was to have proceeded to Chicago after a stop here at 10:30 p. m. It was well up on its schedule and only eight miles from the airport when it crashed.

Residents of Garfield Heights, another suburb, reported seeing the plane ablaze in the air shortly before 10:30 p. m. They said its forward parts appeared to be in flames and the pilot seemed to be trying to find a landing place. Several reported he had tossed out flares, apparently in an effort to call attention to his plight or to light the ground for a landing.

Maj. John Berry, superintendent of the Cleveland airport, said James C. Wynne, radio operator in the airport control tower, saw the plane fall but saw no flames.

Officials of the air line said their information indicated the pilot was forced to make a landing because of engine trouble and that he came to grief because of the ruggedness of the terrain. They expressed the belief the ship did not catch fire until it struck.

Farmers Describe Disaster.

The dense woods in the vicinity made it impossible for the fire engines to get close to the wreck. The flames roared to a height of forty feet after the gasoline tank burst.

Farmers near the scene of the crash were among the first to reach the wrecked plane. John McKenna, one of them, said that he heard the huge machine roaring over his home at low altitude and then distinctly heard the crash a few minutes later.

It was apparent the craft had first struck a grove of trees before coming to rest in a plowed field. One wing was left on a hill a hundred feet from the main portion of the ship, and another wing had dropped into a small ravine nearby.

First in 44,000 Trips.

United Air Line officials pointed out they had made 44,000 trips carrying passengers between New York and Cleveland and this was the first time any passenger had suffered injury. Pilot Brandon had reported thirteen minutes before the crash, when he was forty miles out, that everything was all right. There were no indications as to what had caused the necessity for his sudden descent. Atmospheric conditions were good, the sky clear, and temperature about 60.

Brandon was married in 1932 to Miss Elphae Hartshorn of Kansas City a month after they met on a plane he was flying. He was with the British royal air forces during the world war and later was pilot with the White Russian forces.

British Police Foil Kidnaping of Auto King

LONDON, May 24.—(AP)—Two men were arrested tonight in a daring attempt to kidnap Viscount Nuffield, a wealthy British motor magnate, who has given millions of dollars to charity.

Viscount Nuffield.

The men were seized after they had entered Lord Nuffield's office at the Cowley works of the Morris Motor company near Oxford and ordered the magnate to enter their automobile. The plant already had closed for the night. A friend of Nuffield's in a nearby office heard the men's voices and called police.

England Is "Amazed."

Britain, where kidnaping is virtually without precedent, was amazed at the daring attempt.

Britons frequently have held the United States up to scorn for the wave of kidnapings there and because of the fact that Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh sought refuge in England following the kidnaping and murder of their son.

The two arrested men were taken to the Oxford police station, where they were held incommunicado. Officials refused to disclose their identities. They will be brought before a magistrate for hearing tomorrow.

Known as 'Ford of Britain.'

Lord Nuffield, who is known as the "Henry Ford of Britain," has given away nearly 100 million dollars in the last fifteen years, including 16½ million dollars to Oxford university alone. He is 60 years old. The son of a poor Oxfordshire clerk, he has had a Horatio Alger career. He began business as a bicycle repair man with a capital of $25. Now he owns a great chain of automobile factories.

For his philanthropies he was made a baronet in 1929, became the first Baron Nuffield in 1934, and was raised to the rank of viscount last January.

Lord Nuffield frequently works alone at night in his private office. Only last week he agreed to cooperate with the government's scheme for air rearmament, and it was thought he was working on plans for a new factory to build planes when the would-be kidnapers entered.

They arrived in front of the factory in a large limousine and boldly walked into the plant. Kenneley Rumford, a personal friend of the manufacturer, overheard them order Nuffield to leave the building and enter their car. Rumford telephoned for police.

ONCE SLEW ATTACKER OF HIS DOG; GETS $500 REWARD FOR KINDNESS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—William Cunningham, a Negro, who once killed a man who stoned his dog, got a reward today for being kind to animals—a $500 bequest in the will of Mary Craige Yarrow. Cunningham served twenty-seven years in the penitentiary for the slaying and was pardoned last year. Miss Yarrow, a daughter of a Philadelphia physician, said in her will the $500 has been long due Cunningham.

MOVE TO INCLUDE 16 MILLION MORE IN OLD AGE PLAN

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—The social security board began studies today looking toward inclusion of 16,000,000 additional persons under federal old age insurance.

The advisory council to the board asked it to provide data by Sept. 15 on possible methods of extending the coverage to domestic servants, farm laborers, and self-employed workers.

It also recommended that approximately 570,000 employés of nonprofit religious, charitable, and educational institutions, now excluded, be brought under the plan.

Tax Bureau Decides Vexing Question; Cave Isn't a Farm

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—A cave is not a farm, and persons who cultivate mushrooms in caves are not farmers, the internal revenue bureau said today. The bureau decided these questions because agricultural workers are exempted from social security taxes. It held the exemption applied only to those who work on a farm in the usual sense of the word.

Ickes' Surprise Wedding Sets Capital A-Buzz

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Official and social Washington tonight buzzed over the surprise marriage of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, and Miss Jane Dahlman, young Milwaukee society girl, in Dublin, Ireland, this morning.

The bride, who is 25 years old, and the bridegroom, 64, were honeymooning tonight either in southern Ireland or on their way to London and Paris. They planned to return here in about ten days and go to Ickes' large estate near Olney, Md.

Only a few of Ickes' closest friends knew he had sailed secretly on the Normandie last Wednesday on a trip to Ireland to take a second wife. His first wife, to whom he was married twenty-four years, died following an automobile accident in New Mexico three years ago.

Acquainted Seven Years.

Miss Dahlman—a tall, slim, red haired beauty noted for her athletic ability—has known the cabinet officer for seven years. She is the younger sister of Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes of Winnetka, Ill., widow of the secretary's stepson, who died in 1936.

The Ickes-Dahlman romance bloomed while the Milwaukee girl was employed on research work in government departments in Washington. Two months ago Miss Dahlman went to Dublin to visit her uncle, John Cudahy, United States minister to Ireland, and met her fiancé when he arrived early this morning.

Only seven persons, including the participants, were present at the quiet wedding ceremony performed at 9 a. m. [5 a. m. Chicago time] by the Rev. R. K. Hanna at a Presbyterian church in a residential district on the south side of Dublin.

Legation Attaché Is Best Man.

S. J. Shuttack, attached to the Dublin legation, acted as best man. His wife was matron of honor. Sheila White, a friend of Miss Dahlman, and the church organist who played Mendelssohn's wedding march were the only others present.

The bride wore a navy blue dress, crêpe traveling coat, navy hat and accessories, and a pair of silver fox furs. Her only ornament, besides a bunch of pink carnations which she carried, was her diamond wedding

Father of Slain Bride Testifies at Crabb Trial

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pekin, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—Two fathers took the witness stand in Circuit court here today, one desiring to avenge the death of his daughter, the other to defend the name of his son on trial as her slayer.

In a voice dry with pain, L. Glenn Collison, father of the late Betty Collison Crabb, told the jury how he begged his son-in-law, James Warner Crabb II., to tell him the complete story of his daughter's death, with the words: "What happened? Girls don't just go and shoot themselves!" Collison is an executive of a Champaign radio station.

The defendant's father, Willis W. Crabb, silver haired banker from nearby Delavan, told of events in his home leading up to the fatal shot from which his son's bride of five weeks died in the early morning of March 1.

Gaze Away from Defendant.

The two fathers, both testifying for the state in young Crabb's trial for manslaughter, held the attention of a packed courtroom. The defendant, a handsome, square headed youth of 22, who sat listening with his three attorneys. Both witnesses gazed steadfastly away from him.

Of the two, Collison, final witness of the day, was the more composed. A slight, youthful appearing man with a small, dark moustache, he spoke in a sombre, unhurried voice, his words terse.

He was, too, the more dramatic, perhaps unintentionally. Derision rose in his quiet voice when he quoted his son-in-law as saying: "I just don't know what happened." There was firmness in his voice when he denied the insinuations of the defense that his daughter's death might be attributed to the smoking of marijuana cigarets.

Daughter Called Normal.

Over the belligerent protests of defense counsel, Collison sought to tell the jury his daughter was not of a suicidal temperament, as the defense will attempt to show. This, however, he was not permitted to do. Judge Joseph E. Daily admitted the word "normal," referring to both health and mind, and let it go at that.

Betty, who was 19 years old, was shot to death after she and James returned from a gay party to the elder Crabb's home, where they lived.

Under questioning of Special Prosecutor John E. Cassidy, who is assisting State's Attorney Rayborn L. Russell, Collison testified he learned of his daughter's death at about 3:45 a. m. on March 1, and went immediately to Delavan. Not until 12 hours later, he said, did he manage to talk to James. He then related their conversation.

Repeats James' Account.

"I asked Jimmy to sit down and tell me the happenings of the night before," Collison began. Young Crabb, who had been rocking back and forth,

SOUTHERNERS RIP MEASURE; FIGHT TO LAST

Exemptions Are Won by Farm Areas.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—With southern Democrats roaring their opposition to the last, the house late tonight passed a bill setting up wage and hour standards for American industries engaged in interstate commerce.

The roll call on final passage recorded 314 votes in favor of the measure, 97 against it. Previously a motion to recommit the bill was defeated, 314 to 96. Last December the members voted 216 to 198 to recommit a wage-hour bill.

Estimates concerning the number of employés affected by the bill varied widely. When President Roosevelt sent up a message to congress exactly one year ago today his experts declared that 12,000,000 persons would be relieved by wage-hour legislation from working long hours for low wages. That estimate has dwindled since then until a conservative estimate of 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 has been accepted in many quarters.

Assures Wage-Hour Law.

Tonight's action by the house is believed to have assured passage of a wage-hour bill at this session. The house measure provides for a minimum 25 cents an hour, 44 hour week which becomes a 40 cent-40 hour standard at the end of three years.

The senate last year passed a bill permitting these standards to be altered by a five man board, according to local conditions. Differences between the two bills must be worked out, probably in conference between the two houses.

The house was held in session many hours past the usual adjournment hour in order to force a final vote on the measure which has had such a tortuous trip through congress. Held up by committees, it twice has been forced to the floor by way of the petition method. At the special session last December it was sent back to committee just when its sponsors saw victory in their grasp.

Farmers Gain Victory.

A coalition of farm state representatives and the southern Democrats put over a drastic amendment to the bill. By a vote of 159 to 134, a new section was approved exempting thousands of employés engaged in the processing of agricultural commodities from the provisions of the measure.

Representative Fred Biermann, Iowa Democrat, led the fight for this amendment which provided that individuals employed in the handling, packing, storing, ginning, compressing, pasteurizing, drying, or canning of farm products and the making of butter and cheese should not be subject to the wage and hour standards set up in the bill.

Sponsored by the National Grange and virtually all other farm organizations, the amendment is restricted to those employés working within the area of production of the commodities involved. Thus, canning and packing plants in rural communities alone are exempt.

May Mean More Small Plants.

Most of these plants in small towns employ but a score or more employés in certain seasons. Others, however, are of comparatively large size, employing 300 or 400 persons. Many of these latter are subsidiaries of large plants, packing or canning vegetables and fruits which are sent on to the center plant for distribution. The Biermann amendment, if finally approved, would encourage the construction of more plants in rural communities because of the exemptions allowed, it was pointed out.

Another amendment, intended to appease the farm bloc, provided that the maximum hour standard would not apply to such plants, regardless of location, and also to employers engaged in handling, slaughtering, or dressing poultry or live stock, for a period of twelve work weeks in any calendar year.

Southerners Yell Rage.

The final hours saw southerners yelling their rage at northern representatives, particularly on the Democratic side.

"We voted for all your schemes when you wanted us to!" shouted Representative Claude A. Fuller [D., Ark.] at his northern colleagues. "Now you wish to heap humiliation on the south in this bill. We kept the Democratic party alive when there were no northern Democrats. And we'll be coming back here when the seats of many of you will be vacant."

The southerners argued that local conditions south of the Mason-Dixon line make impossible the maintenance of the minimum wage fixed in the bill. Northern representatives, on the other hand, asserted that many industries are migrating to the south to take advantage of low wages there.

Amendments Adopted.

A number of amendments were adopted to the bill exempting various forms of business from its provisions. Retail establishments, a majority of whose business is in intrastate commerce, were exempted under an amendment offered by Representative Emanuel Celler [D., N. Y.].

The entire fishing industry also was exempted under an amendment approved by a teller vote of 153 to 100. Representative Charles [D., Cal.] won a fight to exempt child actors from provisions of the child labor section of the bill.

Employés of rural weekly and semi-weekly newspapers with less than 3,000 circulation also were exempted under an amendment offered by Representative Edward W. Creal [D., Ky.].

Affects Interstate Industry.

Wage and hour standards, under the bill, will affect all industries declared by the secretary of labor to be engaged in interstate commerce. A public hearing is to be given the industry before this finding is made and the industry may appeal to the federal courts from the judgment of the secretary.

Child labor also is prohibited in the measure. The shipment in commerce of goods produced with the aid of child labor is prohibited. Child labor is defined as the employment of any person under the age of 16 or any person between 16 and 18 years of age in an occupation found by the children's bureau of the department of labor to be an occupation hazardous to children or detrimental to their health or well being.

An employer may work his employés as long as he wishes so long as time and a half is paid for overtime.

Exempted from the act are those employed in a bonafide executive, administrative, professional or local retailing capacity; farm laborers and fishermen. Apprentices may be exempted under order of the secretary of labor.

Violations of the act are subject to a penalty of imprisonment for not more than six months, a maximum fine of $500, or both.

William Kyd visited the Sheffield avenue police station yesterday to report the disappearance earlier in the day of his wife, Ethel, from their home at 720 Schubert avenue. While there police received a telephone call that the body of a woman had been seen in the lake near Fullerton avenue. Kyd accompanied Sergt. John O'Malley there. The body was that of his wife. He said she had been ill.

Wage-Hour Comparison

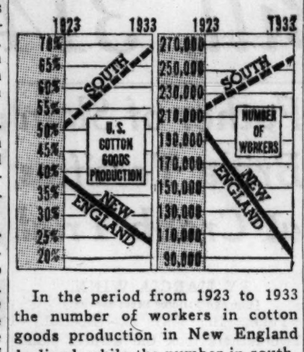
Comparison of the variations in weekly hours of work and wages in New England and the south for leading industries.



In the period from 1923 to 1933 the number of workers in cotton goods production in New England declined, while the number in southern factories increased. Proponents of the wage and hour regulation bill claim that industry has gone southward for cheap labor.

PRESIDENT WILL STUDY DIRIGIBLE AS DEFENSE ARM

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today revealed that he will undertake a personal study into the value of lighter than air craft as an arm of national defense.

The President said his study will differ from those undertaken by the war and navy departments, but would give no details. When pressed he observed that the study plans are a military secret.

The dirigible question was raised in congress last week by Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, who advocated the construction and development of American dirigibles to provide the country with a merchant marine of the air.

Walsh recommended the construction of a training ship of three million cubic feet in size capable of carrying airplanes.

3 GROUPS REVEAL CHASM BETWEEN FARM AND LABOR

Strike Blights a Crop; Pay Raise Perils Dairymen.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—[Special.]—Three groups of farmers in southeastern Wisconsin are exemplifying the conflicting economic interests between farmers and wage earners.

Farmers of Waukesha county today addressed a plea to Gov. Phil La Follette, as the chief proponent of the theory of farmer-labor coöperation, to compel dairy labor to let them have a fair share of the milk dollar.

Spinach raisers in Racine county were starting to plow under a $50,000 spinach crop because the canning factory was closed by a strike, the local market for their product being lost thereby.

Association Files Appeal.

In Milwaukee the Coöperative Milk Producers' association, which supplies the fluid milk to this market, appealed to the Wisconsin department of agriculture and markets to save them from a reduction in wholesale milk prices to offset a raise in the wage cost of handling and distributing milk.

In their appeal to Gov. La Follette, the Waukesha farmers said: "With the backing of state law rather than their ability to bargain collectively, workers who deliver and handle milk have been granted an increase in wages even though their former yearly wage was the highest paid in the state. This wage scale must be met out of the proceeds from the milk."

They asked the governor to prevail on dairy workmen to return to their old wage scale so milk may be sold for a lower price per quart.

"This will give the people an opportunity to use more milk," said the plea, "so that our production will not be restricted, more men will be put to work, and one class may not be allowed more than a living wage at the expense of another class, which never had a fair return on labor or investment."

Officials of the state department of agriculture and markets were in Milwaukee to fix the June price to be paid producers. The farmers want the present price of $2.71 per hundred pounds continued. The distributors want the price reduced to $2.25 so that milk can be retailed at 11 cents a quart instead of the present 12 cents.

The state, through the department of agriculture, fixes the price the farmers get for milk, and through the labor relations board helps the employés establish their wages.

Farm Wife Explains Trouble.

Mrs. Howard Price, wife of a Waukesha farmer, said the situation was created when the distributors gave their employés a wage increase which they now see they can't afford to pay and are trying to shove back on the producer. "Many drivers," she said, "are making more money than the farmers, who have from $15,000 to $25,000 invested in their herds."

Frank Kelly, vice president of the Gridley Dairy company, said the Milwaukee retail price was out of line with other cities.

"There has been a decline of dairy prices," he said. "It would help the market to reduce prices. Consumer sales are down and the trend is downward."

Fred M. Wylie, attorney for the department; George Kenning, in charge of fluid markets, and Wilbur Witte, chief of coöperative marketing, were in charge of the hearing.

New Price Within Week.

At adjournment they said the new prices would be announced before June 1, so if there is a reduction, there will be time to arrange for it.

The Racine county farmers are plowing under a $50,000 spinach crop because a strike at the Frank Pure Food company canning factory at Frankville has made their crop worthless. The farmers held a protest meeting last week in an effort to force a truce during the spinach harvest, but to no avail. The canning employés are seeking a renewal of their union contract, which expired this spring.

Rock Island, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—With a public demonstration of tanks, combat and scout cars, at the Rock Island arsenal, the Ordnance day program at the arsenal tomorrow is expected to attract more than 10,000 persons to the government island, located in the Mississippi river, between this city and Davenport, Ia.

The demonstration also will be the main feature of the 19th annual meeting of the Army Ordnance association and will mark the observance of the 75th anniversary of the establishment of the arsenal.

The demonstration will take place at 4 p. m. on the field south of and adjoining the exhibition grounds near the west entrance to the arsenal. About 26 motorized army vehicles will pass in review, after which they will take part in a simulated attack on a machine gun nest.

UTILITIES RIDER IN SPENDING BILL IS FACING DEFEAT

Administration Radicals Decree Its Death.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Administration leaders in the senate determined today to remove from the pending $3,246,905,000 spending and lending pump priming bill all restrictions on the federal financing of municipal power plants in competition with private utilities. Republicans conceded that the administration commands the votes to eliminate such restrictions.

As reported by the appropriations committee, the bill would prohibit the Public Works administration from "financing any project that would "compete with any existing privately owned or operated public utility, the rates of which are now subject to public regulation."

Would Eliminate Utility Projects.

This amendment, obtained by Senator Frederick Hale [R., Me.], would eliminate eighty-one electric utility projects, to cost an estimated total of $120,408,511, which PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes already has on his approved list.

The appropriations committee adopted the amendment under the impression that President Roosevelt was not opposed to it, according to committee members. The amendment however, was assailed by the President's radical supporters.

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, discussed the matter with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday and then offered a so-called compromise plan under which the PWA could finance municipal power plants only after the failure of bona fide efforts to purchase existing private facilities at a fair price.

Barkley's proposal, however, pleased nobody. The Republicans said it was "weasel worded" and would mean nothing at all, since Mr. Ickes would determine whether bona fide efforts to purchase existing facilities at a fair price had been made. The radicals, led by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, denounced the suggestion of making any concession to the private utilities.

Discussed by President.

Today Senator Barkley, apparently having received further word from the White House, said he favored outright elimination of the Hale amendment, with no restrictions at all on the financing of municipal power projects.

President Roosevelt succinctly summed up the situation at his press conference today when he was asked to state his attitude. He said the situation changed every three minutes.

The appropriations committee adopted the Hale amendment in response to a plea by Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the committee of public utility executives, who said the industry was unable to sell securities with which to finance a long deferred construction program, involving billions of dollars and the employment of several hundred thousand men because of the threats of further government competition.

COUNCIL WILL GET PROPOSAL TODAY FOR 3 SUBWAYS

Committee Paves Way for Federal Grant.

A proposed ordinance authorizing the construction of three downtown subways will be introduced in the city council today by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council's local transportation committee.

The committee yesterday unanimously approved a measure prepared by its special counsel, William H. Sexton. It is expected that the council will order publication of the measure and leave the way open for amendments before a final vote is taken.

Depends on Grant.

The proposed ordinance makes construction of the tunnels contingent on a federal grant. The city already has applied for a federal contribution of 45 per cent of the estimated total cost of 28 to 31 million dollars. The balance of the cost would be met from the city's traction fund.

The longest tunnel would be under State street for north and south side elevated trains, extending from 14th street to Chicago avenue and west under Chicago avenue to Franklin street to connect with the elevated.

Referendum Is Required.

The other two subways would be for street cars. One would be under Washington street from a loop terminal in Grant park west to Des Plaines street. The other would be under Jackson boulevard from Grant park to Franklin street, south under Franklin street to Van Buren street and west under Van Buren to South Clinton street.

It requires that lease of the subways to local transportation companies must be approved by a city referendum either as a separate agreement or as part of a general traction settlement ordinance.

WOMAN BATTLES RAPIST IN HOME; SEIZE SUSPECT

Mrs. Mary Volinck, 37 years old, fled to the street in her night clothes last night when a burglar forced his way into her home at 2314 South Kedzie avenue and tried to rape her as she slept with her infant son.

Neighbors, hearing her screams, summoned police. They arrested Anthony Gershka, 36 years old, 3710 South Union avenue, whom they found a short distance away. Mrs. Volinck identified him and said he beat her when she resisted him.

YOUNG G.O.P. UNIT MOVES AHEAD IN RANKS OF PARTY

Young Republicanism advanced toward a place within the regular Cook county Republican organization last night. Plans for a group to rival the existing Young Republicans were dropped in favor of a peaceful expansion and acceleration of the party's elected representatives.

A meeting to form a new organization was held in the Hotel La Salle. Young men named by the ward and country township committeemen were invited by Edward F. Moore, chairman of the county Republican central committee.

Members of the present organization installed their own chairman and tried to take over the meeting, but Moore pointed out that he had merely acted in the interest of more efficiency, and those present then voted unanimously to have officers of the existing Young Republicans, who claim only 1,400 members, work out a new program with the representatives of the regular party organization.

MOTOR CAVALRY MOVES AT NIGHT IN WAR PROBLEM

Simulate Raid on Gold at Fort Knox.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., May 24.—[Special.] — Orders are out and the Seventh cavalry brigade is on the move to the roar of gasoline motors. This gang is out to get the billions of gold treasure stored at Fort Knox and they mean business. Moving through the night the mechanized forces will attack at dawn.

The general situation is that this force, part of a hostile army which landed, hypothetically, at Charleston, S. C., has moved forward to this point with no opposition in the territory occupied.

Having made a forced march yesterday from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis ordered the brigade into bivouac here and directed his regimental commanders to check over their equipment, arms, and ammunition during the forenoon pending return of information from air patrols sent north early this morning.

Bivouac in Driving Rain.

The entire column moved into camp last night during a driving rainstorm. Only one machine was helped in by a wrecker. No incident of consequence was reported by the rear covering force which arrived last.

The gate keeper of a toll bridge across the Tennessee river asked Gen. Van Voorhis if President Roosevelt had sent the army down to get the two Republican votes in Jasper.

Through the efficiency of new rolling kitchens hot meals were ready to serve the tired and wet troops upon their arrival in camp.

A hot sun today boosted general morale and was of great assistance in repairing storm damages. The troops were busy all morning cleaning small arms, oiling machine guns, shining up combat cars, and preparing their units for action.

Officer Prevents Accident.

Capt. John Ryan of the 13th cavalry thrilled many onlookers by preventing what might have been a serious accident. A large oil tank truck parked on top of a hill slipped its brakes and started down driverless. Capt. Ryan jumped on a motorcycle, overtook it, leaped to the running board, and steered it off into a tree.

The 1st cavalry band made its debut during the march for the amusement of many visitors.

The special situation of the brigade's military problem was presented spectacularly at 1 p. m. today, when a scout plane dived low over brigade headquarters and dropped a message to Gen. Van Voorhis, advising that hostile columns were advancing toward the Ohio river from Dayton, Indianapolis, and Terre Haute.

A meeting of regimental and battalion commanders and staf officers was immediately called. Orders were given by the commanding general that the brigade would move at once in an effort to reach the gold at Fort Knox before arrival of the Blues [the defending force]. In case this plan fails, an attack would be launched at dawn.

Harborless Harbor Votes Bonds to Save Good Name

By a vote of 112 to 31 residents of Winthrop Harbor yesterday approved the issuance of $8,000 in bonds, the proceeds of which will be used to buy a beach. Until now the village, which is near the lake south of the Wisconsin line, has had neither harbor nor beach, and officials have pointed out that it was not living up to its name.

GUARD, BEATEN BY 3 CONVICTS IN ALCATRAZ ESCAPE PLOT, DIES

San Francisco, Cal., May 24.—(AP)—A second death resulted today from the abortive escape plot by a trio of Alcatraz federal prison inmates when R. C. Cline, senior guard official, died from bludgeoning by the three convicts, one of whom was wounded fatally by another guard.

Federal prosecutors moved immediately to bring murder charges against the surviving convicts for the death of Cline, who was beaten insensible with a claw hammer. He died in the Marine hospital here 24 hours after the attempted escape.

Assistant United States Attorney A. J. Zirpoli said he would ask federal grand jury indictments against Convicts Rufus Franklin, who was wounded in the shoulder, and James C. Lucas, both long term prisoners. The other conspirator, Thomas R. Limerick, was killed by a guard. Zirpoli said the death penalty would be asked for the convicts.

SEEK TO PUT RAPIST BEHIND BARS FOR LIFE

The state's attorney's office took action yesterday to return Louis Serraille, twice convicted rapist, who has boasted of attacking nearly 200 women in the last two years, to prison for the rest of his life.

Serraille, who was seized May 15 after brutally beating two women with a hammer, first appeared yesterday in Felony court. There Judge John J. Rooney ordered him held to the grand jury on a charge of rape and three charges of assault to rape. Later the grand jury was reported to have voted true bills on the rape charge and on two of the assault charges. His bond was set at $30,000.

Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said Serraille will be brought to trial on all three charges.

Conviction on the assault charges carry a penitentiary sentence of one to fourteen years. On a rape conviction the trial judge may sentence the defendant to any definite term of years. Serraille's police record showed he has been paroled from prison twice.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL.

Paul Karauskas, 50 years old, 3539 South Morgan street, died yesterday from a heart attack in an alley behind 952 West 35th street.

CHICAGO RELIEF BILLS ARE VOTED; UP TO GOVERNOR

Signature Will Release Cash Immediately.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 25 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—By a vote of 44 to 0 the Illinois senate early this morning passed two bills making an additional appropriation of $500,000 to the present state monthly relief contribution of $2,900,000.

Later today, when Gov. Henry Horner affixes his signature, the measures will release about $329,000 of this grant to apply against Chicago's relief crisis.

Its immediate effect, according to Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, will be to enable the immediate distribution of food to the 34,000 cases which were cut off without their May allotment.

One week from today—June 1—another $2,300,000 will be allotted to Chicago, and with it Lyons believes he will be able to supply food to all of the 97,000 cases in the city, plus medical supplies.

Rents and Clothing Are Out.

There is doubt, however, that much can be done toward paying rents, supplying clothing, and other services rendered prior to the crisis.

The new grant still leaves Chicago about $1,100,000 short of meeting its average monthly relief load.

Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner conferred most of the afternoon and up until midnight, but came to no conclusions. The mayor said he would return to Chicago and resume a search for new revenue. He may return here next Tuesday, when both houses reconvene.

If the mayor would say the word, Chicago legislators would slap bills into the special session to appropriate from the state treasury the entire sum needed by Chicago for the remainder of 1938, but he has held them back. He wants harmony on whatever program is to be adopted.

Puts Problem Up to Cities.

The additional $500,000 grant was made at Mr. Horner's suggestion. In his message to the session last Friday he said he felt counties and cities should devise means of producing whatever new revenue they need, even if it meant diverting from other funds. So far no Chicago fund has been found available for this purpose.

At the earlier night senate session John M. Lee [D., Chicago] obtained unanimous passage of two bills to permit expansion of the Chicago airport through relocation of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks. The measures will be considered by the the house next week.

FORMER COUNTY WPA SUPERVISOR LINKED TO GRAFT

Frank McElligott, former Works Progress administration supervisor in Cook county outside Chicago, was accused in federal court yesterday of taking part in a conspiracy to extort graft from WPA employés by shifting them into better jobs. He is on trial before Judge William H. Holly with four other former WPA officials and a truck driver.

John J. Walsh, a former assistant project supervisor, who has pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charges, testified that a syndicate of officials had been formed to collect bribes. He quoted Everett L. Wilson, a project supervisor, who is one of those on trial, as having said:

"All promotions must be paid for at $25 a month. There is a syndicate in this. It includes McElligott, Budd [Ralph Budd, a former project engineer and a defendant], and myself."

STRIKES THROW 1,000 OUT OF WORK ON 15 WPA JOBS

Strikes were called yesterday on fifteen WPA construction projects employing more than 1,000 men in Lake county and in Cook county outside of Chicago. The projects call for expenditure of approximately $1,000,000.

Union agents who halted work on the projects said they acted on instructions from the Chicago Building Trades council. Patrick Sullivan, chairman of the council, said the Works Progress administration is giving building trades jobs to non-union men. Hourly wage rates for the work show that it is intended for union men, he said.

Philip Will, acting director of WPA district No. 2, replied that federal regulations prevent WPA from favoring union members.

Widow of 53 Takes Drug in Hotel; Dies in Hospital

Mrs. Fannie A. Smith, 53 years old, 4437 North Hermitage avenue, a widow, died in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital last night of an overdose of a sleeping medicine, taken in a room of the Hotel La Salle, where she registered on Monday. In the room was found a note informing her son, Charles M. Smith, 1236 North State street, that she had left a letter for him at home. Smith was at the hospital when his mother died.

MILEAGE AT YOUR PRICE

...AND SAFETY AT EVERY PRICE

The Price You Pay Measures the Service You Get—Fisk Offers You More Real In-Built Value at a Relative Price

SAFTI-FLIGHT—"America's Safest Tire"—This is the best tire that Fisk knows how to build . . . both in its internal construction and in its incomparable safety tread. It costs more to make than ordinary tires, and is classed as a DeLuxe Tire . . . but it actually sells for very little more than first line tires of conventional tread construction.

AIR-FLIGHT—This is one of the best . . . if not actually THE best . . . conventional tread tires built today. It differs from Safti-Flight only in its tread, which costs less to manufacture . . . so that Air-Flight costs you less money.

AIR-FLIGHT A-S.—Sturdy, well-made, dependable . . . made to sell at a moderate price. Size for size, it contains more cord than similar grade tires made by other manufacturers. It is a little less expensive to build than Air-Flight, and costs you less for this reason.

FISK "75"—A better tire for the money than competition offers at the same price . . . but if you want very lowest possible first cost we recommend the Windsor. This tire is called the "75" because it costs you 75% as much as the Air-Flight.

WINDSOR—Built for the car owner who wants good, dependable transportation at low first cost. It is the lowest-priced tire in the Fisk Line, but an outstanding value.

ALL* FISK MILEAGE IS SAFE MILEAGE—Regardless of the Fisk Tire that you choose from this group, you have definite assurance that it will deliver mileage in accordance with the price you pay for it . . . that you will get your full money's worth in service PLUS unmatched safety factors which have made Fisk Tires the choice of thinking motorists throughout America.

2 SEIZED WITH BULK OF $9,000 PAY ROLL LOOT

Twisting Trail Leads to Kansas City.

Wearing disguises which permitted them to vanish under the noses of the police, two young men playing for a $9,000 stake kept a step ahead of the law from last Thursday until yesterday afternoon. Last night the police and Burns detectives announced:

"Case solved. Suspects in custody. Confessions obtained."

Officials told this story:

Two men stepped up to the cashier's desk in the Bowman Dairy company office at 7200 Central avenue, River Forest, last Thursday. One was Peter Chibucos, 32 years old, who had applied for a job as milk wagon driver. The other was Edwin Payne, 24, 1244 North Dearborn street.

Escapes with Pay Checks.

While Payne engaged the cashier in conversation, Chibucos stole $9,000 worth of drivers' pay checks.

When the men left the theft was discovered. Chibucos' application was examined. One address in the application led the pursuit to his wife. Police and detectives tapped her telephone wire and waited.

Meanwhile Chibucos and Payne, in the uniforms and caps of milk wagon drivers, were cashing the checks. They had cashed $1,792 worth when they decided to flee.

Mrs. Chibucos was followed to the Southtown theater, where she bought a ticket, entered, and left immediately by a rear door. Suspecting a ruse to meet her husband for the getaway, the officers were guarding all the rear doors. They saw her enter one of two waiting cabs. But when they tried to follow they were baffled.

Two Cabs Confuse Chase.

She had thrown herself flat on the floor and the pursuers did not know which of the seemingly empty cabs to follow. She escaped, but investigators took the license numbers.

From one driver they learned that Chibucos had rented the cab and the driver's uniform for $15, explaining that he was planning an elopement. It was Chibucos who drove the young woman away, in full view of the police.

Chief Carl Sodrlin and Lieut. Ray Rheingruber of River Forest police conferred with Burns detectives and Detectives John Foley, Patrick Touhy, Thomas Mulvey, Albert Glass, and Edward Becker of the police. They suspected Chibucos and his wife would go to Kansas City.

Chibucos and his wife were arrested there. Payne was seized in his apartment. The uncashed checks and $600 in cash were recovered.

Edward Loftus showing how he ran to point beneath window to catch Rosemary McMahon, age 3, after he saw screen fall out as he was passing in auto.

Rosemary McMahon, 3 years old, clambered out of her crib. She reached the window ledge in her parents' second story apartment at 2845 East 77th street. The screen fell out. Rosemary bent over to watch it fall, drew back, swayed there a moment, and then plunged downward toward the cement sidewalk.

Edward Loftus of 7713 Coles avenue was driving past when this happened Monday. He saw the screen fall, saw Rosemary in the window, and leaped out to the rescue. By hurdling the fence at the sidewalk he got there in time to throw out his arms in a desperate effort to catch the child. Rosemary fell into them, safe and smiling. Loftus, who's 22 years old, rang the doorbell, handed Rosemary to her mother, Mrs. Daniel McMahon, and explained what had happened.

ROBBER INDICTED, CONVICTED AND SENTENCED IN DAY

CRIMINAL COURT.

Robert Nightingale, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Edward Cinpak, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail by Judge John C. Lewe.

Madeline Terry, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in women's penitentiary at Dwight by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

Raymond Rocco, 25 years old, an ex-convict, was indicted for armed robbery yesterday, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court. He will leave for prison today.

Suspicious when Rocco asked a street direction from him on May 4, Policeman John Kennelly followed. Rocco drew a revolver, backed the policeman against a fence and threatened him with death. Then he turned to flee. Kennelly drew his own gun, shot Rocco twice, and captured him. Rocco later admitted five armed robberies, for one of which he was convicted.

Rocco has served terms for prohibition violation, stealing automobiles, and for theft of a razorback hog in Arkansas.

PAINTING WITH LIGHT

By CALEB

AN ATTRACTIVE, vivacious woman faces the lens of the photographer's camera. Batteries of lights above, behind, and on the floor in front of her bathe the subject in a flood of color and shadow. For almost an hour the artist behind the camera bends every effort to bring about the result he seeks in composition. He is painting a picture with light.

With infinite pains and careful skill the photographer calculates each tone, each light and each shadow. Before he opens the shutter in his camera, the picture has been made. With all the skill and experience at his command, he has painted a portrait in light for the sensitive film to record. It is a portrait to reveal what is behind the face as well as on it.

Once a week, once a day, or once an hour the subject of his photograph may be as striking in personality and appearance as the picture he has painted. But seldom in nature will she find conditions so kind in the portrayal of her finest points. If she wants to approach the idealized picture the photographer has painted with lights, she will have to make the conscious effort to do so—and continue the effort unceasingly.

All of us are under the same necessity. We prepare and display a portrait daily—of the person that is ourself. The portrait of what we are—mentally and otherwise—is there for all to see.

If it is all done carelessly and unconsciously, the results are apt to be out of focus—or else so sharply in focus that the outlines are harsh and forbidding. It is essential that we give some sober thought to this portrait painting—that the result is the best that can be produced with the equipment and experience at hand.

Life is so organized that the portrait we paint represents all the world knows of us. Just as those who look at a photograph in the newspaper may never know the individual, so those who see us judge only by the portrait we have painted of ourselves.

NAZI AND CZECH LEADERS EXPECT TO RENEW TALKS

Deny Peace Negotiations Are Abandoned.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 24.—Negotiations between the Czechoslovakian government and the Sudeten Germans marked time today. Dr. Milan Hodza, Czech premier, and his political enemy, Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party, conferred with their respective partisans and reported on the results of yesterday's peace talks.

Hodza made a formal report to President Dr. Eduard Benes and the political committee of the cabinet.

Both sides denied negotiations have been broken off and said they expected to resume conversations, probably on Saturday. Hereafter the Sudeten Germans will be represented at all routine discussion by two members of parliament, Ernst Kundt and Karl Hermann Franck. Henlein will take part in only the important discussions.

Topic of Parley Secret.

Secrecy was maintained regarding yesterday's conference, but it was learned from reliable sources that Hodza attempted to impress upon Henlein the gravity of the international situation.

Henlein was reported to have said he did not believe much progress could be made in the negotiations until the government had recalled 60,000 reservists, who were mobilized last Saturday, and "normal constitutional procedure" had been reëstablished.

Henlein left Prague for his home in Asch this morning. He will speak tomorrow noon at funeral services for the two young Germans who were killed early Saturday by frontier guards near Eger.

Hitler Sends a Wreath.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler sent a huge wreath to Eger to be placed on the coffins of the two men whom the German press described as "victims of Czechoslovak brutality." The wreath, adorned with a swastika emblem, was inscribed "Adolf Hitler." The government is taking extraordinary precautions to prevent the funeral from turning into a riot. The Sudeten Germans planned to make the funeral a great public affair. All business houses will be closed during the services.

[Associated Press dispatches from Prague last night said reports circulated in government circles indicated that Germany was sending more troops into northeastern Austria opposite the most vulnerable section of Czechoslovakia's frontier.]

France Seizes Nazi Plane Which Flew Over Forts

METZ, France, May 24.—(AP)—A German military training plane was seized by French authorities today when it was forced down in French territory after flying over France's maginot line of fortifications. The crew of three said they were lost in a storm when they landed at the Basse Yutz air base, four miles from the frontier, because their fuel was exhausted. The trio was held pending an investigation.

WHITE HOUSE MAIL CLERK IS ARRESTED FOR SERIES OF THEFTS

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—A series of minor thefts in the White House executive offices today led to the arrest of William Buchly, 57 years old, mail-room clerk.

William Buchly.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

District Attorney David Pine said secret service agents found Buchly taking three marked $1 bills from an envelope they had included among the official mail.

In the past, it was learned, other mail had been rifled and personal articles stolen from clerks and stenographers. Buchly, married and the father of several children, was charged with larceny. He will be arraigned in Police court tomorrow.

ENDS LIFE ON RAILROAD TRACK.

Harold E. Doty, 2322 North Harlem avenue, Elmwood Park, an unemployed salesman, was killed yesterday by a Milwaukee railroad train in the suburb. A note indicated he had committed suicide. He was 44 years old.

PARIS HEARS U. S. REJECTS PLEA TO HELP AVERT WAR

would bring in Hungary and Poland.

The British naturally are suspicious, as always, of undertaking any new commitments, but the Czechs have a powerful argument. It is the prospect of a peaceful settlement with Germany which immediately would bring the pet schemes of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain for European pacification in the realms of possibility, whereas a British refusal would leave the Czechs only two alternatives—to become German allies or plunge Europe into war.

Economic and military experts in Paris and London have been doing a lot of calculating recently. They have come to the rather disquieting conclusion that if Czechoslovakia becomes Hitler's ally and puts the huge Skoda munitions works at Germany's command, the Berlin-Rome axis then will have a greater output both of crude iron and steel than the Paris-London axis.

Czechoslovakia's yearly production of two and one-third million tons of steel have a lot to do with the firmness of the western powers in the crisis, and probably will weigh heavily in the diplomatic balance in the coming weeks.

Dr. Stefan Osusky, Prague's minister to Paris, was reported to have discussed all these matters with Foreign Minister Bonnet yesterday. He flew to Prague today to report to Dr. Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia.

Declines to Discuss Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—The state department tonight declined to comment on the report from Paris that France had asked the United States to support efforts of France and Great Britain to avert war in the German-Czechoslovak situation.

A member of the state department said the United States "is interested in the maintenance of peace everywhere and has been following the developments in Europe with great interest as they relate to world peace."

OTIS SKINNER, 80, STAR OF AMERICAN STAGE, ILL AT SUMMER HOME

Woodstock, Vt., May 24.—(AP)—Otis Skinner, 80 years old, veteran of the American stage, was stricken seriously last night at his summer home, "On the Green." His illness became known tonight when attending physicians issued a bulletin reporting the veteran actor was improved. They declined to reveal his malady. So serious was the attack, his daughter, Mrs. Alden Blodgett, rushed here from New York, accompanied by her husband. She is the former Cornelia Otis Skinner, herself an actress of ability.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!

"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities... Recommend Polident

Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing can't even reach. Almost gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and dentists everywhere.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

HITLER DEMANDS CZECH ARMY QUIT SUDETEN AREAS

Presence of Troops Called a Provocation.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 24.—Denunciation of Czechoslovakia was renewed with vigor today in Germany. Nazi authorities and the government controled press charged that Czechoslovakia has been turned into an armed camp, and demanded the withdrawal of Czech troops from Sudeten German territory. They said the presence of the troops is considered a provocation.

One of the members of the staf of THE TRIBUNE'S Berlin bureau who spent the day motoring through Sudeten German area found the population and troops calm. There was no evidence of "military oppression" as emblazoned on front pages of German newspapers.

Nazi Protest "Incidents."

It was understood that Dr. Ernst Eisenlohr, German minister to Prague, had been instructed to make energetic representations to the Czech foregin ministry because of "incidents" along the German border during Sunday's municipal elections. It was reported Germany demands that measures be taken to prevent future "incidents."

Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party in Czechoslovakia, was reported to have been instructed not to continue negotiations with the Prague government while Czech troops are helping the police maintain law and order in the border regions. German officials said most of their troops had been withdrawn from the Czech border for a distance of twenty miles.

Britain Target of Attack.

Great Britain also was the target of a Nazi attack, some papers charging her with seeking to create a panic.

British claims that intervention by them had saved Europe from war last week-end were branded as a "devilish legend" by irate Nazis.

The Reichsfuehrer himself remained in his Bavarian castle, Obersalzburg. He is expected back in Berlin tomorrow for a conference with his aids.

A number of German troops returned to Munich from Austria, where civilians were excited about a report that reservists had been called for training.

Troops Stop Tribune Writer.

In Sudeten territory Czech troops controled all trafic. THE TRIBUNE correspondent noticed that the soldiers did not interfere with persons when they exchanged the Nazi salute.

In Deutschgabel, a tiny town between Reichenberg and Zwickau in Czechoslovakia, Czech troops stopped the correspondent and cross-examined him. An officer asked him to remove the film from his camera because he was traveling through the Czechoslovakian "Maginot defense line."

After the film was removed from the camera the correspondent was allowed to proceed to Reichenberg, an industrial center, which was found to be tranquil.

GERMANY FIXES WORK HOURS FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 24.—Fifty-one hours a week is the working time fixed for German civil servants under a decree published today. It will be enforced from July 1. It is not to be applied to Austria.

In Berlin, Munich, Cologne, Hamburg, and Dresden civil servants will work only forty-eight and a half hours a week.

In general, civil servants will start work in the summer at 7 a. m. and in the winter at 7:30 a. m. They must not cease working before 1 p. m. In larger towns they will have Saturday afternoons free, but will work nine hours daily on other week days.

Hurl Back Rebels

(Story in adjoining column.)

Spanish loyalist forces yesterday pushed a major offensive along a ninety mile front in western Catalonia. A three day battle was continuing for control of the Segre river bridgehead at Balaguer (arrow No. 1). Loyalists reported their spearheads had cut through the rebels' supply line both north and south of Sort (arrow No. 2). Diagonal line shading denotes rebel territory.

ENVOY KENNEDY GIVES DINNER FOR BRITISH LABORITE CHIEFTAINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, who dined last night with King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth at Lady Astor's home, heard another side of the British political picture tonight when he entertained members of the Labor party at dinner in the American embassy.

Since their arrival the Kennedys have hobnobbed with royalty, bankers, newspaper correspondents, and diplomats. His guests tonight included Maj. Clement R. Attlee, Sir Stafford Cripps, Hugh Dalton, Herbert Morrison, Noel Baker, and Prof. Harold J. Laski.

Morrison is the most powerful of this group. Nicknamed "Hustling Herbert" for his energy, he heads the London county council and is considered to be the only one of the present Labor leaders likely ever to become prime minister.

LOYALISTS TAKE OFFENSIVE; PUSH BACK REBEL LINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [at the Spanish Frontier], May 24.—Spanish loyalist forces today, for the first time this year, were pushing a major offensive on a ninety mile front in northeastern Spain.

All the way from Lerida and Balaguer on the Segre river, then northward on the Noguera Pallaresa river through Tremp and Sort, and northward toward the French frontier, the rebel lines were being attacked.

Barcelona dispatches reported the loyalists had driven wedges through rebel supply lines at two points between the main base at Lerida and the French frontier, and asserted that the left flank of the rebels' northern army was split in two.

Battle for Bridgehead.

One loyalist wedge was driven through between Tremp and Sort, which are twenty-one miles apart. The second wedge pierced the highway between Sort and Llavorsi, which is seven miles to the north.

For three days a loyalist army estimated to number 40,000 men, has been attacking the rebels' bridgehead stronghold at Balaguer, which is eighteen miles northeast of Lerida. The loyalist advance to Segre river there resulted in the recapture of a considerable area and in the fighting around the eastern end of the bridgehead, the village of La Repita was said to have changed hands eight time since Sunday.

North of Balaguer the loyalists also attacked the rebel bridgehead of Sierra del Montsech on the Noguera Pallaresa.

The power of the loyalist offensive is attested by the shift of rebel troops, mechanized equipment and planes from the Teruel and Tortosa fronts, where the rebels hold a wedge extending to the sea, to the Barbastro base which is northwest of Lerida and southwest of Tremp.

Twenty-One Planes Downed.

An aerial battle was fought yesterday above the lines between Lerida and Tremp. Barcelona asserted eighteen rebel planes were downed while only three of their own were lost.

On the Teruel front in southern Aragon—which was the point of the loyalists' last great offensive on Dec. 22—the rebels reported a three mile advance beyond El Castellar toward Mora de Rubielos.

Rebel planes bombed Valencia, eastern port, twice today causing an undisclosed amount of damage. The number of casualties was not reported. Valencia is the chief gateway of supplies for Madrid. Rebel planes also bombed Portbou, the frontier railroad station northeast of Barcelona.

START MAILING '38 PERSONALTY TAX SCHEDULES

The mailing of 1938 personal property assessment schedules to city taxpayers will begin today, Assessor John S. Clark said yesterday. The first batch of schedules will go to residents of Rogers Park township. Several week will be required to send cut all city schedules. Taxpayers in the country towns in Cook county already have received the 1938 schedules.

Clark said personalty owners who fail to file schedules will be assessed on an estimated valuation set by the assessor with a 50 per cent penalty added. The law requires that the taxpayer fill out and return the schedules within ten days.

FATHER OF DEAD BRIDE TESTIFIES AT CRABB TRIAL

Tells of Shooting Version Given by Son-in-Law.

"He told me they had been to a party," Collison continued. "I asked what kind of a party, and he said it was just a party, a social party. Finally, I asked him if they had anything to drink. Jimmy said yes, whisky.

"I asked how much they drank. He said he didn't know. After repeated questions, he said, 'maybe half a bottle,' but he didn't know what size the bottle was.

"I asked repeatedly if they had any trouble. He said no, that everything was harmonious before and after the party. He said they went directly home, went upstairs, and prepared for bed. I kept interrupting to ask if everything was all right, and he said it was.

Events After Shot Related.

"Then he said, 'Betty was lying on the bed. She asked me for an aspirin tablet. I went into the bathroom to get one for her. While I was in there I heard a shot. When I got back, I found she had shot herself.'

"I asked him what he did then, and he said, 'I ran across the hall to call Catherine and father.' I said, 'What did you do then?' and he said, 'We went into the sitting room.' I said, 'But, Jimmy, who went back to look after Betty?' and he said, 'Nobody.'

"'Do you mean to tell me,' I asked him, 'that you didn't go back into the room where Betty was dying?'"

Collison's voice fell; his shoulders drooped. Then, he continued:

"Jimmy's answer was: 'I wasn't back in the room and I have never been back in it since.'"

Upholds Betty's Reputation.

On cross examination, Defense Attorney J. M. Powers sought to question the dead girl's reputation. To every implication, Collison replied with dignity and calm.

"Isn't it true," Powers asked, "that Betty Crabb had been in trouble?"

"No," Collison replied.

Q.—Isn't it true that she was in two automobile accidents?

A.—She may have been in half a dozen that I didn't know about.

Q.—The day of her death, didn't you ask someone whether she had smoked marijuana? [At this, the courtroom stirred with quick, inquisitive interest.] A.—No, sir.

Q.—Didn't you say anything about that? A.—Yes, sir. I asked if marijuana were in any way concerned.

Q.—Didn't you ask if your daughter had smoked any marijuana that night? A.—I did not.

After a brief redirect examination, in which Collison said he inquired about marijuana merely in an effort to connect Betty's death with events of the preceding evening, court was adjourned until 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Banker Crabb Reluctant.

Banker Crabb ascended the stand earlier in the day with obvious reluctance and distaste. He shifted his new sailor straw hat from one silver-gray tailored knee to the other. Gradually he relaxed into a semblance of his customary joviality.

Occasionally he glanced toward the front row where his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe Crabb, sat tensely, her silver hair shining against a black pancake hat. His second and present wife, the former Catherine Steinmetz, 29 years old, was not present. She was sequestered with other witnesses.

Questioned by Prosecutor Cassidy, Banker Crabb described the physical layout of his house and then told of calling the police the night of March 1 to quiet James after he and his bride returned from the party in a noisy mood.

He and the second Mrs. Crabb were in their bedroom, the banker related, when Police Chief R. T. Burbridge arrived. And as he leaned out the bathroom window, talking to the policeman on the lawn, he heard the fatal shot.

Questioned on Locations.

Q.—Where was James Crabb? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Burbridge and Catherine Crabb were the only two persons whose whereabouts you knew? A.—Yes, sir.

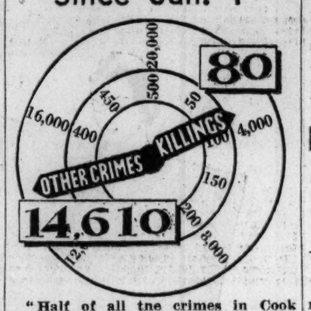
Q.—How long had you been out talking to Mr. Burbridge when you heard the shot? A.—O, just a few seconds.

Under cross examination by Defense Attorney W. J. Reardon, Crabb testified that after the shot he heard his son, apparently in a hallway outside the bathroom, yell: "Catherine, Catherine. Betty's shot herself."

Other witnesses today were L. C. Holihan, a Peoria photographer, who identified photographs of the interior of the Crabb home, and George P. Wearda, a Pekin architect, who identified a plat of the bedroom in which Betty died.

THE CRIME CLOCK

Chicago's Record Since Jan. 1



"Half of all the crimes in Cook county are committed by repeaters."—The Chicago Crime commission.

TAVERN OWNER IS ARRAIGNED IN YOUTH'S DEATH

Louis J. Uecker, in whose tavern at 8428 Vincennes avenue high school girls and young men held the party which ended in the death of one of the latter last Sunday morning, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of manslaughter, and the case was continued to July 20. The charge, filed in a test of the dram shop law, is supplemental to one of selling liquor to minors.

Uecker's wife, Laura, was arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors, changed from a charge of selling liquor to minors.

Uecker was released on bonds of $2,000 by Judge John J. Rooney. Mrs. Uecker was held in county jail when she failed to post bonds in the same amount.

The youth who lost his life was Stephen Funsten Jr., 19 years old, of 8450 Bennet avenue. He was killed in a motor collision while taking Jane Tinling of 2805 East 76th street to a hospital after she had swallowed poison at the party.

ICKES' SURPRISE MARRIAGE SETS CAPITAL A-BUZZ

Palatial Country Estate Awaits Bride, 25.

After a wedding breakfast at the Shelbourne hotel, the newlyweds motored out of the city, supposedly on their way to Cork and then to England.

Mr. Ickes was quite pleased at making the long trip to Ireland without news of it leaking out. Even the officiating minister said he was kept in the dark as to the bridegroom's identity.

"When the newlyweds came into the vestry to sign the marriage register," the Rev. Hanna related afterward, "I asked the bridegroom his profession. He told me: 'I am a civil servant and a lawyer.' Miss Dahlman previously had told me her husband-to-be was a rather important person in America, but she did not volunteer further information."

The new Mrs. Ickes, now the youngest wife of a cabinet officer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dahlman of Milwaukee. Her father is a widely known attorney there. She made her social debut in 1933. Her mother was Mary Cudahy, daughter of the pioneer packer, Patrick Cudahy.

The bride was an honor graduate of Smith college, Northampton, Mass., where she was active in athletics, particularly tennis, skiing and skating. She also rides horses frequently and is a camera enthusiast. She was well known to racegoers in Dublin, being frequently at the tracks.

Frequent Visitor in Chicago.

She has visited often in Chicago where Ickes was a lawyer before he went to Washington and became a stormy petrel of the administration. Mrs. Ickes was described as a strong New Dealer and in full agreement with her husband.

For four months following her graduation from Smith college in 1935, Miss Dahlman worked in the national park service, a bureau of Ickes' interior department.

During the past year, friends said, she assisted Secretary Ickes in remodeling his pillared mansion, Headwaters, at Olney, Md., not far from Washington.

Mr. Ickes, whose first wife left him a fortune of about $500,000, bought the 250 acre estate a year ago. It was the home of the late Lionel C. Probert, vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, and before he began his railroad career, head of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press.

The main residence, one of a dozen buildings, has ten rooms. There also is a four room guest house, a four room servants' house and numerous barns.

JAPANESE START 2 DRIVES ON WAY TOWARD HANKOW

Fleet Active on Yangtze; Fight Near Kaifeng.

SHANGHAI, May 25 [Wednesday]. —(AP)—Japanese troops and bluejackets are pressing their campaign into Central China both by rail and by river.

In Honan province the Japanese offensive pushed toward Kaifeng, the ancient capital of China, which is forty miles east of the junction at Chengchow of the Lunghai and Peking-Hankow railroads.

The Japanese navy's Yangtze river squadron ended weeks of inactivity by steaming upstream sixty miles from Wuhu and shelling points along the banks. Naval planes scouted both banks of the river, but the gunboats made no attempts to land marines or convoy troop transports upstream.

Kaifeng and Chengchow Bombed.

Wuhu, sixty miles above Nanking, is 240 miles downstream from Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital.

Japanese on the Lunghai front resumed operations along the north bank of the Yellow river. Chinese sources disclosed that Japanese had reoccupied the site of the Menghsien ford, opposite Loyang, where previous Japanese attempts to cross the river at a point approximately eighty miles west of Chengchow had failed.

Yesterday Japanese planes bombarded Kaifeng and the railroad station at Chengchow. Control of Chengchow would give the Japanese a foothold for a drive toward Hankow, some 300 miles to the south.

Within 15 Miles of Kaifeng.

Japanese reports were that the spearhead of troops advancing along the Lunghai westward toward Kaifeng had reached Chaotaoying, which is fifteen miles east of the ancient capital.

There were reports from reliable sources that Gen. Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen, German military adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, had decided to remain in China despite orders to return to Germany.

Hankow Drive Begins

(Story in adjoining column.)

Japanese began drives—with Hankow as the ultimate goal—in two widely separated regions yesterday. A land force (arrow No. 1) reached Chaotaoying and was driving toward Kaifeng. A Yangtze river squadron (arrow No. 2) steamed sixty miles upstream from Wuhu, shelling Chinese towns on both shores. Diagonal shading denotes territory largely under Japanese control.

HITLER DIVIDES AUSTRIA INTO 7 NAZI DISTRICTS

VIENNA, May 24 —(AP)—It was officially announced today that Reichsfuehrer Hitler had divided Austria into seven Nazi party districts and appointed a veteran Austrian Nazi leader for each region.

Joseph Leopold, foremost Austrian Nazi leader during the last months of the régime of Kurt Schuschnigg, has been made a member of the staf of Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy for Nazi party affairs.

Enforce Racial Laws in Austria.

BERLIN, May 24.—(AP)—The official Reichsgesetzblatt today published a degree dated May 20 enforcing the so-called Nuremberg racial laws in former Austria. These laws, which Hitler proclaimed at the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg in September, 1935, denied Jews full citizenship rights under "protection of German blood and honor."

The decree makes civil marriages in Austria subject to proof that no racial impediments exist.

Effective Aug. 1, the employment of Aryan women less than 45 years old as servants in Jewish households in Austria is forbidden, as it has been in the rest of Germany.

WOMEN ORGANIZE TO TAKE UP FIGHT ON PUMP PRIMING

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Women, who control the spending of nearly 85 per cent of the country's consumer money, are not going to sit idly by while congress passes the pump priming bill and adds another $158 more to the tax debt of each family. A group of fifty women from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Maryland have started to make a general house to house distribution of literature which asks the women of the country to write to their senators urging opposition to the $5,000,000,000 program.

The circulation of petitions is to be country-wide under the direction of the Women Investors in America, Inc. The pioneer group will work in the Greater New York area and in Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Maryland.

"We expect to put many hundreds of thousands of the postal card petitions into the hands of American women," said Miss Catherine Curtis, national director of the women investors.

MEXICAN TROOPS FIGHT UPRISING IN SECOND STATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, May 24.—Mexican troops tonight were pursuing a band of rebels in the state of Queretaro following what was described as a minor uprising in that state.

The uprising in Queretaro, which is the second Mexican state to be affected by anti-government violence within a week, began with raids on ranches. The rebels seized horses and disarmed farmers.

It was not known whether the Queretaro uprising was connected with the revolt of Gen. Saturnino Cedillo's private army in the adjoining state of San Luis Potosi. President Cardenas today appealed to the Cedillo rebels to lay down their arms. He promised full guarantees to those who heeded his plea.

Mexico Freight Train Blown Up; 3 Killed, 3 Injured

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, May 24.—[Special.]—A freight train was blown up today near Cerritos, half way between the San Luis capitol and the town of Cardenas by the explosion of two bombs. The caboose was blown to bits and the engine was thrown from the tracks. Two trainmen and the conductor were killed and three others were wounded.

JAPAN DEMANDS BRITISH APOLOGY; CHARGES 'INSULT'

Tokio Denies Shooting War Prisoners.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 24.—The Japanese government today demanded that the British government "speedily give satisfaction" for a statement that Japanese marines had shot many Chinese war prisoners and also had killed 100 civilians at the port of Amoy in southeast China. Japanese naval forces recently captured Amoy after severe fighting.

The British statement, which the government ascribed to R. A. Butler, parliamentary undersecretary of the British foreign office, was a grave slur on Japan's honor, a statement issued by imperial headquarters said, and the Japanese government regards the matter as extremely serious. Butler made the statement in the British house of commons, the Japanese said.

Claims Every Precaution Taken.

The imperial headquarters said the Japanese navy had taken every precaution to avoid involving Chinese civilians or nationals of third powers in the Amoy fighting by advising them to take refuge and even designating places for assemblage.

"The navy temporarily suspended firing on the fleeing enemy, fearing noncombatants should be injured," the Japanese statement said. "This being the case, charges by so responsible an official as the British undersecretary of foreign affairs cannot be permitted to go unchallenged. All war prisoners, moreover, were well cared for. For these reasons, the imperial navy greatly regrets Butler's allegation."

A foreign office spokesman, pointing out that Butler told the house of commons the Japanese action was a violation of The Hague treaty, said such a careless remark was exceedingly regrettable, since it bears upon the honor and dignity of Japan.

Says Japan Investigated.

The spokesman declared the Japanese government immediately had ordered an investigation, which had established that the British allegations were unfounded.

He said Japan deeply laments that a high British government official should have spoken in the house of commons on such an important issue involving the honor of the Japanese navy without confirming the facts.

IDAHO'S LEMON PHOSPHATE.

The other senator from Idaho, Senator James P. Pope, is one of the administration's rubber stamps. When an officially sponsored issue becomes controversial, and noses have to be counted, there is never any doubt where Pope's nose is to be found. He went down the line for the President. He even yessed on the dictatorship bill.

The senator is seeking reëlection this year and it is no surprise to learn that the going is hard for a mere yes-man in a state which has had the good sense to keep Senator Borah at Washington these many years. Pope's fight is said to be desperate and he has asked the administration for help.

This was what was back of the President's message the other day dealing with the phosphate industry. The special presidential message by long usage is an instrument by which the chief executive lays before congress the need for action on a matter of the gravest importance. In the one relating to phosphates the President pointed out that the generous use of phosphates is needed to maintain and rebuild the fertility of the farm land of the United States. That is unexceptionable.

He said further that out in Idaho is to be found more than three-fourths of the country's available phosphate deposits, and a large part of the world's known stock. But practically none of Idaho's vast phosphate resources is being used. Instead, the country's supplies are being drawn largely from Florida and Tennessee.

The President urged that a joint subcommittee of congress be appointed to make a study and report to the next congress of the feasibility of developing the Idaho phosphate sources. By chance Senator Pope has ready a resolution authorizing the appointment of such a committee. The nature of the report will, of course, not be known until 1939, but as Senator Pope goes about Idaho asking for votes this fall he can claim the paternity of an infant industry which is soon to be born. It will be difficult to oppose the man who can promise the state a new industry.

Now the facts are, that although the amount of phosphate rock in Idaho is very impressive, the amount available in Tennessee and Florida is vast by comparison with the existing needs. The amount turned out in these states by private sources is sufficient to meet the nation's requirements and leave some for export. It has been calculated that even if the largest amount of phosphates ever used is taken out of the eastern deposits each year there will be enough to last for several centuries at least.

There are several reasons why Idaho supplies only a little more than 1 per cent of the phosphates of the country. An important explanation is that in Idaho phosphate rock is found with other metals whose presence makes the phosphate unsuitable for fertilizer. The cost of extracting the objectionable metals is too great to permit Idaho to compete with other states. There is enough gold in the ocean to make every man a millionaire. The gold is there all right, but it isn't commercially usable because there is so much water with it.

It was not a prospective shortage of phosphate but a prospective shortage of votes for Senator Pope which accounts for the President's latest state paper. Apparently in states in which the pressure of the machine with free access to WPA is not adequate other aid is to be rendered to administration yes-men. Senator Barkley gets a useless dam and Senator Pope an opportunity to promise a brand new industry.

BOREDOM OF PRINCES.

There is rumor, transmitted to us in the columns of our respected neighbor, the Gazette of Cedar Rapids, Ia., that the duke of Windsor is getting bored. It will not be rejected by any one who has suspected in the former king's conduct factors other than the romantic attachment which no doubt was decisive in his historic predicament. There were many Americans, remote as they are from the glamor of royalty, who thought that in its present somewhat attenuated form the job of being a king must be rather a bore, at any rate for a rather spirited young man with a will of his own. And believe it or not, there are persons who would not like to be even a President of the United States.

There are also persons who have an especial capacity for being bored and the royal duke has shown signs of being one of this unfortunate company. They do not hold with Lewis Carroll that "the world is so full of a number of things, that I am sure we should all be as happy as kings." Certainly the duke of Windsor would take the verse as cruel irony.

But understandable as the duke's rumored boredom will seem to many in democratic America, his use of his freedom from the cares of state is not. The world, at any rate, is full of a number of things more worth while than the life of luxurious nonentity he has been leading. It is to his credit if he has got bored with it, but why has he chosen it at all? There are cynics who may say: Cherchez la femme. They will suggest that the American woman has shown a strong propensity for the dubious attractions of the parasitic life in Europe, with its somewhat decayed splendors. But to a less naïve mind we doubt there is anything more dismal than the Riviera as it is today and if one is not thrilled by castles one is not likely to care for an exchange of one in the neighborhood of London for another far less glorious in the Austrian Alps.

Boredom is a subjective affliction and princes are probably not immune to it more than commoners are. But it is not incurable, and if the duke of Windsor suffers from it he may do something about it that will replace him in the headlines.

WAVE LENGTHS AS PROPERTY.

In the Mae West case the federal communications commission asserted its right to censor the radio. The commission has gone a step further in a recent ruling regarding applications for new station licenses and for increased power for stations now in existence. These authorizations will be granted, it says, "only after satisfactory showing . . . that the proposed programs are of such standard as to provide a meritorious service, including such cultural programs as may be required, to the listening public . . ."

There it is again. The commission presumes to set the standard of what is satisfactory for the American people to hear. It will judge what is meritorious. It will determine what is cultural. Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin in controling their radio stations take precisely the same view of the matter. What their people wish to hear is given no weight.

Regulation of the radio came into existence because of conflicting wave lengths. A traffic policeman was required to reëstablish order. That was a necessary job and not a particularly easy one. There are today ninety wave lengths apportioned among 728 stations of varying power, and conflicts have been reduced to a minimum.

The commission has invented a mythology to justify it in going beyond its original duty and undertaking censorship. "Licenses are granted," the commission has said, "without any compensation by the licensee to the government . . . and hence the broadcaster must accept along with the privilege granted a definite, inescapable and high public trust in the use of the facilities licensed." Freed of its rhetoric, that means that the radio waves belong to the government for reasons not stated; and because they belong to the government the individual stations have no better than a feudal tenure which the government may revoke if it doesn't like what the stations serve to the public.

The assumption is wholly false. The radio was given to mankind by a number of greatly gifted men, including Hertz, Marconi, and De Forrest. They did for the radio what Gutenberg did for printing and, just as his invention was adopted by various publishers, so theirs was adopted by various pioneers in program broadcasting.

Those who originated wave lengths had a natural right to them and a natural right to transfer them, rights born of priority in the field and investment. The duty of the government was to protect these rights. Instead, the government, through the communications commission, claims all wave lengths and lets them out according to its feudal formula.

The country could not survive half slave and half free in 1860, and neither can it survive in our day half feudal and half free. If the radio is to be regarded as a feudal holding, the doctrin will be extended to other forms of property and the whole structure of liberty may be undermined. If a way is found of censoring radio programs the time will come when other forms of communication will be censored.

It is not true, as is often asserted, that censorship and feudalism are required because of the limited number of stations. With ninety wave lengths and 728 broadcasting stations, the listener in almost any locality has a wide range of choice. There are actually more wave lengths than can be practically employed.

To conduct a radio station successfully requires a natural aptitude and an organization; a gift for showmanship, good taste, and a talented and disciplined personnel. That combination will not be found 728 times. There are not that many first class newspapers, magazines, or theaters. The field for radio is not unlimited. It can be filled by less than the number of stations now in existence, to say nothing of the new ones which will be created as technical progress increases the number of wave lengths available in the broadcast band.

The best interests of the country will be served by establishing a property right in a wave length, a right which can be bought and sold. In this way the wave lengths will gravitate to those who give the public what the listeners want. This prospect will alarm those who fear or despise the common man and conveniently forget that the practical alternative to private ownership is government ownership and censorship.

Editorial of the Day

[Danville (Ill.) Commercial-News.]

Harry Hopkins, WPA chief, made an interesting address the other night.

It was interesting because it showed how wrong an official can be who is a key man in the national administration.

Mr. Hopkins said, in effect, that only government can organize the productive forces to bring back prosperity. He means that if government is allowed to make all the rules for industry then there will be more work and more money for everybody.

Mr. Hopkins cannot prove his point. There is nothing in American history to show that industry becomes increasingly productive as government regulation increases; in fact, it has been shown that the more government attempts to regulate business the less business there is. So we have hard times.

There is everything in American history to prove the country has been prosperous because individuals were allowed to produce freely, and the more individual enterprise they showed the more successful they became and the times became.

Mr. Hopkins proposes the reverse of this tried way. He has nothing to back him up.

Mr. Hopkins is showing how wrong an important man can be. What will happen to him is that the people will take away his importance so he cannot lead the country according to a policy they know won't work because it never did.

GLAD TIDINGS.

Two Irishmen had worked in a stone quarry for years. Murphy was careless in handling dynamite one day and his friend Kelley was given the job of carrying the sad news to his widow.

"Mrs. Murphy," said he, "isn't today when the fellow calls for the payment on your husband's life insurance?"

"It is," was the reply.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

IF YOU'VE EVER WONDERED what kind of papers are in all the brief cases you see carried by young and old, by men and women, we can tell you about one. A dignified gentleman entered a restaurant, seated himself, gave his order, and opened a handsome lether brief case he carried. Then he brought out THE TRIBUNE Sunday funnies and settled down to read them.

WE HAVE JUST HEARD about a girl who was optimistic over her final exams at the University of Chicago. She had been pretty good, she thought. Mind as clear as a bell, memory marvelous. That was because of her system. She had crammed all night every night in the week before exams, taking a certain stimulant in tablets about every three hours. Then about 6 a. m. every morning she had taken sleeping medicine. Awakened in time to take the exams, she had taken another tablet. That pepped her up again. Funny how it made her remember what she had studied. As if her mind were seeing with magnifying glasses. She felt sure she had come through beautifully and was happy. Had a pain in her arm or leg occasionally, but she sure was going to pass those exams.

PLUM BLOSSOMS.

Along it came stealing through the spring night,
A fragrance cresting the languorous breeze;
A fine, spicy sweetness, delicate, light—
And with it, elusive, half-memories;

Of me, on the grass where dandelions grew,
And bees softly droned in a drowsy key—
My child's eyes entranced by sky bits of blue,

An Artist and His Reds.

An exhibit of paintings by Castel, a Spanish painter famous for his "mellow reds," will open at the Chicago Woman's club galleries next month. The notice brought to mind what Madame Castel, his wife, has to say about his fondness for reds in a letter to her friend, Marion McDonald of Chicago:

> The incorrigible penchant he has for all kinds of red materials! To my utter despair every Saturday he would bring home from the flea market pieces of old, wornout red velvet or fantastic red tablecloth or an impossible carpet to make the fond for his still lifes or portraits. One night at a dinner party a lady came in wearing a beautiful red satin evening wrap embroidered with gold. I saw at once that C. had put his eye on it, but she was so sure she fascinated him she started to flirt with him. . . . How he did it I don't know. But the next day I found a piece of her wonderful coat as a fond for his still life, Pommes sur un Fond Rouge. . . .

Dime Novels.

One of America's most distinguished petrologists collects dime novels as a hobby. He is Dr. Albert Johannsen, professor emeritus of the department of petrology of the University of Chicago, author of learned works on petrology. Dr. Johannsen has some 5,000 dime novels in his collection, beginning with "Malaska," by Mrs. Ann Stevens, published in 1860 by the now defunct Beadle & Adams. He has all the Deadwood Dick dime novels (and hasn't read a single one); books of the Half Dime Library, published by Beadle & Adams (in the '70s they began to call them libraries); dozens of detective dime novels of the '80s; revolutionary war tales, love stories, Indian stories, and the later western stories. He is doing a bibliography of the Beadle & Adams publications which will delight other dime novel collectors. There is said to be some 700 of them throughout the country.

The first book we spelled our way through that wasn't for juveniles was "Pilgrim's Progress," but the second literary endeavor we remember engaging in was surreptitiously reading a dime novel borrowed from an older neighbor boy. It was one of a series called "Young Wild West." The hero had flowing golden hair, wore buckskins, coiled a mean lariat, was a dead shot, and, as we recall, rescued a girl named Loretta from horrible danger. It was here we first encountered the phrase "And another redskin bit the dust." Reading was slow business, for we weren't very good at it yet. The book remains a vivid memory. Possibly because it was taken away, and as a result the neighbor boy's secret cache of dime novels was discovered and destroyed by his mother.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE.

WITH some of us the old adage, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," applies all too forcefully. We may read or hear so much about blood pressure that considerable thought may be given to a subject that really concerns us but little. Fussing about the thing may set up a vicious cycle which will actually increase the load upon the circulation. One who has been told that he is the victim of a high level is likely to approach the next visit to his physician's office with enough nervous apprehension to jump the reading 20 to 30 points.

Why do we have blood pressure? What is it? We know that the blood is circulating constantly within the vessels and that it takes force to maintain the flow. When the heart contracts it throws a certain volume of blood into the arterial tubes with sufficient power to carry it to the most remote cells.

Therefore, as we can readily understand, when the left ventricle—the main pumping chamber—is called upon to supply momentum to the current of fluid, this establishes "pressure" within the vessels. Inasmuch as the heart beats approximately 70 times per minute, the impulses come frequently enough to maintain a constant stream.

Unless the cardiac organ is diseased it will exhibit just about the correct amount of energy to keep up the circulation. In other words, if channels have narrowed, more work will be needed to pass the blood through them. If, because of such a state of affairs, the pressure rises, shall we think of the heart as abnormal in consequence? Not at all. It is merely trying to preserve the flow at par. But—and here is the rub—the muscle may wear out a bit quicker because of the overload.

While we do not know all we would like to about arterial tension, nevertheless many symptoms are significant. For example, three-quarters of our high blood pressure patients give a long history of constipation. Four-fifths have exhibited difficulty with the teeth or gums—apical abscesses from which pus is absorbed. More cases appear among women than among men, which probably means that our old ideas of prolonged exposure, hard labor, etc., as primary elements, cannot be true. Not that many women do not work arduously and for long hours, but other factors far more potent are involved.

We have learned also that individuals differ widely as to what constitutes a normal reading. About all statisticians can give us are averages. Moreover, it is well known that as age advances there is a tendency toward a rise. One person may function well with a systolic pressure of 120, while another may be apathetic, lackadaisical, and dull unless the mercury reaches at least 160.

It goes without saying—with more open and more elastic conduits—less force will be demanded to dispatch the fluid of life. This calls attention to the fact that if disease has made the arteries more brittle and their walls more rigid, greater "push" will be required. No one, therefore, should invite any kind of infection, or put up with it any longer than can be helped.

Furthermore, we should eliminate the absorption of toxins of every sort. Not only will they bring about degeneration of the arterial walls, but of the heart muscle as well. In addition, overeating, too high a protein diet, lack of rest, a high percentage of condiments with the food and, of course, lead absorption and syphilis should be corrected if possible.

Many men and women can relieve the situation completely with a few minor adjustments. If one is careful not to consume an excessive quantity of food, if half an hour of rest lying down can be taken after the noon and evening meals, if poise and freedom from worry can be cultivated, these factors—plus the rooting out of nests of bacteria—will go far toward safeguarding an efficient circulation.

HARDENING OF EAR BONES.

G. M. C. writes: What are the symptoms of hardening of the ear bones? For several months I had boils in the ear canal. Since I have been cured, the skin in this region itches and seems to crack. Also, I occasionally notice a brief, dull ache that seems to be in the skull around the ear—but it may be in the ear itself. Would this condition be a natural reaction after that type of infection?

REPLY.

Deafness usually is the first and only symptom noted in otosclerosis [hardening of the ear bones]. No trouble in the external ear would influence this condition. An infection such as you describe might very well leave some irritation in the outer canal. The ears are so important that no one should temporize with even minor symptoms. The best available ear specialist should be consulted.

PAMPHLET EXPLAINS.

G. H. writes: My physician tells me I have dysmenorrhea. What is this and can it be cured?

REPLY.

Painful menstruation. Many cases can be relieved. We have a leaflet giving several suggestions, which you can obtain by sending a stamped addressed envelope.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

ILLEGAL ENTRY.

Delavan, Wis., May 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a person entered the United States from Canada without paying head tax or having passport and has resided here ever since, [1] could this person marry and if they did marry [2] would this marriage be considered legal? 3. Could said individual pay a head tax and become a citizen of the United States? A. R.

1. Yes.
2. Yes.
3. Merely paying the head tax would not make legal the previous illegal entry. The question whether it would be necessary to leave the country and make a new legal entry depends on the date of the previous entry. If you contemplate such procedure, take the matter up with the naturalization service in the New Postoffice building.

TRYING TO PACK THE SENATE.

Chicago, May 21.—THE TRIBUNE'S editorial of May 21, "The White House Reprisals," referring to the report that the President is picking candidates to run against senators who have not in their legislative duties followed his political leadership, does not make the case against the President strong enough.

The constitution provides that the President "shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for."

The senate is part of an independent branch of the government, and the constitution did not contemplate making its members so many rubber stamps. If the President is to interfere in any way in the selection of United States senators it will constitute an attempt to pack the senate. This would be in degree only less serious than the attempt to pack the Supreme court. This matter is above partisanship. Loyalty to the constitution is greater than loyalty to any man. That is the curse of politics in Europe today—loyalty to a leader. Democracy depends on loyalty to the constitution. EDWARD T. LEE,
Dean, John Marshall Law School.

LANGUAGE ALMOST FAILS HIM.

Chicago, May 19.—Your editorial "Is Opposition Sacrilege?" in today's TRIBUNE attracts my attention because of its utterly scurrilous, hypocritical, prejudiced, ignorant, vicious, and false attacks on an administration that has already accomplished more of permanent benefit to the masses of our people in the United States of America than all the other presidential administrations since that of Lincoln.

The liberty of the press you desire is merely the power to continue your fallacious—if not worse—interpretations of all matters possible in order to serve what you conceive to be your immediate interests at the expense of a confused and credulous mass of expropriated so-called "lower classes."

I cannot properly express the full extent of my disgust and loathing for you. A REAL AMERICAN WORKING MAN.

SCOTCH ADVICE TO PAT.

Chicago, May 19.—In answer to Patrick Murphy, who is wondering why the discrimination between the Swedes and the Irish. In my opinion the Swedish crown prince being here on a visit is not likely to ridicule our government as Father Coughlin was expected to do if he had the same opportunity. I would keep my shirt on, Pat, for after all we must be polite to strangers within our gates no matter what their nationality. You see, Pat, we have no use here for any royalty. I admire the park board for its caution.

Ca Canny Pat, dinna let yer Irish run awa wi ye. SCOTTY CAMPBELL.

SHE'S A PESSIMIST.

Chicago, May 19.—That McCutcheon cartoon of May 17 depicting "The First Shovel of Dirt for Chicago's Subway," is indeed very clever; but why is Mayor Kelly posed on the reviewing stand? Who can tell the name of our mayor when the digging actually begins? He may not yet be born.

MARGARET THOMPSON.

THAT CITY HALL SWITCHBOARD.

Chicago, May 19.—Recently, through your columns, Mrs. Margaret Torrey complained that she called the city hall, Randolph 8000, at 8:45 a. m. and advised the operator of a hole in the street, and that the operator told her the street department would not open until 9 and that she was not permitted to take messages.

As commissioner of public service I wish to defend our operator in this instance. It is a rule of our switchboard to convey all messages to the proper department. The only departments receiving emergency calls are health, police and fire, and these have some one on duty at all times.

I find the operator advised the party that the street department would not open for fifteen minutes, and the party said she would call again. Naturally the operator did not understand that it was an emergency.

Since the city has taken over the operation of its own switchboard this is the first complaint we have received, although we have hundreds of commendations for the service rendered. This telephone switchboard belongs to the taxpayers of Chicago and our aim is to give courteous and prompt service at all times.

JEFFREY A. O'CONNOR,
Commissioner of Public Works.

FORGOTTEN MAN A FOOTBALL.

Chicago, May 18.—I always liked THE TRIBUNE for the interesting articles in the Voice of the People. I would like to call attention to the forgotten man. He gets kicked around like a football most of the time. Apparently his troubles come from his own side. The so-called labor union leaders trim him plenty. Take the janitors' union for example: $212 cost of joining the union, dues $5 a month, etc.

They have 8,000 members; 8,000 times $5 equals $40,000 per month, which equals about $500,000 a year. This amount goes to the pockets of the labor dictators. This is only one of the hundreds of unions in the A. F. of L. racket. This form of robbery must run into millions by the year. No wonder we say, "what fools we mortals be."

FORGOTTEN MAN.

OBJECTOR AT LANE TECH.

Chicago, May 20.—I am the mother of a boy attending 2B at Lane Tech High. His average has been around 90, but the school board will only allow him to take three major subjects.

He brought home an application for summer school, which would make a charge of $12 for a major subject. He, as well as many other pupils at Lane, wants to take at least enough subjects to graduate in 5 years without paying $12 and going to summer school.

I also am opposed to a 12 months' term of school. A HIGH SCHOOL PARENT.

SCHOOLS STILL INTACT.

Chicago, May 19.—The very favorable report from the North Central association was a complete shock to a citizen who was led to believe by certain newspapers that the schools were just about to fall apart. I guess smoke does not necessarily mean fire when politics are involved. CITIZEN.

WAR OR PLAGUE WOULD DO IT.

Chicago, May 20.—Your contributor, "Philos," who sends in the bit of muddy thinking headed "Let Science Find a Way," serves to increase the respect one has for Lao Tsze, who remarked that "the worst possible government would be a government of philosophers."

If science can find no better way to promote the general welfare than through a reduction in population, then science should take a back seat and let such calamities as war and pestilence do the work. If Philos will only study history, with ordinary common sense, he will observe that all wealth, progress, and enlightenment arise in lands sufficiently well populated to produce them. He will also find that all reductions in population, such as that following a great war or the plague are followed by a decline in civilization.

Even the people on relief today are vitally important to the welfare of society and trade, as witness the signs in grocery stores, "We Cash Relief Checks." If all the weak should die tomorrow no one but the undertaker would find any cause for rejoicing. Indeed, the strong would find themselves faced with a more intense struggle for existence.

EVELYN MARIE STUART.

HE, TOO, FINDS DISCRIMINATION.

Chicago, May 18.—In a recent issue Mr. Patrick Murphy complains about the discrimination against the Irish in reference to the use of Soldiers' field. On behalf of the Irish of Cook county I also wish to protest the unjust discrimination shown them in the recent captains' examination held by the Chicago civil service commission.

Of the twenty-seven men promoted to captaincy there were only twenty-five of them of Irish descent; of the other two men one was a Pole and the other Bohemian. Why should these two men be included in this list?

Inasmuch as the Irish people represent 90 per cent of the total vote in Cook county [Irish figures], this is a clear case of unjust discrimination. Mr. Murphy, something should be done about this. A. J. D.

MR. FARLEY'S AIR MAIL SERVICE.

Chicago, May 20.—A compliment for Mr. Jim Farley and his air mail service this National Air Mail week. A letter was air mailed to me from St. Louis at 1:30 p. m., May 17, reaching Chicago at 5 p. m., May 18, and delivered at a loop hotel at 5:52 p. m. that day, about 28 hours from mailing time until delivery at the hotel. That is just about twice the length of time a letter dropped in a mail box in St. Louis, brought by train, and delivered at the hotel, would require. Some service to brag about! If this is not believed, I have the envelope to prove it. E. S. BLISS.

IT PLAYS NO FAVORITES.

Chicago, May 20.—To Messrs. Horner, Kelly, and Lyons: Get a flock of lie detectors and set up a questionnaire before giving a reliefer a check. Make him take a test. I am of the opinion that you will lose 25 per cent of those on relief.

You can do away with your investigators, for the detector will play no favorites, and can't be bribed. A. J. F.

A Small Child Is Lacking in Food Interests

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Little children aren't interested in food, for itself. I've done a lot of thinking, in addition to studying and observing, and in addition to my own experience as a mother, and I'm convinced young children haven't any real interest in food.

If parents of children, from say 2 to 6, would accept the fact that children aren't interested in food in any way comparable to adults, I believe they would get along better. And certainly a lot of improvement is needed in this matter.

If this is so, then it's our business to make the food as delicious as possible, to make good combinations, and to surround the whole performance with a friendly, yet taken-for-granted atmosphere, with just the right amount of approval and pleasure shown.

Now, if you'll add to this a dash of common sense, acting about your little boy's eating somewhat as you do about your own, that will help further. For instance, you aren't always equally hungry, and you get tired of one food sometimes; to use such common sense as this often prevents tension and forcing, and those unwise disciplinings.

If in addition, you add a dash of lenience it will about finish the job. Is your little girl just learning to use a spoon and does she get some nice, rich, tomato soup on the cloth, or does she spill her milk? Scolding isn't the right response to that innocent accident.

"Right Food for the Child from Two to Six" is the name of a leaflet sent out on request. Please inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Perfect Body Control Spells Grace, Poise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"The Hawaiians have a word for it," says Jessica Dragonette, petite blonde songstress, "and it means slenderness, grace, and poise. On my recent visit to Honolulu, where I was scheduled to give a concert, what impressed me most was the fact that during my entire stay I never saw an awkward or ungraceful Hawaiian. Old and young alike show the freedom and ease of motion which comes from exuberantly healthy bodies, and I soon learned their secret. It is simple and not at all difficult to imitate. Just don't relax too much. Many women feel that they can derive the most benefit from a seashore sojourn by lying on the beach and getting a good suntan. That's not the way the Hawaiians do it, at least not at Waikiki beach."

Most of the Hawaiians, Miss Dragonette observed, spend the greater part of their time in the water, not next to it. They swim, they ride surfboards, they paddle canoes, all active and strenuous exercise.

"Being constantly on the go and using your muscles keeps your weight down and your spirits up," states Miss Dragonette. "No other form of exercise, outside of dancing, is as effective an equalizer of weight as swimming, for almost every muscle of the body comes into play. The flutter kick discourages every bit of flabby tissue on the legs from ankle to hip. The overarm stroke develops not only the arms and shoulders, but the entire upper portion of the body. The net result is a suppleness and elasticity of the entire muscular structure without which there can be no graceful carriage."

Awkwardness is a result of not knowing how to handle one's body, believes the dainty soprano, who is as famous for her grace and carriage as she is for her golden voice. Most persons are bashful, shrinking, awkward, and unattractive in public because they lack complete muscular coordination. By mastering one's self physically and exercising body control, shyness can be overcome.

Miss Goodman Has Voice of Great Variety

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Winifred Bruce, young soprano who under the name of Winifred Goodman has appeared in the Grant park summer concert series, offered in the Chicago Woman's club theater last evening a well contrasted program which bowed to Handel and Beethoven, concerned itself for a full group with the lieder of Liszt, Strauss, Brahms, and Marx, leaped to the dramatic heights of Isolde's Love Death, subsided into a cycle of introspective little pieces by Franck, Debussy, and Respighi, and ended with songs in English from the pens of Deems Taylor, Gibbs, MacDowell, and Carpenter.

Endowed by nature with an excellent voice capable of great color variety—that frail mezzo-piano was exquisite!—Miss Bruce manages her resources with infinite patience and care. Each phrase is the result of unending study as to how it may best be presented. Occasionally, it is true, this study seems to be based on a misconception—seems to spring from the idea that sheer expressiveness, as in a too confident fortissimo, should be attained even at the cost of beauty of texture.

There is something faulty about Miss Bruce's production. Strain is apparent in hugely dramatic passages, and her tone, instead of welling up generously in the wake of the music's demands, is emitted with obvious effort. The reassuring legato so often required toward the climax of a largely planned piece simply loses itself somewhere in the shuffle.

To return to those carefully planned phrases, tonally and rhythmically beautiful but often disconnected tonally and rhythmically from their context, is it possible that Miss Bruce sometimes thinks of a song not as a unit to be projected as such but as an opportunity for a series of individual effects? This question she must answer for herself if her communicative powers are to be increased.

Bride Saturday

MISS MARGERY JOAN STRAUSS

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Strauss of the Shoreland hotel announce the approaching marriage on Saturday of their daughter, Margery Joan, and Paul Friedlander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Friedlander of Seattle, Wash. Miss Strauss, a grandniece of the late Julius Rosenwald, attended Fairmont Junior college and the University of Washington. Mr. Friedlander is a graduate of Leland Stanford university and of the University of Washington law school. The wedding will take place at the Standard club. Mr. Friedlander and his bride will be at home after July 1 in Seattle.

ENJOYS CRAVEN OPERA

BY CECIL SMITH.

The Chicago Light Opera company, Carl Craven, director, chose the merry score of "The Gondoliers" for production in Kimball hall last night, and will repeat it this evening.

Any one who did not expect this semi-professional group, singing to piano accompaniments, to sound and look like the D'Oyly Carte company must have found much to enjoy in Mr. Craven's version. Even when the individual voices are not of professional caliber, a certain deftness of touch often keeps the music from sounding desultory.

The Chicago South Side Women's chorus, nineteen members strong, conducted by Dwight Edrus Cook, sang last night in Perrin hall to a small audience. The ladies sing with surprising robustness of tone. Helen Stringer played a group of violin solos.

Women Voters O. K. Bills Permitting City Managers

The Illinois League of Women Voters at a special executive meeting yesterday indorsed the city manager enabling bills now pending in both chambers of the legislature whereby municipalities with more than 5,000 population may decide by referendum what form of municipal government they will have. The Cook County League of Women Voters will emphasize the city manager plan of government, preferably with a council elected at large by proportional representation.

Infant Welfare Women Given Help of Men

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Nothing is rarer than a man at an Infant Welfare luncheon, as a rule, but the husbands of members of the Hinsdale Center are so interested in the success of the Hinsdale Horse Show association's show June 18 and 19, from which the Infant Welfare will benefit, that they meet willingly with their wives at noontime.

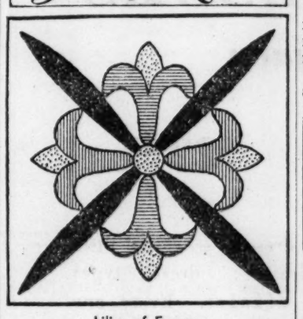
Palmer C. Boothby even brought colored movies of last year's show to run yesterday at the Hotel Sherman, where a luncheon meeting was held, and when he had to leave for a business appointment James A. Hannah packed up the projector for Mrs. Boothby to take back to Hinsdale.

Walter P Saunders, who is president of the association, came to the luncheon yesterday, and so did William Earl Hill, who is secretary, and Junius Cook, whose wife is president of the Hinsdale Center of Infant Welfare. Hannah, a vice president of the association, and Mrs. Hannah, usually entertain for the exhibitors during the horse show. Last year they gave a barbecue picnic, and this year their party may be a housewarming in their new home in Hinsdale.

The show will be held on one of the fields of the Oak Brook Polo club in delightful country surroundings, reminiscent of the shows at Devon, Pa. A children's polo game and a horsemanship class sponsored by the Town and Country Equestrian association for boys and girls from 12 to 17, inclusive, are especial features for children.

One of the first to enter a horse in the show is Miss Kay Goodman, whose Bryk Bat will be shown in five classes, including the ladies' hunter and Corinthian classes.

TODAY'S QUILT



Lilies of France.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a clever little applique block without any known history or background. It undoubtedly was created by a French woman far from home and lonesome. The fleur de lis is one of the simpler floral designs which hold no terror for the beginning quilt maker with a fancy for applique work. The spearlike leaves of green and the orchid and pale rose of the petals produce a color combination which is not only striking but restful and soothing. Forty-two applique blocks measuring 11½ inches square are set together with 3 inch bands between the blocks and surrounded by a 3 inch border and a ½ inch bias binding.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers ten quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Platoons of Gracie Allen fans arrayed themselves in massed ranke in the lobby of the Merchandise Mart to scrutinize eight of her surrealistic paintings, nightmares in pastel, placed on exhibition yesterday. They gazed and gazed and over their countenances spread bewilderment, befuddlement, anger, and sadness, but no ecstasy except for one unidentified person who was heard to exclaim, "Wonderful, marvelous—but now I must be getting back to Dunning."

The pictures in which yellow, pink, and apple-green hues predominated, bore such mind-fogging titles as "Man with Mike Fright Moons Over Manicurist," "Dogs Gather on Street Corner to Watch Men Fight," "Keglined Can Sinking a Couple of Hard Putts in No Trump," "Man Builds Better Mousetrap and Bags Mohair Toupe," "Gravity Gets Body Scissors on Virtue as Night Falls Upside Down," and "Eyes Adrift as Sardines Wrench at Your Heartstrings."

The fighting picture, in which pink predominates, shows men with dogs' heads, and spectating purps with men's. And there is a lamp post wriggling like a snake, not to mention a Christmas tree over which an enormous electric light bulb [fastened to nothing] sheds a potent glow.

Fred Waring and his crew of entertainers, who have been missing from the air for almost a year, yesterday were signed for a Saturday night WMAQ-NBC series starting early in the fall. He will be sponsored by the headache remedy maker who last winter had Hugh Johnson on the air.

Superintendent of Schools William R. Johnson last night gave the first of a series of broadcasts on W-G-N. He proposes to continue them weekly until the end of the school year. He will explain policies put into effect the last two years.

Advance Plans for Festival at Ravinia Park

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE $40,000 guarantee fund for the Ravinia festival is oversubscribed by $1,000; the petunia beds at Ravinia park are being made ready to be in colorful blossom by June 30; the mosquito abatement committee of the park is at work; the guest conductors are engaged; the ticket chairmen for the various north shore towns are appointed; the coupon books are printed; so all is in readiness for the opening of the third season on the evening of the last day of June.

All this was announced yesterday at a festival luncheon at the Casino club; the only thing that remains to be done is to dispose of enough coupon books to insure the financial success of the venture. And this the ticket chairmen, headed by J. Eugene Davis, are optimistically expecting to do. The chairmen are Mrs. Maurice Mandeville of Lake Bluff, Mrs. G. Corson Ellis of Lake Forest, Richard A. Kebbon of Highland Park, Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt of Glencoe, Mrs. Ernst von Ammon of Winnetka, Mrs. T. Weller Kimball of Kenilworth, Mrs. Walter R. Knupfer of Wilmette, and Mrs. Arthur M. Betts of Evanston.

Announce Schedule of Guest Conductors.

In the absence of the chairman, Percy B. Eckhart, who is in Europe, Howell W. Murray presided at the luncheon.

Artur Rodzinski, Willem Van Hoogstraten, Eugene Goosseens, and Eugene Ormandy have been engaged to lead the Chicago Symphony orchestra during the six weeks of the Ravinia season. The guest soloists will be announced later.

Dr. Rodzinski, conductor of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra and known throughout the world for his conducting the N. B. C. Symphony orchestra, which he assembled and trained at the request of Maestro Toscanini, will conduct the first two weeks. Mr. Van Hoogstraten, the Dutch conductor, will be at the park the third week. He was here during the 1936 season.

The fourth week will introduce to Ravinia audiences Mr. Goossens, the young director of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra. He was heard in Chicago last winter. The final two weeks of the season will see Mr. Ormandy as conductor. He now directs the Philadelphia orchestra and formerly was with the Minneapolis one. As usual, concerts will be given each Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night and Sunday afternoon during the season, which ends on Aug. 7.

Chicagoans to Take Dogs East for Shows.

Sporting interest will not be purely local over the Memorial day week-end, for a Rugby game and several dog shows that are being held in other parts of the country are of interest to Chicagoans. The Conway H. Olmsteds and possibly her brother, Hulburd Johnston, three bulldogs and several dachshunds are leaving Friday for the famed Morris and Essex show, the largest outdoor dog show in the world, to be held Saturday at the estate in Madison, N. J., of Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge.

Mrs. Ernest Roessler, an English setter, a wire haired and a smooth haired terrier are leaving today for the same show and the Fox Terrier Specialty show Friday in Summit, N. J., and the Wissahickon Kennel club and the Delaware County shows on Sunday and Monday in Philadelphia.

Winnipeg, Canada, is the destination of the Chicago Rugby club team which leaves Friday night to meet

A Cool Color for Straw Cartwheel

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Summer cartwheel of rough straw in a delightfully cool new color, gray-beige. Around the very flat low crown is a tied band of old blue grosgrain ribbon, and at the side are two flat flowers of the same blue. The same hat is available in black, white or colors.

Swedish Styles in Play Clothes Win Approval

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Just as tempting as any north cruise travel folder, and with all the zest and tang of a typical smorgasbord, new Swedish play clothes, modified for American use, have been unpacked.

Full skirted dresses, either shirred or plaited in large soft folds around the normal waistline; quaintly puffed short sleeved lawn guimpes; laced rib hugging bodices make these appealing, intriguing costumes to wear all day long in the country.

Printed color-fast materials are used in these fresh, crisp clothes for summer wear. Some have coquettish aprons, banded around the lower hemline with five varied stripes of color. One costume has a multistriped cotton skirt, a bodice [also of the striped stuff] that laces down the front. Even the little apron is plaited of the striped cotton.

Floral prints, as gay as a peasant dancing song, have guimpe bodices of fragile white sheer with ruched necklines and ruched short sleeves. Green against white makes a supercool outfit for daytime wear, the leaf green design making the coolest contrast imaginable for a sizzling summer day.

All this Swedish stuff is unusually crisp and cool looking, vastly different from the more sultry color schemes and effects of the Viennese or Italian peasant outfits or the dirndls of last season. If such clothes from the land of sparkling lakes and charm can't keep you refreshed and contented during the hottest of heat waves, nothing ever will.

Fashion photograph. . . . This cartwheel to end all summer records for area and swank is made in a glorious new color, gray beige, and is trimmed with old blue ribbon and flowers. Or you can have it in shiny black, minus anything but a lonely bow of black ribbon. Other colors are white or burnt straw. This hat can go with black summer sheers or printed chiffons just as well as clinging crêpes or jerseys.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Another fine, popular perfume has been brought out in cologne. It's "coolth" to the nth degree. The bottle is a lovely thing of frosted crystal, with a long, silvery neck and a stunning stopper of heavy crystal that looks like Jack Frost's handiwork. The box is covered with silver paper.

As you can imagine, it's an extremely pleasing package. But the cologne itself is worthy of it. The fragrance has been popular for a good many years. It's dreamy, romantic, and just a wee bit sweet. The kind of a scent that is just right for your romantic clothes. You'll feel cool and charming when you wear it —and that's half the battle.

For all its splendor of presentation this cologne isn't expensive. You can use it generously without feeling extravagant and as an attractive gift it would be perfect.

As a skin perfume this cologne should be applied directly to the body in generous quantities. Use it after the bath for a refreshing, fragrant rubdown. Toss some in the bath water, too. Another idea is to splash a few drops of this over your lingerie; many women do this and find it a smart little scenting trick.

A bit of it sprayed on the hair does nice things; it gives a soft fragrance, neither too faint nor too concentrated. There are any number of tricks with a beautifully perfumed cologne. If you like to be an original hostess, pour a bit into the finger bowls that are passed after dinner. If you love beautiful perfumes, spray a bit over your pillow just before you tumble into bed. Half the fun of owning lovely fragrances is devising clever ways to have them about you.

Urge Union as Various Creeds Honor Wesley

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—[Special.]—Presbyterians of America converged on this city today both to signalize the 150th anniversary of their first general assembly and to kneel, symbolically, in a little London prayer meeting where the Rev. John Wesley, founder of world wide Methodism, was converted to evangelical Christianity just 200 years ago tonight.

But in this city's convention hall, Presbyterians were not the only ones to mark the Wesley anniversary. With them were Episcopalians in whose British ministry Wesley was ordained; Baptists who introduced Wesley's evangelical fire to Calvin's doctrines; Moravians, from whom Wesley learned pious exercise—so methodical—thta his followers were soon called Methodists; Lutherans with their Moravian kinships, and Methodists.

Presbyterian leaders describe the conference of today and tomorrow as being a new thing in united action among denominations because of the several communions gathered formally to participate in administrative sessions of one of them. These administrative sessions are those of the department of evangelism of the Presbyterian church preliminary to opening sessions of its 150th general assembly on Thursday.

Bishop Ralph S. Cushman of Denver, Colo., a Methodist representative, called for early union of American Protestantism. Bishop Thomas C. Darst of the Episcopal diocese of eastern North Carolina, responded by citing the rising threats to religious freedom from political dictatorships.

Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, former president of Princeton Theological seminary and chairman of the Presbyterian commission on church unity, stated that his commission would report favorably on the Episcopal proposal for union with Presbyterians.

Meridian, Miss., May 24.—(AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States finished its principal business here today by forming a new committee to negotiate with the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. on plans for merger.

The governing body of the southern church also accepted the 48 to 38 vote of the church's presbyteries against reëntering the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, from which the Presbyterian Church in the United States withdrew in 1931.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Those Wild Hollywood Parties.

Hollywood, Cal., May 24.—For eight months now your reporter has been going from one Hollywood party to another in search of what the Sunday magazine editors would call an orgy, bacchanalian revelries that would be worth writing home about. Let's look at the record.

At the palatial home of the Jack Warners one evening the beauty and power of the movie colony were assembled. There was wine and there was caviar. I say that because Landlord Warner really sets a powerful table, but of orgies there were none. The big spree of the evening came when twelve youngsters came in to dance the Big Apple.

A few nights later Edgar Allen Woolf gave a party. Things seemed to be looking up, because it was at the première of Woolf's play at the Madison Square Garden roof that Harry Thaw shot Stanford White. So your reporter, grown timid and irresolute since he played Stagehand in the winter book, donned his bullet proof jacket and sallied forth.

Mr. Woolf, it developed, is the best amateur cook in this town, and he took me from one pot to another expatiating on the culinary wonders he had achieved. After dinner we played cards. Of orgies there was none.

The Groucho Marxes gave a party. With high hopes I set out again, figuring that before dawn pearled two and dropped one I'd see a movie queen drinking champagne from a slipper. The movie queens were there, but they kept their slippers on their feet and their feet on the ground. Groucho, late in the evening, played a guitar solo and chased all of us home.

Perhaps, I said to myself, these celebrities do not chuck wild parties in their homes. So when the first party of the season was given at the Clover club your correspondent was on hand bright and early. The only excitement of the evening was supplied by Paulette Goddard, who was wearing a gown into which she evidently had been poured, so snugly did it encompass her charms. But it takes more than one swallow to make a summer, and more than one gown to make an orgy.

Loretta Young gave a party. Things now were looking up because I'd read in the papers that the glamor girls are the kids to watch. We played quotations, and Loretta showed us some 16 MM. films that she had taken at Arrowhead. By this time I was getting burned up for fair.

Then in the mail came an invitation to attend a party given by the Countess Dorothy di Frasso, an artists and models costume affair. The thing sounded as if made to order because you know what artists and models are. Put two or three of them together and you have the damndest scandals you'd want. This was it.

We arrived to find artists and models swarming all over the house, but the men appeared a trifle uncomfortable in their fancy costumes and seemed to slink about the premises unhappily. I've never been to such a revoltingly orderly party in all my born days.

Burns and Allen tossed a party. "Come outside, I want you to see something," said George Burns, with a wink. We went outside and he showed me an electric boat that he had bought for Ronnie and Sandra, the youngsters. Later we all played pool and the girls played cards, and we drank root beer. Orgies and root beer do not go together, believe me.

The Phil Harrises were giving a barbecue and I went without any great hopes that hell would pop loose. I was right. The steaks were delicious, the hostess and host were charming, the company was delightful, the night was crisp. It wasn't the setting for what I was seeking.

Bitterly I confess these myriad disappointments to you, my public, and it's not because I haven't looked, because I'd walk a mile for an orgy. There are parties not mentioned here —the party at the Hal Roaches, another one at the Jack Bennys, the Edgar Bergen birthday, the Academy award banquet, the Mervyn Le Roy party, the Louis B. Mayer dinner, the Warner dinner, the M-G-M dinner, New Year's eve at the Trocadero, a party at the Arthur Stebbinses', the Breg La Cava party, still another at the Arthur Lyons.

To date I have played button-button-who's-got-the-button, I've played quotations, I've discussed poetry, the labor situation, the war in China, the La Follette movement, argued about basketball, played pool. In eight months in Hollywood, in search of an orgy, I have seen two drunks and haven't seen a single fist fight.

Tonight in a Los Angeles paper I read that three police cars had been called to the home of a butcher. He was giving a party, everybody got drunk, his wife hit another lady, and her escort hit her. All the guests then mixed in, and the police took twelve to jail, except two female guests who refused to put on their clothes. And I've been looking for an orgy in Hollywood!

The Housewife

So many women ask about satisfactory home cleaners for rugs and upholstery that we're glad to report one, new to us, that comes highly recommended by a friend. She likes it because it not only made the upholstery on her furniture look like new, restoring the original brightness and removing the soil, but because it is so easy to apply, and also so cheap.

A large bottle costs less than half a dollar. You dilute this foamy liquid with fourteen parts of water. No rinsing is required. Simply apply with a sponge to two or three square feet of surface and rub a few times. Then wipe off the foam. When the rug or upholstery is dry brush lightly to raise the nap again

The maker declares this cleaner prevents moths from entering the material and that it destroys any moth eggs or worms already there.

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her two children resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. Dorothea wants to have her own London flat. Oliver hopes to marry into wealth. Elizabeth goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest and meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning after years of absence in China to meet his children. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative. His daughter, Shirley, is with his wife's people. Shirley has become involved in a scandal with an aviator who was engaged to another girl. Her mother's family, so they have written Andrew, can do nothing with her. Andrew hopes to have it out with Shirley before becoming involved with his in-laws. Shirley believes the older generation are all against her and treats him coolly. Andrew turns to Elizabeth for sympathy. She tries to make friends with the boy and girl. Shirley's Aunt Jay writes Andrew hinting that the girl is seeing the aviator secretly. Dorothea hears from a friend about a stranger's attentions to her mother. Oliver decides to pay his mother a surprise visit. Elizabeth invites the Leicesters to spend a week-end at her hotel.

INSTALMENT XXI.

FATHER AND HOST.

Andrew, strolling about his room, wondered whether he had made matters worse by hauling Shirley over the coals. As he cooled down he began to think sadly of the past from which she had sprung. He had married Helen Mortimer during the war and lost her only a year after its end. They had been deeply in love and very happy in spite of the broken world, the constant partings and anxiety, and Shirley, born of the first flowering of their passion, wore its beauty in her young body and face.

She was like neither of them though a Leicester strain had given her her rare coloring. As a baby she had seemed an almost incredible changeling, which some wind might blow away. The sturdy William, born three years later, had been a recognizable and welcome infant, but without this mysterious quality.

Looking back over his absence in Shanghai, he saw how much unconsciously he had been influenced by the past in decisions about his daughter, and how his deep dissatisfaction with her now might spring from the same cause.

The suggestion by the Mortimers that it was unfair to the little girl to leave her in his cousin's bachelor household had caught him in a vulnerable spot. He had no experience to guide him. Women, he believed, must know best on such a question, and that any harm should come to her through thoughtlessness on his part was not to be risked.

"Running wild, my dear Andrew, every holiday—at a time when she needs a mother's care and influence," his mother-in-law had written. "We should have raised the question when you were in England but for my dear husband's illness and the impossibility of offering the child a home where poor Helen, I am sure, would wish her to be. Now that is changed. She would be an interest and a consolation to us, our dearest charge. My means unfortunately are much reduced—but, etc, etc."

Andrew, remembering the gist of this and similar other letters from various members of the family, beside Elizabeth's opinion of this morning, grew more and more disturbed. The desire to help Helen's people had been another though secondary fact, but he could see that it might have had precedence to the Mortimers themselves, for what had they made of the girl? References to "the Uplands influence" had not been wanting in their complaints, and he saw that whatever the truth might be the responsibility was his . . . for leaving her there at all, or for taking her away.

He was puzzled, disappointed and, he supposed, incompetent to fathom the girl. Every quality she showed seemed to be contradicted by some other. She had faced him without a tremor, yet hid behind William's presence.

"While William's here I won't listen to you!" she had cried frantically. "Listen?" What the devil did she mean? . . . as though he were the person on the defensive, not she.

He could find no answer and gave it up with a sigh. His thoughts turned instead to Elizabeth Sandal whose poise and sanity had meant much to him during these days. In such a woman's hands the girl might have been a different creature, he thought.

She had been through it too during these years, it was evident, but she was reticent and said little about it. Today, strolling through the old Savoy town, he had found himself suddenly appalled by the way he had monopolized her interest in his own affairs, and had said as much, but she had replied:

"It is the kindest thing you have ever done. You have taken me out of myself which is a very dangerous place to be. In a way we have this unusual thing in common, that we have both finished our jobs and must begin again. My children don't need me any more, and yours do need you, and being a man you are better equipped than I in any case. Men, I think, don't, as we are inclined to do, put all their eggs in one basket. We are hopeless individualists."

The scene with her father awoke with Shirley in the morning. There was the question of going down and meeting.

If she went down as usual and breakfasted with William or alone, he might please himself by imagining that she was embarrassed or guilty, which she was not. She had become practiced in holding herself against what came, in enduring what no one believed she would endure. To face her father, therefore, was a natural impulse, and because she was still in some doubt about him, the calm with which she descended was mixed with curiosity. Her adult knowledge of men of his generation was confined to friends of her grandmother and, therefore, prejudiced. Not one of them, she decided with a grin, would have flung a key at anybody.

Andrew saw her coming, greeting the porter, and then the waiters who rushed to pull out her chair and attend to her wants. He half rose, said good morning briefly and relapsed into his newspaper.

It was not very polite in a host, she thought caustically, but perhaps he was a father this morning. Very convenient to be able to choose but it was taking a mean advantage, all the same, unless he wore a label, for how was one to tell? Perhaps it had been a mistake after all to make a change and try to be affable. Yes, definitely a mistake. He must think it was fright.

"May I have the marmalade, please?" she asked firmly, to dispel this illusion.

Andrew imagined she was speaking to the waiter, but as no one replied he looked around, lowered his paper, and discovered the dish underneath.

"I'm sorry, Shirley, why didn't you tell me?" he said, passing it over.

"It doesn't matter, thanks."

He folded The Times, put it down and began his breakfast, noticing that her vivacity had gone and her voice seemed tired . . . or was it resigned? But resignation in so young a creature was too painful, as well as absurd, and he rejected it for injured.

"Done your packing yet?" he asked presently, glancing at his watch.

"No, but it won't take me long," she said. "I'm used to it."

Shirley had closed her lips as though she would say no more; the half empty coffee cup, her toast and marmalade abandoned, and her glance wandering round the room.

"I am sorry if I affronted your dignity last night," Andrew said awkwardly. "You see, it is difficult for me all at once to remember you are grown up."

"My dignity," she exclaimed. "O no, really . . . I haven't any of the kind you mean."

"What do you know of my definition of dignity that you speak so contemptuously of it?" said Andrew dryly.

"Contemptuously," she echoed. "O, no!"

"Very well, Shirley, I retreat from the field," he said. "And now we had better go and pack."

He moved off, waiting for her at the door and holding it open as she went through.

"You are two to one, anyway," she said to him over her shoulder. "Father and host."

"And a failure in both departments, evidently," he retorted and walked to the desk, leaving her to take possession of the lift.

A minimum of preparation time is required for this simple, easy to cook meal. The dessert demands the mixing bowl, but if you aren't in the mood for even that much effort you may buy your cupcakes at the bakery and make only the orange sauce to serve over them.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DINNER.
Braised Veal Chops
Radishes New Onions Chili Sauce
New Potatoes in Jackets
Steamed or Baked Halves of Italian Squash with Butter
Apple, Grape, and Walnut Salad
Honey Whole Wheat Bread
One Egg Cupcakes with Orange Sauce
Coffee

BRAISED VEAL CHOPS.

Allow about forty minutes for the chops to cook. Brown in hot fat on both sides in a frying pan, season with salt and pepper, then reduce heat, cover, and cook slowly until tender. A small amount of liquid may be added to the pan but isn't necessary.

ITALIAN SQUASH.

Italian squash or zucchini is the cucumberlike green summer squash sold now in many markets. Do not peel them. They may be sliced crosswise into pieces or split lengthwise into boat shaped halves for cooking. The latter way of preparing them is attractive. Cook in boiling salted water, or steam until barely tender to a fork. Do not overcook, or the squash will lose character and flavor. To serve, see that the squash is well salted and peppered, and liberally coated with butter.

One Egg Cupcakes.

[One Dozen.]

1⅔ cups cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and sugar and add unbeaten egg. Beat two minutes. Add flavoring. Then add flour mixture and milk alternately and beat well. Bake in greased cupcake pans at 375 degrees for about twenty minutes. Serve warm with orange sauce. Those not used for this meal may be frosted for later use.

Orange Sauce.

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter

Mix sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Gradually stir in hot water. Bring to a boil and cook fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add fruit juices, rind, and butter.

Poetry Circle Will Hold Regional Dinner Tomorrow

Hamlin Garland, author and poet, will be among the speakers at a regional dinner and assembly of the American Poetry circle tomorrow evening at the Auditorium hotel. Marcia Lewis Leach, national president of the circle, Mabel Hall Golta, Marianne Clarke, and Margaret Georgieff, respectively presidents of Illinois, Minnesota, and Michigan circles, and John E. Groves, president of the Chicago Poets' club, also will appear on the program. David Henry Kyes is regional governor of the circle.

Polish Women's Alliance Crowns Queen of Garlands

In celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Polish Women's alliance, a national organization of 60,000 members founded in Chicago, 200 women assembled at the association's clubhouse at 1309 North Ashland avenue yesterday. Miss Regina Jarocka of Newark, N. J., was crowned queen of garlands by Mrs. Stefanja Chmielinska, founder president. Several hundred persons will continue the celebration at a dinner-dance in the Palmer house tonight.

New Tailored Informality

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

A shirtwaist frock with new informality is presented today. The tailored beauty of a frock of this type is preserved, but new feminine grace is added by means of shirring at the shoulder yoke and above the belt, and by the casual sleeves. This is the sort of comfortable dress you can wear for active and spectator sports, informal daytime wear, and to the office. Its neckline may be left plain, with only a band for finish, or it may have a small collar. The skirt is cut and paneled to fit perfectly, and an inverted plait is supplied to provide plenty of room when walking.

Use any tubbable summer fabric. The shops are full of attractive linens, cottons, rayon mixtures, and silks, in a wide variety of colors and prints.

Style No. 3416 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material.

French Are Impressed by Exhibition Showing America's Art History

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 24.—So large was the crowd of international notables attending the opening in the Tuileries gardens of the exhibition of "Three Centuries of American Art" that a few minutes after the gates were opened today it was difficult to get a view of the exhibit. A special showing had been held previously for the critics.

With the exception of Whistler and a few of the best known among the Americans who have studied in Paris, little attention has been given American art history or its development, and all who were able to see were impressed today by the diversity of the exhibition as well as by the fact that an exposition could be organized to justify the school of American production going back 300 years.

According to CULBERTSON

INARTICULATE BIDDING.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The measure of a player, especially in respect to bidding, is the amount of burden he places upon his partner. Bidding is precisely analogous to conversation. A foreigner, with a very limited English vocabulary, can make his main ideas understood, but when it comes to conveying his thoughts with all the shadings and nuances needed to complete a true picture, he is at a loss. There also is such a thing as a limited bidding vocabulary. It is by no means sufficient for me to tell my partner that I have a poor hand, good hand, or enormous hand, because there are so many degrees in between these adjectives that partner's visualization is bound to be vague and unreliable. Consider South's form of description in the following case:

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J 8 3 2
♦ 9 7 5

WEST
♥ J 5
♦ A K J 6 4 3

EAST
♠ K 5 4
♥ Q 7 2
♦ Q 8 2
♣ K Q 7 4

SOUTH
♠ A Q 10 7 6
♥ A K 10 8 4 3
♦ 10
♣ J

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
2 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

With no more than the jack of spades four times in the North hand the declarer [to quote some of my vulger expert friends] "could have thrown the hand up against the wall and still made eleven tricks."

South, possibly with the thought of "getting there first," immediately launched an attack on North for failing to raise the spade bid. Said South in a plaintive tone: "Gee whiz! I 'reversed,' didn't I? You know that shows a big hand. You might have given me a chance!" North's eyes rolled to high heaven at this criticism and he let out a roar that would have done very well as the sound effect of a bull fight over the radio. "Are you trying to tell me," he demanded, "that I should have raised you on one lousy jack, with 4-4-3-2 distribution? Because if you are, you'd better get yourself another partner. I'll be an opponent! May I remind you that you did not start with a two bid and that you did not even give a force on your rebid? I know all about this 'reversing' proposition, but all I've got to say is that if you could go game by finding a jack in my hand, something was odoriferous about your bidding, not mine!"

I must say that I agree thoroughly with North's stand, even down to the bull-like roar. "Reverse bidding" does, it is true, imply strength, but here we come to the question of degree. South would have "reversed" with considerably fewer winners than he actually held. South's honor strength was not terrific, but his distribution, a 6-5 combination in the major suits, had potential power over and above that which could be expressed by a mere "reverse" bid. South should have realized that as little as the jack of spades in North's hand, or three hearts to the queen, with a doubleton spade, would produce an excellent play for game and, therefore, instead of merely "reversing," South should have jumped in spades, thus indicating his respective heart and spade lengths. It would have required some courage on North's part to have gone to game in spades even after such a "jump reverse," but this he probably would have done.

As it was, the only player who had ground for disgust was North.

SWEITZER BONDS COVER ONLY PART OF COUNTY LOSS

Open Suit Against Surety; $329,302 Collectible.

Cook county can hope to collect a maximum of only $329,302, it was disclosed yesterday, in its suit against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company as surety for the late Robert M. Sweitzer.

The alleged shortages in Sweitzer's accounts while he was county clerk have been set at a total of $519,862. The county will have to file suit against Sweitzer's estate to recover the other $190,560.

Make Opening Statements.

Opening statements to the jury in Judge Daniel P. Trude's court which is hearing the county's claim against the surety company were made yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Jacob M. Shamberg and Egbert Robertson, chief counsel for the company. The state introduced county records on which much of the evidence in the case will be based. The hearing then was adjourned to today, when the state will call an auditor from the First National bank to identify other documents in Sweitzer's transactions.

Prosecutor Shamberg explained why the county's possible maximum judgment against the surety company can only be $329,302, although the company had bonded Sweitzer for a total of $600,000—$100,000 for each of his six terms of four years each as clerk, from 1910 to 1934. The shortages in his accounts were set out as follows:

First term, 1910-'14	$ 3,714
Second term, 1914-'18	50,442
Third term, 1918-'22	26,586
Fourth term, 1922-'26	290,560
Fifth term, 1926-'30	96,260
Sixth term, 1930-'34	52,300
Total	$519,862

Liable Only on Bond.

The surety company is not liable for more than its $100,000 bond in any four year term, Shamberg said. Because the alleged shortage for the fourth term period, 1922 to 1926, exceeds the bond by $190,560, that amount will have to be sought from the Sweitzer estate. It was regarded as unlikely that any substantial part of the $190,560 will ever be recovered. Sweitzer's estate, after his death on April 6, was valued at only $25,500.

MRS. HARKNESS IN CITY ON WAY FOR NEW PANDAS

Mrs. William H. Harkness Jr., through whose efforts Mei-Mei and the late Su-Lin came to Brookfield zoo, paused briefly in Chicago yesterday on an airplane trip to San Francisco and the orient. She will bring back from China two more baby giant pandas, one male and one female, already captured by her advance party.

Mrs. Harkness, who arrived on a United Air Lines plane and left fifteen minutes later on another one, was met at the Municipal airport by Robert Bean, assistant director of Brookfield zoo. The zoo has an option on all pandas captured by Mrs. Harkness on her current expedition. She will board the China Clipper in San Francisco this afternoon.

Mothers at Trial

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Testimony in the murder trial of Donald Carroll Jr., 16 years old, charged with shooting his sweetheart, Charlotte Matthiesen, 18, began today in Queens County court amid a flood of tears.

Even Joseph V. Loscalzo, assistant district attorney—a prosecutor noted for his high percentage of convictions—spoke temperately and feelingly of his disagreeable duty in his opening remarks to the jury.

He frankly admitted his sympathy for the boy who killed his sweetheart in a suicide pact he could not finish. The prosecutor asked only a fair and just verdict. The girl was to have become a mother.

Loscalzo asked only one question of the state's first witness, Mrs. Fred Matthiesen, mother of the dead Charlotte. Did she identify the body of her daughter after that tragic end in Jackson Heights? She nodded assent, palpably afraid to speak for fear of complete collapse.

JURORS ACQUIT EX-INSURANCE MAN OF FORGERY

A jury in the Criminal court of Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday acquitted Arthur L. Whitmer, onetime wealthy insurance company executive, of forgery.

Testimony was given that a forged note for $5,000, bearing the signature of Garry N. Peterson, 5722 Belmont avenue, was included in collateral offered the now defunct Kaspar State bank for a $50,000 loan to the Illinois National Underwriters. Whitmer, who was head of the insurance firm, testified he did not know where the forged note came from; that he first heard of it when the bank's receiver called it to his attention.

POLICE SCANDAL TRIAL AT LAST GETS UNDER WAY

Defense Pleas for Delay Denied by Judge.

The trial of Kenneth Peters, central figure in the Town Hall police scandal case, started yesterday in the Criminal court, but not until after the defense had made one vain effort after another to delay the proceedings.

George Crane, defense counsel, said the state ought to get a new indictment. Mr. Crane said any jurors selected from the present venire would be prejudiced by newspaper stories. Mr. Crane said the defense never before had asked a continuance. And Mr. Crane complained plaintively that he was hungry.

But to each suggestion for a continuance, Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford opposed an objection, and Judge Robert Jerome Dunne upheld him. So at 3 p. m., Mr. Crane, munching a few lozenges supplied by the judge, began selecting the jury with Prosecutor Crawford.

Second Bad Day for Defense.

It was the second successive day of setbacks for the defense. On Monday the prosecution jolted Attorney Crane by suddenly producing James J. Burke, chief witness for the state, whose mysterious disappearance last month caused a mistrial to be declared in the first trial of Peters.

Hitherto Attorney Crane and his associate, Harold Levy, had been making demands for an immediate trial of their client. It was for this reason that the state, now equipped with its chief witness, elected to go to trial without further delay.

Seized by Uniformed Police.

On Feb. 28 Peters and another man, known only as Tip, were arrested by uniformed policemen who said later that they were trying to rob Burke, then a chauffeur for a north side bookmaker. The policemen, Harold Thompson and Peter Frank, turned them over to two plain clothesmen, Earl Flannery and Frank McKune, who happened by.

The prisoners never arrived at the station. Later the detectives were suspended, indicted for letting prisoners escape, and are awaiting trial. They were in court yesterday, subpenaed as witnesses for the state in the trial of Peters, who is charged with assault to rob.

AWARD $1,477,192 BUILDING JOB AT SOLDIERS' FIELD

The contract for completion of the Soldiers' field stadium was awarded yesterday to the Lundoff Bicknell company, 100 North La Salle street, by the park district commissioners. The contract calls for erection of a new administration building and a new bank of seats at the north end of the stadium at a cost of $1,477,192. The new building will be four stories high and constructed of the same Bedford limestone as the rest of the stadium. The new bank of 6,000 seats will close the stadium, transforming it into an oval bowl.

DR. A. E. MORGAN GOES TO CAPITAL FOR TVA INQUIRY

Dayton, O., May 24.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, left for Washington tonight with a carefuly guarded statement which he planned to present to the congressional inquiry, which opens tomorrow, into the TVA directorate's split.

Associates said the statement would provide the joint committee with a starting point for the detailed investigation to follow. Dr. Morgan, former president of Antioch college at nearby Yellow Springs, has worked on it since the committee set a hearing date last week. These associates joined the school in 1921, expressed the belief a long battle is ahead, possibly including a Supreme court fight over the President's right to remove Morgan.

Dr. Morgan will be the first to appear before the congressional investigative committee. He will be followed by Director David A. Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan, present chairman of the TVA board.

SEABISCUIT GOES LAME; CANCEL $100,000 MATCH RACE

HANDICAP STAR FAILS TO TRAIN SATISFACTORILY

War Admiral Starts in Suburban.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Seabiscuit's unsatisfactory training because of lameness today resulted in cancelation of the $100,000 match race with War Admiral at Belmont Park Monday.

Announcement of the cancelation was made by Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York State Racing commission, after a meeting with Seabiscuit's owner, Charles S. Howard, and Trainer Tom Smith. In an official statement, Swope said:

"Mr. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, stated that his horse had been training unsatisfactorily due to the fact that he was showing lameness and that his trainer, Tom Smith, and he were both certain it would be impossible to bring the horse to the race able to give a good account of himself.

The Only Way Out.

"As the public is entitled to a real contest it was entirely proper for C. V. Whitney and P. A. B. Widener representing Belmont Park, to call the race off. There was no other way, since in addition to guarding the public interest, irreparable injury might have been done to the horse and damage to the turf in general.

"John Sloan, a member of the commission, and I attended the meeting and both of us are in complete agreement as to the action taken. So as to let the public see for itself, Mr. Howard had been asked to work his horse this Tuesday afternoon after the last race. He was willing to do this even after he had made his statement, but it was decided it would be an unnecessary hardship upon Seabiscuit as well as putting him in danger of permanently breaking down, so the work was abandoned."

Arlington Offers $100,000.

Seabiscuit's workouts since his arrival at Belmont a month ago have been confined to long gallops. Clockers and veteran trainers were not impressed with his showing, although Trainer Smith insisted throughout the preparations that the 5 year old handicap star was conditioning as planned and that he would be at his peak for the race.

Smith has trained Seabiscuit for two years by unorthodox methods which have left horsemen flabbergasted. The horse has what is known as a knee.

Seabiscuit's knee has been the same since he was 2 years old and raced for the Wheatley stable. Smith's skill and patience with Seabiscuit enabled the son of Hard Tack to beat the best in the country despite this infirmity and the weak knee never gave way.

Riddle and his trainer, George Conway, were keenly disappointed when notified that the race was off. They said their colt was in perfect condition, ready to beat Seabiscuit in record time.

Reserve Seats Sold.

The match was to have been at a mile and a quarter, each horse to carry 126 pounds and the winner take all of the $100,000 purse.

It had been expected that between 50,000 and 100,000 would see the race. Every box and reserved seat had been sold and thousands of applications had been turned down.

War Admiral will start in the Suburban handicap on Saturday. The Surburban was his objective before the match race was arranged. He has been working in excellent shape, twice covering the mile and a quarter in less than 2:08. His time has been so impressive that he had been made a 3 to 5 choice over Seabiscuit.

In the $20,000 added Suburban he will meet such speedsters as Snark, Pompoon, Masked General, Mosawtre, Caballero II., Strabo, Aneroid, and Piccolo. Because Pompoon will get in the Suburban with 128 pounds against 132 for the Admiral, it was believed Riddle would ignore the race.

THE GUMPS—HATCHING THE PLOT

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THERE has been no official announcement about it, but the Missouri Valley conference will not permit any athletes still in school to compete in the 1940 Olympic games because of the conflict with academic work. . . . Red Grange is feeling better than ever since recovering from a serious operation last winter. . . . Northwestern won low and high gross in the golf meet for Big Ten coaches which preceded the conference meeting last week-end at Columbus. . . . Ted Payseur shot 70 and Lynn Waldorf led all, including Chicago's Nelson Metcalf, with a snappy 131. . . . Brooklyn baseball writers are trying to make a deal with Chicago's authors. . . . They want to trade Larry McPhail, business manager of the Dodgers, for Bob Lewis, traveling secretary of the Cubs, but the Chicago correspondents spurned the suggestion. . . . Wives of Cub players will be interviewed on WBBM at 2:15 today. . . . Since they have been banned from spring training and regular season trips they ought to have something of real import to say. . . . Ohio State has a sophomore tackle prospect who weighs 272 pounds. . . . Approximately 5,000 football men will receive diplomas next month at commencement exercises in the 1,000 institutions above high school rank in the United States. . . .

Bob Daly, end on Northwestern's football team, spied a gopher on the campus the other day and made an ineffectual flying tackle to catch the animal. . . . Explaining that the gopher cut back on him, a bystander remarked, "Yeh, just like the Minnesota Gophers last fall." . . . Jim Kearns, Chicago sports writer, who saved his pennies and bought the finest portable typewriter on the market, still is leading a posse in a vain attempt to round up the bandit who stole the glittering writer from the press room at Wrigley field. . . . The same day Kearns' typewriter disappeared somebody snitched the patented coffee percolator in the press stand free lunch bazar. . . . It may be just whistling in the rain barrel, but American league managers are not trembling in their boots at thoughts of the Yankees as much as they have the last two seasons. . . .

His Guests.

I passed a little limping lad today,
His body broken by infirmity;
He could not join his comrades at their play
And so he hobbled homeward cheerfully.
He had a smile for every one he met,
As though he found the world a pleasant place,
No slightest tinge of sorrow or regret
Had ever cast a shadow on his face.
I sometimes think God lives within the breasts
Of those whose little bodies have been bruised,
Making of them His very special guests
For that their limbs are withered and contused;
And who of them would trade this inner wealth

SID RICHARDSON KEEPS BIG 10 GOLF TITLE WITH 305

N. U. Star Cards 72 on Final Round.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—[Special.]—Minnesota won the team title and Sid Richardson of Northwestern retained his individual championship as the Big Ten golf tournament ended on the Minnesota course today.

Richardson, rated as one of the best finishers in college golf, kept that reputation today. He turned in the lowest score of the entire 72 hole tournament today with a 72 that gave him a 305 aggregate and the individual title for the second year by four strokes.

Croonquist Slips to 80.

Minnesota, in the meantime, saw its early leader, Sophomore Neil Croonquist, slip to an 80 for his worst round of the tournament. But his 310 aggregate, Capt. Ernotte Hiller's and Billy Cooper's 314s, and Merle Getten's 317 were good enough for team honors. The Gophers posted a 1,255 total to beat Northwestern and Michigan, in that order.

In second place among the individuals was Charles [Chick] Evans, Ohio State sophomore. He was the first day's leader with 153 for the first 36 holes. But he slipped today, finished with a 77 this afternoon, and totaled 309 for second place.

Then came Croonquist. Bob Palmer of Michigan was in fourth place among the individuals with 313, followed in turn by Cooper, Hiller, and Bill Barclay of Michigan with 314 each, Johnny Hobart of Illinois with 315, Chet Bland of Northwestern with 316, and Merle Getten of Minnesota and Lynn Riess of Michigan with 317.

Perpich Cards 76.

Frank Perpich, No. 2 Northwestern player, needed a 70 to give the Wildcats a tie for team honors with the Gophers. But all he could do was a 76 for 319 for himself and 1,260 for his school. Bill O'Neall completed the Northwestern scoring with 320.

Michigan followed in third place with 1,264 for the four team members. Tom Tussing was the fourth man for the Wolverines with 320.

The Gopher victory virtually assures the team of a trip to national intercollegiate tournament at Louisville, Ky., next month, when Minnesota will bid for the 1939 national intercollegiate tournament.

The leaders were the same as last year, except that the first place Gophers were third in 1937. With 1,282, Illinois finished fourth today. Ohio State was fifth with 1,297, Wisconsin, sixth, 1,302; Iowa, seventh, 1,318; Indiana, eighth, 1,339; Purdue, ninth, 1,344, and Chicago, tenth, 1,357.

The seventy-two hole scores:

Sid Richardson, N. U.	233	35	37—72—305
Charles Evans, Ohio St.	232	38	39—77—309
Neil Croonquist, Minn.	230	39	41—80—310
Bob Palmer, Michigan	235	37	41—78—313

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pompton Lakes, N. J., May 24.—It's a long road from the Pine street Y. M. C. A. in St. Louis to the Garden Bowl in Long Island. But that's the path Henry Armstrong, featherweight champion of the world, has traveled, and Thursday night Armstrong is convinced will be the evening he wins the welterweight championship from Chicago's Barney Ross.

This afternoon when Homicide Hank, as he has been dubbed here at Dr. Joseph Bier's camp, concluded his drills for Ross, the lad from St. Louis and his manager, fat Eddie Meade, were as confident of victory as Barney is of defeating the contender.

This Armstrong is a fighter. Make no mistake about that when you are estimating his chances against Ross. Since he entered the amateur ranks in 1930, and then became a professional after his unsuccessful bid for a berth on the United States Olympic boxing team two years later, his life has been one of action.

He Likes to Fight.

Henry likes to fight. In fact, he's spent so much time fighting that this is his first training camp. Three weeks in camp, a new experience, have proved to all who witnessed Armstrong's training drills, that he is all fighter no matter what has been reported concerning alleged setups and pushovers that would do credit to a tour of a Primo Carnera.

Eddie Meade's reputation—and if this is treason, draw the papers for the suit—is one disadvantage Henry's flying fists must whitewash. But Meade, who is supposed to have taken over Armstrong's contract, after Al Jolson had been convinced that here was a champion, insists that he and the movie star are friends.

Henry's Brother Tells Views.

"We're all fixed up on that suit of Al's," Meade said this afternoon. "There's nothing to it. Say, Pal, Jolson just called me up, long distance, understand, and he's chartered a couple of airplanes to the fight. Bringing a lot of them movie folks, and Al's got fifty grand with him to bet on Armstrong. That don't sound like Al's sore at me, does it?

"Al's got a piece of Armstrong now. Yeah, Al and Harry here [Henry's brother], and me run the works. And we're going to put Henry into the big buck class."

Harry Armstrong, Henry's older brother, gave his views on the forthcoming fight. Harry is 33 years of age, and after one year of college study at Fiske university, Nashville, Tenn., he decided he might make something of himself as a fighter. But Harry couldn't get beyond first base, and when he had been socked for a couple of knockouts on the Pacific

GALAN, COLLINS LEAD ATTACK AS CUBS ROUT MUNGO

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 24.—Even with their ace man, Van Lingle Mungo, in action, the Dodgers were still daffy today. Not having forgotten that he slipped them a shutout recently in Chicago, the Cubs decided to make Mungo pay. The tall, temperamental southerner paid so liberally, although unwillingly, that Charles Grimm's second place contingent carried off a merry series opener, 10 to 4, principally because of a cleanup homer by Augie Galan.

Given a two run lead at the very start, Mungo set his heart on recording his second complete game of the season. The ambition survived only through three innings. Rip Collins started something in the fourth with a home run over the wall. Before the inning was completed the bases had been filled and Galan had come through with a homer which scored four runs. After this hilarity both Mungo and his immediate successor, Max Butcher, were soft touches.

Carleton Goes Route.

Tex Carleton went the route for the Cubs, even though the Brooklyn spirit seemed to be in his blood. He was so feeble in the first inning, when two Dodgers scored, that he was faced with banishment. However, he got his bearings and for the next five innings mastered the enemy. But a lot of exercise on the base lines wore him down and in the home seventh he could barely locate the plate. He kept the Dodgers from scoring, however, even though he allowed three passes. And, after pitching seven innings on two hits, he tottered again in the ninth but stuck to clinch his fifth triumph without assistance.

Carleton's embarrassing first inning opened with a single to left by Rosen, who was forced on English's poke to Herman. Camilli singled between Collins and Herman. Reynolds took care of Lavagetto's fly. Carleton got a bum break on Phelps, one of those

STRATTON SETS DOWN SENATORS IN FIRST START

Walker Hits Homer with One On.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Monty Stratton, who some folks said never would pitch again after he injured his arm in Los Angeles on March 27, yesterday went the full distance as he and the White Sox administered a 10 to 3 licking to the Washington Senators.

The boys made Monty work harder than he should have, contributing three errors in addition to one Monty made himself. But the cast more than made amends by hammering out sixteen hits. This bruising performance included Gee Walker's No. 3 homer and a single; a triple and a double by Boze Berger, two doubles and a single by Mike Kreevich, and a double and a single by Jackie Hayes. Hank Steinbacher had a double and a single, but both were scratchy, whereas most of the socking distinctly was of the power variety.

It was the fourth triumph in their last five starts for the Sox and returned them to fifth place in the American league. They now have lost only two more games than the leading Indians and only one more than the second place Red Sox and third place Yankees.

The Arm Is Strong.

The victory was the second credited to Stratton. He got a cheap one by pitching the eighth inning in Cleveland on May 13, though he was a bit wabbly that day.

Yesterday Monty showed no signs of the arm trouble that kept him out of service for eight weeks and four days last year, except for one inning, and for eight weeks and two days this year, except for one inning. He had some difficulties, but managed to pull out without any great distress. Observers now see for him as good a season as he had last year, when he won fifteen and lost five. He yielded ten hits yesterday, two of them scratches after two were out in the ninth inning. Monty walked only three, one of them intentionally. He struck out Al Simmons, just to show he could bear down if he wanted to.

Yesterday's success gave the Sox a record of eleven victories and twelve defeats—and this afternoon they will have a chance against the lowly Philadelphia Athletics to rise to the .500 mark.

Just Like Old Times.

The Sox are even up on the Senators, who beat them in extra innings on May 6 and 7.

Stratton showed his mid-1937 form in the first inning. Myer and Lewis were out on grounders, after which Simmons reached first when Stratton juggled the ball after knocking down a smash. Then Stone popped to Berger. In the Sox first Kreevich doubled with one out and reached third on Steinbacher's infield out. Walker's tap to Lewis ended the inning.

Bases Full, No Runs.

The Sox filled the bases with none out in the second, but couldn't put over a run, Sewell's tap provoking a double play by way of the plate and Stratton striking out.

The Senators grabbed an unearned

YATES DEFEATS FISCHER, ONE UP, IN BRITISH GOLF

Goodman Beats Billows, 4 and 2.

TROON, Scotland, May 24.—(AP)—Charley Yates of Atlanta defeated Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati on a stymie at the nineteenth hole of their first round match in the British amateur golf tournament today. Six Americans survived the second day of competition.

Yates' victory took the spotlight from the expected headline match in which Omaha's Johnny Goodman, United States amateur champion, beat Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 4 and 2. Billows followed Fischer and Marvin [Bud] Ward of Olympia, Wash., a 1937 American amateur semi-finalist, to the sidelines.

Ouimet and Kocsis Win.

The remaining four American survivors are: Francis Ouimet of Boston, who eliminated Dr. William Tweddell, 1936 British Walker cup captain, 4 and 3; Charles Kocsis of Detroit, who whipped William Peacock of Britain, 3 and 2; Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, who beat Scottish A. J. Ashworth, 7 and 6, and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, who reached the second round yesterday.

Today's matches, which also saw the British Walker cup player, Gordon Peters reach the third round and two of his mates, Leonard Crawley and Hector Thomson, gain the second, reduced the field to 98. By tomorrow night, when the rest of the second round and all of the third will have been played, only 32 will be left.

The major upset of the day was Ward's defeat by Albert W Briscoe, former West of Ireland champion who outputted Ward to win at the twentieth.

Briscoe has beaten two Americans, Ward and Charles S. Munson Jr., of Fairfield, Conn. He faces Goodman tomorrow. Against Ward today Briscoe holded a chip from the heather to tie the match on the thirteenth and then canned a 20-footer for a deuce at the next hole.

Somerville Wins Match.

C. Ross [Sandy] Somerville, the Canadian champion who won the United States title in 1932, routed A. W. Ogilvie of South Africa, 7 and 5, today. He plays Bob Rutherford of England in the third round tomorrow.

Goodman, though his all-round play has been a bit disappointing to some critics, applied the pressure when necessary to oust Billows today. Johnny won three of the first six holes and was never headed. His lead was cut to one hole at the turn, as he failed to gauge some of his shots in the wind, but Billows lost control on the incoming nine. Goodman was much steadier than Billows on the greens.

Yates Faces Pennink.

The feature matches tomorrow should be between Yates and Frank Pennink, British Walker cup player and English amateur champion in 1937 and 1938, and Ouimet and Cecil Ewing, Irish star who played on the British team two years ago. There also is a possibility of a battle between Smith and Johnny Stevenson.

Half Rate on Chicago Open Set for Preps

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago district high school students, who within the last five years have become the most avid golfing enthusiasts in these parts, yesterday were assured of an opportunity to witness the second annual Chicago open tournament at Olympia Fields on July 22, 23 and 24.

Officers of the Chicago District Golf association, meeting at noon in their headquarters in the La Salle hotel, announced that they had arranged with officials of the city public, Catholic, and suburban high schools to make available a half rate admission for the first two rounds of the tournament.

Interest of Preps Spreading.

The golfing interest of prep athletes in the Chicago district is becoming increasingly manifest in the formation of leagues for regular competition as in other sports, as well as in the fact that many undergraduates are earning their way through school by caddying.

The C. D. G. A., in an effort to recognize these boys as the members of tomorrow, is offering a ticket whereby they will gain admission to the first two days of the Chicago open for 55 cents instead of the official fee of $1.10. Athletic directors of every school in the section will be informed by letter of the plan. Each then will ascertain the number of tickets required and bring their orders to the C. D. G. A. headquarters in the La Salle. Tickets will be available within the next few days.

Move Up Amateur Trials.

The district association also announced yesterday that the date of the amateur qualifying round for the open has been moved up from July 20 to July 19 in deference to the annual Knights of Columbus state tournament.

This trial will consist of an eighteen hole medal play tournament for all amateurs with a handicap of more than four strokes, thus allowing private club members with registered allowances of four or under, as well as hundreds of public parks and daily fee players to try for the big show. The first 50 in the field will earn a place in the tournament proper.

One hundred and fifty members, new members and guests attended Bob O'Link's annual spring get-together tournament yesterday. A. L. Miller, the club champion, and Ed Collins, a guest, had 82 to lead the field. R. C. Vilas, with 84, was next, followed by G. E. Slezak, 86, and R. G. Walker, F. A. Mercer, and W. W. Crittenden, with 88's.

Ross' Mother to Leave Today for Armstrong Bout

Mrs. Sarah Rasofsky, mother of Barney Ross, will board a train for New York today to watch Barney defend his welterweight championship against Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden bowl tomorrow. Mrs. Rasofsky has attended every one of her son's major bouts. Other members of the family already have gone east.

Chairman Joe Triner of the state boxing commission headed a party of fifteen which left yesterday for the Ross-Armstrong site on an American Air Lines plane. Upon his return next week, Triner and his fellow commissioner, James R. Fitzpatrick, who is at variance with the chairman, will be called before Gov. Horner to straighten out a misunderstanding.

A special train sponsored by Arthur Elrod and George Ross will leave the La Salle street station with a group of Barney Ross backers this afternoon. . . . Joe Corbett has been substituted for Walter Palmer against Midget Fischer in the main bout on this evening's card in the Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Supporting encounters match Bull Curley and Kid Chapman, Ole Olson with Fred Grubmier, Roy Rickenbacher with Jerry Meeker, and Rudy Kay with Jack Conley.—F. M.

Pitches His 2d No Hit Game of Prep Season

Kenneth Polivka of Morton yesterday pitched his second no-hit game of the season, blanking Proviso, 3 to 0, in Maywood. He fanned 15 and walked four.

The junior southpaw, playing his third season on the team, pitched a perfect game against Oak Park April 19, not a man reaching first base. On that occasion he struck out 16 in winning, 10 to 0.

Ninth in Row for Morton.

Yesterday's triumph was the ninth straight for the Cicero school.

Lane Tech of the City league concluded its 12 game schedule in the north section unbeaten by defeating Schurz, 5 to 3. Farragut was eliminated from the west section title race when it fell before Crane, 7 to 4. Crane's three run rally in the ninth was the result of a walk and four singles.

Steinmetz Wins, 2 to 1.

Steinmetz and Harrison, tied for the west lead, engaged in a tight battle, with the former winning, 2 to 1.

Home runs yesterday were made by Shephard, Senn; Delvecchio, Kelvyn Park; Dumas, Englewood, and Herman, New Trier.

Michigan Track Squad Elects Watson Captain

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 24.—(AP)—William Watson, one in a long line of great colored athletes at the University of Michigan, today was elected captain of the 1939 Wolverine track team. The star weight man and broad jumper is the first of his race to receive that honor at Michigan.

PETILLO, SNYDER TO ATTEMPT TO QUALIFY TODAY

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—(AP)—Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles and Jimmy Snyder of Chicago and other drivers will attempt to qualify tomorrow for starting places in the 500 mile automobile race here Monday.

Trouble dogged Petillo and Snyder in their two efforts over the weekend. If they are unsuccessful in their third trials they will not start.

In their first two attempts Petillo and Snyder bore down on their accelerators and tried for the money and recognition which go to the driver setting lap and qualification records. The furious pace was too much for their motors and tires, and neither was able to complete the twenty-five mile qualifying run.

SEEKS AMERICAN CAR.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Tazio Nuvolari, Italian auto racer, who won the Vanderbilt cup race on the Roosevelt raceway in 1936, will arrive tomorrow on the Conte di Savoia en route to Indianapolis for the 500 mile race Memorial day.

Fourteen drivers qualified Saturday and Sunday.

Efforts are being made to provide Nuvolari with an American car, in which case he may enter the race. If this fails he will be official starter.

GALAN, COLLINS LEAD ATTACK AS CUBS ROUT MUNGO

fellows able to run standing still. The Babe hit a slow grounder to deep short and in some manner beat Jurges' throw for a single. This filled the bases. Apparently peeved over the turn of events, Carleton got himself into a worse fix by pitching three wide ones to Koy. Then he drifted one across the plate and it was slashed to right for a single, scoring English and Camilli. Herman threw out Hassett.

That Big Fourth.

When Collins stepped into action in the hilarious fourth there was one out. He clubbed his fifth homer over the right field screen. Jurges walked and was forced by Carleton for the second out. Mungo didn't seem to be disturbed much by Hack's single to right. Mungo was all set to start toward the dugout when Herman bounced to Lavagetto, but the latter fumbled and the bases were loaded. This was where Galan came in with his No. 4 homer, giving the Cubs a total of five runs for the inning.

Collins came up again in the fifth after two were out. The sight of Rip disturbed Mungo. He threw a couple of pitches which looked suspiciously like dusters. Collins said nothing and eventually walked. Jurges then singled to right. Carleton filled the bases with a slow single toward third when Mungo made no effort to recover the ball. With a 3 and 2 count on Hack, Mungo committed a wild pitch, but because of a peculiar local ground rule, the errant pitch doesn't appear in the records.

Hack walked on the pitch and Collins and Jurges scored, but the latter was ordered back to third. Umpire Bill Klem, in reply to a protest from the Cubs, explained that only one base can be taken on a pitched ball into the dugout. But the Cubs got the run anyway. Butcher came in to rescue the tottering Mungo and carried on in kind. He walked Hack, forcing in Jurges. Galan again took aim at the fence, but his drive was captured by Rosen.

Carleton Hits Triple.

A mixture of three fancy hits and an error combined in the scoring of the three runs off Butcher in the seventh. Carleton tripled to right center, after Jurges had been tossed out by Durocher. The Dodgers were only five runs behind, so the infield was drawn in for a possible play at the plate. This afforded Hack opportunity to poke a grounder past English, scoring Carleton. Herman drove one against the wall in right center, scoring Hack, and Herman continued to the plate when Rosen made a wild return throw. Later in the inning Demaree singled, but this had no part in the run production.

Carleton almost walked himself out of the game in the seventh. He alternated passes and outs, a process which left three on at the end of the inning. The Cubs had a similar experience with Marrow in the eighth. After two were out Jurges walked, Carleton singled and Hack walked. Herman grounded to English. Then Carleton turned wild again in the ninth. He walked two men and allowed two singles for two runs.

French to Face Pressnell and Dodgers Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 24.—The Cubs will depend on Larry French's southpawing tomorrow in the second of the three game series with the Dodgers. The latter's pitching will be done by Forrest [Tot] Pressnell.

The Brooklyn grand stand has been painted in all the colors of a circus train, but the Dodgers still are able to clown impressively without painting their faces.

Officials of the New York Giants, across the river, are highly peeved because a lighting system for night baseball is to be installed at the local park. Larry McPhail, the Dodgers' business manager, is accused of breaking a three way agreement to keep the artificial game out of Greater New York. The Yanks are the third club in on the pact.

Bulletin No. 7 on Diz Dean: Diz worked out the $185,000 arm again today, this time going close to fifteen minutes in which he appeared able to get a little zip on the ball. Diz has one more week of daily tests ahead of him.

Europe's Ring Team Sweeps Bouts in North

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—[Special.]—Europe's boxing champions, who went down before Chicago's Golden Gloves squad, 5 to 3, last Wednesday, were too good for an amateur team representing the Northwest tonight and scored an 8 to 0 triumph before 7,000 spectators.

The Europeans left no doubt as to the result of any of the bouts, scoring two clean knockouts, a technical knockout, and winning the other five championship contests and two alternate matches by decisive margins.

Antoni Kolczynski, Polish welterweight who upset Jimmy O'Malley, national A. A. U. 147 pound champion, in the Chicago bouts, won a hard fought three round decision over Tony Yates in the feature match on tonight's card. Summaries:

INDIANS DEFEAT YANKEES, 9 TO 5; SWEEP SERIES

Allen Limits New York to 9 Hits; Averill Hits Homer

Cleveland, O., May 24.—(AP)—Earl Averill hit a homer with two on base in the third and an inning later tripled with the bases loaded to help end Lefty Gomez's stay on the mound as the Indians beat the Yankees, 9 to 5, today. It was Gomez's fifth defeat of the season. Johnny Allen, ex-Yankee, earned his fifth victory of the year for Cleveland.

The champions reached Allen for two runs in the second on a double by Lou Gehrig, who played a full game despite a lame back, and a home run by Bill Dickey. The Yanks scored two more in the sixth and got one in the ninth.

The victory gave the Indians a sweep of the two game series. Score:

RED SOX WIN, 5-4.

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—(AP)—Robert Moses [Lefty] Grove scored his eighth consecutive pitching triumph as the Boston Red Sox nosed out the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4, today.

Singles by Fred Walker, Ervin Fox, and Charley Gehringer in the ninth pulled Detroit within a run of the Red Sox and put the tying tally on third with none out, but Grove forced Rudy York, Hank Greenberg, and Don Ross to pop to the infield.

Giants Protest Cards' 25 Man Team, but Win

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Slick Castleman pitched and won his first game of the season today. He beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 4, aided by an 11 hit Giant attack against three Card hurlers.

Castleman yielded only eight hits, three of them in the ninth when the Cards scored two runs. It was Castleman's first appearance as a starting hurler since Aug. 31, 1937. He has been out because of a back injury.

Manager Bill Terry of the Giants announced the game was being played under a protest. Terry protested because the Cardinals, by a special ruling by Judge Landis, were two men over the player limit. Terry said the Giants had not been officially notified of the Cards' extension which lasts until the end of the week. Score:

Stratton and Sox Run Over Senators, 10-3

run to take a 3 to 0 lead in the first of the third. With one out Simmons, for the second time, got on base on an error and reached second on Stone's out. Al scored on Bonura's single to center. Travis forced Bonura.

The Sox tied the score in the home third. Berger led off with a double to the left field score board, paused while Bonura caught Kreevich's foul, and scored when Steinbacher bounced a double over Travis' head. Walker then socked his No. 3 homer into the left field stand, scoring behind Steinbacher. Radcliff and Owen flied out.

Senators Fail to Score.

The Senators, in the fourth, matched the Sox's second inning performance by loading the bases and failing to score. Almada opened with a single and stopped at third on R. Ferrell's double. Berger, playing in on the grass, seized Leonard's tap and held the runners on base, but made a wide toss to first, whereupon Leonard was safe and the bases loaded. Myer popped to Berger in short left and Lewis hit into a double play, Stratton to Sewell to Radcliff.

The Sox added three runs in the fourth. Hayes opened with a single and stole second. Sewell scored him with a single and took second on a throw to the plate. Stratton bunted and, when Leonard held the ball after finding no one covering third, Monty was credited with a single, Sewell reaching third. Berger fanned but Kreevich singled to left, scoring Sewell and putting Stratton on third. Appleton replaced Leonard and Stratton scored while Pete was throwing out Steinbacher. Walker flied to Almada.

The Sox made it 7 to 3 in the fifth. Owen singled with one down and scored on Hayes' double to left. Sewell lined to Travis and Stratton fanned.

Another Chance Fades.

The Sox loaded the bases with two out in the sixth. Travis' second error, Walker's single and a pass to Radcliff filled 'em up, but Owen forced Radcliff.

A boner by Rick Ferrell and loafing by Almada must have distressed Manager Bucky Harris in the eighth. With one down, Almada was safe when Radcliff stepped off first while taking Berger's throw. R. Ferrell singled, Almada reaching third. Goslin batted for Appleton and flied to Steinbacher. R. Ferrell, apparently thinking there were two out, ran to third, whereupon Steinbacher threw to Radcliff to double Ferrell. Even so, Almada could have scored had he run to the plate. He jogged, however, so the double play was completed before he got home.

The Sox made three runs in the eighth on a triple by Berger. A double by Kreevich and singles by Steinbacher and Owen did the business.

NOTRE DAME NINE WINS, 9 TO 1, OVER MICHIGAN STATE

Notre Dame, Ind., May 24.—[Special.]—The Notre Dame baseball team defeated Michigan State, 9 to 1, here today, avenging an earlier defeat at Lansing.

Mike Mandjiak, sophomore southpaw, yielded only four hits and struck out nine, while his mates were making 13 hits off two State pitchers.

Chet Sullivan's homer with two on base, and Ennio Arboit's triple with three on base were high spots in the Irish attack.

WHITEHEAD WILL FACE MACKS FOR WHITE SOX TODAY

The Philadelphia Athletics, from whom the Sox have won two out of three engagements, are in town for a game this afternoon and another tomorrow. John Whitehead will pitch for the Sox and Luther Thomas for the A's.

Yesterday's game was the eleventh straight in which Boze Berger has hit safely. Jack Hayes has hit safely in his last fourteen.

Paul Amen, University of Nebraska football, basketball and baseball player, who came to town to work out with the Sox, showed off only one day, then went back to his campus. It seems he had forgotten to take some examinations. He'll be back, 'tis said.

There was a touch of the arctic in Comiskey park yesterday. The frigidity held the turnout to 2,500 overcoat owners.

—but only YOU can pick the best one!

ISN'T IT TRUE? Only you can decide which of all the whiskies on the market you like best.

For instance, we think you'll like Four Roses best of all—but that's only what we think. After all, your own taste is the one and only judge.

So we ask you to try Four Roses against any other whiskey, regardless of age or type or price.

Once you have made this test—once you have savored the glorious flavor, the deep mellow richness, of Four Roses—we believe you'll agree with us that Four Roses is America's finest whiskey.

How we do it

We take several selected straight whiskies, each outstanding for some special virtue: aroma, or body, or smoothness, or flavor. Then we combine these several whiskies to make one superlative whiskey—one whiskey that is more magnificent than any of the separate whiskies could possibly be alone. ARMSTRONG ENDS WORKOUTS FOR BOUT WITH ROSS

Trainers of Challenger Predict K. O. Victory.

coast, he became the mouthpiece for Henry.

Predicts a Victory.

"Henry's the thirteenth child in the family," Harry confided. "He's got four brothers and three sisters living. His mother died years ago but his daddy is out in California.

"Henry is just as sure to whip Ross as he is to eat dinner when he quits punching that bag in the ring. And he won't ever be fighting as a featherweight again unless some one comes along who can draw big money.

"Yes, Henry is supposed to get 12½ per cent of the purse Thursday night, but I won't say he won't get 20 per cent. A fighter like Henry should get 20 per cent."

Ross to Get 40 Per Cent.

Ross will receive 40 per cent of the purse next Thursday night and the same percentages hold for the radio and picture rights. The managers are not satisfied with the $5,000 payment for the radio and both camps have protested to Mike Jacobs. That the fight probably will not gross more than $200,000 hasn't made either group amenable to suggestions from Jacobs.

Armstrong weighed 135¼ pounds when he finished his work today. He'll weigh in at the New York commission offices Thursday noon at 136 pounds. His best fighting weight, according to Harry, is 133 pounds, which admission is proof that Armstrong never will defend his featherweight title.

"Henry likes the bright lights," Harry said this afternoon. "Three weeks here in Jersey have been like a sentence. Whenever he puts on the gloves he's ready to fight and that accounts for his slam-bang battles with Frankie Genovese, his sparring mate.

Forecasts a Knockout.

"He don't know how to hold back. He fights. And when he sets a fighting pace for Ross for 15 rounds, he's going to win by a knockout. Maybe Barney will look good for four or five rounds. But after that, when Ross can't get a rest, and Henry keeps coming in under that left hand, the end of the fight will be with Ross on his back."

ROSS IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Barney Ross, welterweight champion, arrived in town today from his training camp at Grossingers' lake and entertained a large crowd at Stillman's gymnasium, while he went through the equivalent of six rounds of work.

Ross, who appeared to be in fine condition and perfectly confident of himself, weighed 141½ pounds after his workout. He will probably go into the ring at the same weight.

Cuban Army Polo Team to Play at Oak Brook

An international polo series will be held this summer, with the Cuban army team meeting a Chicago team at the Oak Brook Polo club, Paul Butler, chairman of the Central Polo association, said yesterday. Leon Mandel, who was instrumental in getting the acceptance of the Cubans to play here, organized a Chicago quartet under the name of the 124th Field Artillery Polo club last winter and invaded Havana for a series with the Cubans.

IS SCHOOL BOARD HIDING PERTINENT FINANCIAL DATA?

Pro and Con of Charges Are Discussed.

[This article is another in a series discussing both sides of controversial issues concerning the administration of Chicago's public school system].

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

QUESTION: Has the board of education withheld proper information from the public regarding its financial transactions?

THE CHARGE: The board of education has been criticized on several occasions for omitting information from its annual budgets which civic organizations contend should be given the public. The most recent protest against the board's practices was made by Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

The two omissions which Mr. Sutherland stressed most as being against public interest were those of certain summary statements of appropriations and of details which would show the manner in which estimates of back taxes due the board were arrived at. The latter estimates have a direct bearing on the amount of taxes the board needs to levy for the current year to finance its operations.

How Much Is Spent?

Summary statement V, omitted from the 1938 school budget, was particularly important, Mr. Sutherland contended, since it gave the public information on how much the schools were spending for instruction, for administration, for plant operation and maintenance, and for other purposes.

In its statement of taxes receivable the Civic Federation urged the board to amplify its budget information by setting down the amount of taxes originally extended, the amount collected, the amount written off as uncollectible, and the amount remaining to be applied against liabilities or fresh expenditures.

Statement at Budget Hearing.

In a statement given the board at its public budget hearing, Mr. Sutherland maintained that failure to provide the information he suggested could no longer be justified on ground previously taken by the board, that it would expose school tax levies to attacks in the courts. He referred to a recent case in which the Supreme court held that courts would not interfere with exercise of sound business judgment by tax levying bodies in writing off a portion of their back taxes as uncollectible, unless it clearly appears that such discretionary powers have been abused.

On the same subject the official publication of the Chicago Teachers' union said:

"As long as this information is withheld, it is within the realm of possibility for a board of education to withhold knowledge of assets and then, when it is politically expedient, to bring forth those assets and appropriate against them."

Peculiar System of Bookkeeping.

THE REPLY: "Summary statement V. was a purely statistical table, based on the peculiar system of bookkeeping which has been in vogue in the Chicago schools for 25 to 50 years," said James B. McCahey, president of the board of education.

"It was of no use either to the board or the public in the passage of the annual budget. It had been misused for purposes of comparison of the Chicago schools with those of other cities. Those cities keep their accounts on an entirely different basis, a basis differing from the Chicago accounting system in major, not minor details.

"As a single example, it is unfair to compare Chicago and New York school expenditures unless account is taken of the fact that in Chicago we pay teachers' pensions out of the educational fund, while in New York teachers' pensions are not paid by the school board at all, but by the city government.

Willing to Supply Figures.

"The Chicago school administration is willing to make information available for comparison of its expenditures, including the proportion of instructional expense to other expenses, with other cities. But it will not be a party to making such comparisons on a fundamentally unfair basis, and comparisons based on summary statement V. were fundamentally unfair."

Mr. McCahey said that the board, following Mr. Sutherland's appearance at its public budget hearing, met his other objection, that relating to details of back taxes available for appropriation. Estimates of the amount of such taxes, broken down by annual tax levies, were included in the permanent budget.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: "Some Day He'll Come Along"

CASEY ATTACKS TRIAL BY RADIO; CALLS IT UNFAIR

Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court yesterday charged that radio broadcasts of trafic court cases unfairly penalize defendants who are often given heavy fines or sentences "merely to put a punch in the act." The assertion was made at a luncheon of the Civil Liberties committee in the Brevoort hotel.

Records prove, said Judge Casey, that 65.5 per cent of those tried in trafic courts without radio broadcasts are found guilty while 90.6 per cent are found guilty when the broadcasts are being made. This means, said the judge, that when a defendant goes to trial in a radio court his chances of acquittal are one in ten while ordinarily they are one in three.

"The fines assessed," said the judge, "were three times as heavy during the broadcasts, on an average."

Such court hearings, he asserted, represented travesties of justice. He challenged Chief Justice Sonsteby, who is responsible for the broadcasts, on the legality of the procedure.

3 ARE SENTENCED TO JAIL TERMS AS WILD DRIVERS

Three motorists were sentenced to the county jail and one was fined yesterday by Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Safety court. David Johnson, 3519 Sheffield avenue, got a ten day sentence for driving while intoxicated. Homer Goodwin, 6407 South Spaulding avenue, and Stanley Wozniak, 2004 Huron street, were sentenced to five days each for reckless driving, and Benjamin Ligminowski, 3802 South Harding avenue, was fined $10 on a similar charge. The driving privileges of all four were suspended for varying periods.

Court Orders Mother to Give Her Son a Thrashing

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Magistrate Overton Harris ordered Mrs. Mary Bradley to thrash her son Tommy when the boy pleaded guilty to yanking a subway whistle cord. Both she and Tommy believed it unjust punishment but better than jail for the boy. And jail was the magistrate's alternative. So Mrs. Bradley used her son's own belt strap on him. Though the magistrate ordered a "welt raising" thrashing, Mrs. Bradley said she didn't whip Tommy very hard because he really is a good boy.

He died at Phoenix, Ariz., two days before his fifty-ninth birthday. Included among the bequests is $500,000 to the Teachers college of Columbia university, and $100,000 each to the Henry Street settlement and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

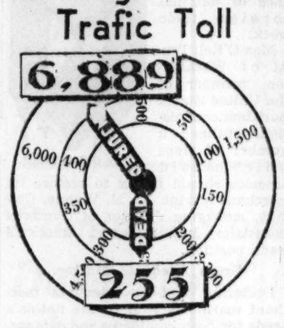
THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO AS SHE GETS OFF STREET CAR

Mrs. Blenda Pearson, 71 years old, a widow, was killed by an automobile last night when she alighted from a street car at Lamon avenue and Irving Park road. She lived at 5029 Berenice avenue. The car was driven by Robert Hurst, 23 years old, of 4110 Octavia avenue.

Gust Koclanes, 58 years old, partner in a real estate concern, died yesterday in the Frances Willard hospital of injuries incurred May 16 when he was struck by the car of a hit and run driver at Jackson boulevard and Mason avenue. Mr. Koclanes lived at 14 North Austin boulevard, Oak Park.

A hit and run driver whose car brushed a child in front of her home, spinning her into the path of another machine which struck and seriously injured her, was sought last night by Sheffield avenue police. The girl is Diana Schoeman, 5 years old, 1620 Diversey parkway. Physicians at the Illinois Masonic hospital said her right leg was broken and she was suffering from shock.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 332 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 255 were killed in Chicago where 6,889 were injured in the same period.

J. I. CASE CO. BOARD TO ACT IN STRIKE TODAY

Rockford, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—George Rose, international organizer of the United Automobile Workers of America, tonight announced that the board of directors of the J. I. Case company would meet in Racine, Wis., tomorrow to take up the matter of a preferential shop at the Rockford farm implement plant.

The decision, Rose said, came after a three hour conference today between representatives of the United Automobile Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate, and A. W. Leland, plant manager, and H. H. Biggers, vice president in charge of operations.

Rose said that under the preferential shop plan new employés would be required to join the U. A. W. within 30 days after starting work. One of the conditions, he said, was that new workers remain in good standing in the union.

Both Leland and Biggers declined to comment on matters discussed at the conference. The plant entrance was the scene of a riot Monday.

JOHN VAN WYCK, HEAD OF MISSION, FOUND DEAD AT 81

The down-and-outers of near North Wells street lost a good friend yesterday. John Van Wyck, for twenty years superintendent of the Home of Hope mission, 919 North Wells, who had handed out free coffee and buns each night except Monday for many years, was found dead in his tiny apartment in the rear of the mission. He was 81 years old.

His death ended a career which might well have ended more than twenty years ago except for the Home of Hope. Down and out himself then, Van Wyck stumbled in one bitter night, found himself again, and remained to become its head.

He was born in The Netherlands, it is said, and taught high school there after attending the University of Leyden. He later served in the Dutch cavalry and then went to sea. He sailed before the mast for many years and came to this country in his fifties.

Funeral services will be held in the mission at 3:30 p. m. today. Many of those he befriended will be there to pay him a final tribute.

2 MORE BUILDING CODE CHAPTERS WIN APPROVAL

The city council committee on building and zoning yesterday recommended passage of two new chapters in Chicago's revised building code covering general occupancy provisions and defining technical terms used in other chapters. Thirteen of the code's fifty chapters have been passed and three are now before the council.

One of the latter dealing with single family dwellings is not liberal enough in reference to frame construction, several aldermen complained, but an hour of wrangling merely resulted in postponement of any action on the disputed sections. This leaves the city using the old code which limits frame dwellings to the outskirts of the city.

The subcommittee on the code amended the chapter on multiple dwellings to provide that every such building over two stories in height must have two stairways accessible to occupants of every flat.

Visits Cemetery to Tend Grave of Husband; Dies

Mrs. Elizabeth Metzger Schneider of Milwaukee collapsed yesterday while planting flowers on the grave of her husband in St. Joseph's cemetery and died before a physician could be summoned. Her sister, Mrs. Eva Debo, 418 West 66th place, who was with her at the time, said death presumably was the result of a heart attack. The two women had gone to the cemetery in River Grove to tend the family burial plot.

Finish Hearing on New Mannheim Road Viaduct

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday completed hearings on the need of a new viaduct over the tracks of the Milwaukee railroad in Mannheim road south of Irving Park boulevard. Witnesses have testified that the present wooden structure is inadequate and unsafe.

Born in Iowa, Mr. Brown's first job was driving a mule for $1 a week. Later entering the machinery business, he formed his own company, disposing of it in 1886 when he entered politics and was elected treasurer of Jasper county, Iowa.

In 1892 he moved to Chicago as manager of the American Press association. He helped organize the Kenwood Trust and Savings bank in 1905, served as president and chairman, and when it was merged with the Hyde Park National bank became chairman of the new institution until 1932.

How to go to California in Luxury for no extra fare

By J. H. DESHEROW, General Agent
SOUTHERN PACIFIC, CHICAGO

One of our 13 trains to California has attracted probably the most loyal group of travelers in the world. It isn't our fastest train to California, either. Maybe the word that describes it best is "hospitable." I refer to the Golden State Limited.

Here are the things you'll like about this train: it has two lounge cars instead of one. It has shower baths, barber, valet and ladies' maid. It arrives at Phoenix and Tucson in the morning, then shows you the colorful Southwest by daylight . . . the jagged mountains of Southern Arizona and Southern California's neat groves of date palms and orange trees . . . arriving at Los Angeles in the evening. But the thing you'll like best about the Golden State Limited is that you pay no extra fare to ride it.

Streamliners, too!

Of course if you prefer superspeed, extra fare service to California, we have that, too, on the great Streamliner City of San Francisco and the streamlined Forty-Niner. And if you're primarily interested in saving money, there's our Californian and San Francisco Challenger for chair car and tourist passengers only.

How to See TWICE as Much

Go to California on one of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and return on a different one. This way you see twice as much of California and the West. Let us show you. Call, write or telephone us today.

SLAVES OF harsh LAXATIVES break your bonds!

EVERYONE knows that harsh laxatives do not cure constipation but only irritate the intestinal tract.

Instead, try this. First thing every morning squeeze the juice of a lemon into a tall glass of cold or warm water. Into another glass, put half a teaspoonful of ordinary baking soda (bicarbonate). Pour back and forth, and drink when foaming quiets.

Make this a daily health habit. See how you benefit, right from the start.

MACKIN—Thomas Mackin, 1937. In fond memory of our boy, Tom.
Somebody's boy had a song on his lips

Drivers in city and town;
Will you not count it the greatest crime
To strike somebody's boy down?

50 MILLION ISSUE IS MARKETED BY NEW YORK CITY

National Gypsum Offering to Be Made Today.

New York City yesterday sold $50,000,000 of serial bonds and corporate stock to a bank group headed by the National City bank. The group bid $100.50 per $100 bond for $40,000,000 of serial bonds as 3¼s and $10,000,000 of corporate stock bearing 3 per cent interest. The group immediately reoffered the issue at prices to yield from 0.60 per cent to 3.20 per cent, according to maturity.

The stock matures June 1, 1978, and the bonds mature at various times from 1939 to 1978. An active demand for the securities was reported by investment banking houses.

"I am entirely gratified at the outcome of this sale, which was somewhat more ambitious than the previous one in March," Joseph D. McGoldrick, city controler, said.

Average Maturity Longer.

"The amount of bonds sold today was substantially larger and the average maturity was considerably longer. The rate of the successful bid is most favorable and I am satisfied that the city has taken advantage of most helpful market conditions."

A group which includes W. E. Hutton & Co.; Kidder, Peabody & Co.; Johnson, Lane, Space & Co., Inc.; Scott & Stringfellow, and Schoellkopf, Hutton & Pomeroy, Inc., will offer by means of a prospectus today $3,500,000 of National Gypsum company Buffalo, 4½ per cent sinking fund debentures, due May 1, 1950, at 100 and accrued interest. Proceeds from the sale will be used to pay off $1,250,000 of 4 per cent mortgage notes due in 1940, to redeem its outstanding 15 year 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds due 1943 at 103, to repay $100,000 of purchase money notes, to construct and equip a new plant in the south and for working capital.

Maker of Varied Products.

National Gypsum manufacturers a diversified line of related building materials, including gypsum wallboards, bath, block, stuccos, plasters, lime, limestone, insulation boards, and other materials.

The Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company, Baltimore, yesterday filed with the Securities and Exchange commission at Washington a certificate of registration covering an issue of $18,000,000 of 30 years 3¼ per cent bonds, to be known as series C. Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to refund $18,000,000 of 30 year 3¾ per cent bonds which were sold in November, 1934.

Air Reduction.

Investors' Guide: Kindly send me any information you may have on the Air Reduction company.—B. M. K.

Answer: Using air, water, limestone, and other common substances as principal raw materials, the Air Reduction Company, Inc., manufactures oxyacetylene gases, plain oxygen, carbon dioxide in liquid, and solid [dry ice] form, and such rare gases as argon, neon, helium, krypton, and xenon. Sales of equipment for cutting and welding provide an important source of revenue.

Air Reduction is the second largest domestic producer of gases used for oxy-acetylene cutting and welding. The largest producer is United Carbide and Carbon corporation. The two companies produce about 90 per cent of the nation's requirements for these materials.

The steel industry and railroads consume about 40 per cent of Air Reduction's output of oxy-acetylene gases. The rest is used by the automobile industry, construction companies, oil and gas companies, utilities, ship builders, and others.

The carbon dioxide division is growing in importance. About four-fifths of the output of this division is used in bottled soft drinks and 10 to 15 per cent in soft drink fountains and beer dispensaries.

Problems peculiar to the business help reduce competition. Compressed gases are shipped in heavy steel containers on which freight or express charges are high. This cuts down the territory that can be served by an individual plant. Air Reduction maintains about 136 plants and 485 warehouses. The cost of containers is another factor. Only about $2 worth of some of the cheaper gases can be shipped in a container costing about $15.

Because of the slump in industries it serves, sales fell to $5,514,663 and net income to $795,590, or 31 cents a share, in the first quarter of this year from sales of $7,418,779 and net income of $1,950,538, or 77 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1937. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1937	$30,798,546	$7,326,835	$2.86
1936	27,833,880	7,064,552	2.79
1935	20,865,430	5,292,867	*2.10
1932	11,720,889	2,283,709	*.91
1929	21,801,994	5,972,996	*2.11

*Adjusted to allow for 3-1 stock split in April, 1936.

The company had 2,566,192 shares of no par common stock outstanding at the end of 1937 The regular dividend rate is $1 a year, but an extra $2 was paid in 1937.

BANKERS TOLD FEDERAL POLICY BLOCKS REVIVAL

Convention Speakers Flail 'Invasion.'

BY THOMAS FURLONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—Speaking at the closing session of the Illinois Bankers' association convention here today, Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] and D. M. Emery, president of the National Small Business Men's association, delivered scorching criticism of government policies which, they asserted, are blocking business recovery.

Sen. Edw. R. Burke.

The two addresses, the highlights of the two day convention which opened Monday, were applauded enthusiastically by the 500 bankers who attended today's session.

Both speakers asserted that the government's invasion of the field of private enterprise has been a paramount influence in destroying business confidence and preventing a sound recovery.

Confidence Needed for Recovery.

Senator Burke asserted that the single element that is needed to bring about business recovery is a feeling of security on the part of business men. That confidence, he said, is lacking because the national administration has demonstrated unfriendliness for business and has set up complicated rules for the operation of business which all must obey but the government itself.

The policies that have contributed most to the paralysis of business enterprise, Burke listed as the labor policy under the Wagner act and the government's competition with business, chiefly in the utility field.

It is imperative, he asserted, that the country reverse the policies that have brought economic trouble before the tremendous financial drain of the government relief program saps the remaining reserves of the nation.

Cites Vast Federal Spending.

"The federal government," he said, "in the last five years has spent something like 40 billion dollars, about half of it borrowed money added to the national debt, the principal and interest on which must sometime be paid—by ourselves or our children.

"Beyond that, the record shows that the business institutions of the country during the same period paid out of their accumulated reserves about 20 billion dollars in excess of their earnings, in the effort to keep men at work and the wheels moving. Before long these reserves will be exhausted. The road to recovery must be found, and without delay."

Prudent investors are wisely refraining from new investments in the utility industry, Burke said, because they know the industry must meet the unequal competition which the government is providing.

Utilities Ready to Expand.

The utility industry, he added, is on its toes ready for a big expansion should the government give adequate assurance that it is to be fairly treated.

Discussing the labor question, Burke asserted that the operation of the Wagner act has brought about a breakdown of the normal relationship between employers and workers. Employers that had harmonious relations with their workers for generations have experienced labor difficulty for the first time, he added.

"It is my belief," he said, "that the country is rapidly awakening to the realization that we have let the matter of proper labor relations get out of hand. Because of defects in the Wagner act itself, and more especially in its administration, it has been a potent force in vastly increasing labor disputes.

Urges Mutual Confidence.

"There must be a restoration of good will, mutual respect and confidence between those who work in mill and factory and those who provide the capital and management necessary to make such a venture succeed."

Emery told the bankers that not only they, but all business men are suffering from the effects of government competition.

"Government competition in business is like crab grass in your lawn," he said. "If you do not check or kill it, soon you will have no lawn. As the crab grass slowly chokes out the grass, so does government in business gradually strangle business."

Government competition with private business, he said, started quite modestly and innocently, but by degrees has grown to mammoth proportions.

Warns of Vast Powers.

"First the government enlarged the powers and activities of the Reconstruction Finance corporation," he said. It has grown into a gigantic holding company, he warned, that manipulates loans and credits on an unprecedented scale.

The government now proposes to go into the banking business on a more vast scale, not because there is a lack of banking facilities or lendable capital, but for political motives, he asserted.

"The purpose, so far as I can see," he said, "is to add some more gears and cogs to a political machine that

Call for Soft Drinks Keeps Bottlers Busy

Americans' thirst for carbonated drinks has increased so much that the bottling industry has been having difficulty in instaling machinery fast enough to take care of the demand, Roy H. Crane, assistant general sales manager of the Liquid Carbonic corporation, Chicago, said yesterday at the annual convention of the Illinois Pharmaceutical association. About 2,000 Illinois druggists are attending the convention at the Palmer house.

Crane said Americans are now drinking about 15,000,000 bottles of carbonated beverages daily, and he predicted that if the recent rate of growth is maintained they will be drinking about 25,000,000 bottles daily within two years.

Produce Bottles at Capacity.

Crane also said all bottling machinery manufacturers have been operating at capacity. Citing the experience of Liquid Carbonic, he said the company has been as much as six months behind in its orders and that only within the last few weeks has it been able to catch up with the demand.

Closely following carbonated drinks, ice cream sales, too, have been rising rapidly, Crane asserted. In 1937, he said, 262,575,000 gallons of ice cream were produced, the largest amount on record. The gain over 1936 was 20,000,000 gallons. Crane said figures for the first months of this year indicate that the 1937 volume will be passed.

"Thousands of ice cream plants are operating at capacity," said Crane, "and the great bulk of the gallonage is being sold over drug store fountains.

Expects More Ice Cream.

"There is every indication that the gallonage will continue to increase because consumer demand has made ice cream, because of its food and refreshment value, a regular part of the American diet."

The modern American drug store has now become the refreshment center for its community, Crane continued.

"The drug store first got into the soda fountain business through the medium of the carbonated beverage as a health drink," he said. When ice cream became fashionable, the soda fountain doubled its patronage. Since light drinks and foods go together, sandwiches were added to fountain menus and druggists found themselves in the luncheonette business."

Crane said the per capita expenditure on fountain products represents the largest single item in drug store operation.

CRUDE OIL FLOW TUMBLES; TEXAS OUTPUT SLASHED

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Crude oil production dropped sharply in the week ended May 21, the American Petroleum institute reported today, the result primarily of curtailed output in Texas. The crude flow was down 186,550 barrels daily during the week to 3,175,750 barrels. More than 150,000 barrels of the reduction was accounted for by Texas.

Gasoline inventories at refineries, terminals and in transit fell 655,000 barrels as of the end of the week to 87,992,000 barrels.

Refinery operations were stepped up slightly, runs to stills averaging 3,225,000 barrels a day, compared with 3,170,000 barrels daily the week before.

States Asked to Coöperate.

Austin, Tex., May 24.—[Special.]—Pointing out that the state railroad commission has reduced the production of crude oil in Texas as compared with a year ago, Ernest O. Thompson, a member of the commission, today sent telegrams to governors of Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, and California, requesting them to bring about proportionate curtailments in their respective states.

Profit.

A reader asks: "Can some one make a profit without somebody else losing?" In answering this question it is necessary to decide just what the word profit really means. The word has been much used in numerous ways.

The most commonly accepted definition of profit is the excess of returns over expenditure in a given transaction or series of transactions, or the amount received for goods or services over the price paid for them. A better term for profit in this sense, perhaps, is net income.

Profits of this kind can be realized by one person without loss to another person. It is not a case of "one person's gain is another's loss." In a condition of truly free competition such profits never would mean an offsetting loss, because each person who gained such a profit would be receiving only his proper payment for the value he added to the product in producing or handling it. The purchaser would be paying for exactly what he received, and would suffer no loss.

If competition is in any way restricted, however, the bargaining power of one person might be greater than that of another. In such a case the profit realized might become exorbitant, resulting in a loss to that extent by the second party to the transaction. This situation results in what the economists call "pure profit," which will be discussed tomorrow.

Common Stock Dividends Cut by Big Firms

Montgomery Ward & Co., the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, Remington-Rand, Inc., and two other companies reduced common stock dividend payments yesterday. A long list of other companies, including Quaker Oats, National Lead, International Business Machines, and the Crowell Publishing company, ordered continuation of usual dividends.

A dividend of 25 cents a share will be paid by Montgomery Ward on July 15. The big Chicago mail order house had been paying 50 cents quarterly since Jan. 15, 1937, on which date it also disbursed an extra of $2.90 a share to escape penalties of the undistributed profits tax for its fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1937.

Resumed Payments in 1936.

It paid 60 cents in the calendar year 1936 after omitting payments for five years. The company will pay the usual quarterly dividend on the "A" stock in July.

Union Carbide and Carbon will pay only 40 cents a share on July 1 after disbursing 80 cents quarterly for the last year and a half.

An interim dividend of 20 cents will be paid July 1 by Remington-Rand. The company paid 25 cents on March 25 and $1.05 in 1937, including 15 cents extra. The company also announced that wages of salaried employés will be cut from 5 per cent for those in the lower earning brackets to 25 per cent in higher paid groups, effective June 1. The hourly paid workers will not be affected by the cut.

PANAMA TO STOP BOND INTEREST TILL U. S. PAYS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PANAMA CITY, May 24.—[Special.]—President J. D. Arosemena announced through the Diario Nacional today that not 1 cent of interest on Panama's 5½ per cent bonds of 1923 would be paid until the United States pays arrears of the canal annuities.

The new treaty approved by Panama and now before the United States senate provides for payment of the annuities in gold instead of in depreciated dollars, and Panama contends that $2,000,000 is now due.

The loan of 1923, with $3,500,000 unpaid, is secured by investment in New York City real estate by the government of Panama, and part of the sum received for the canal rights and the canal annuities, which are also pledged for $12,000,000 worth of outstanding 5 per cent bonds in default for several years.

INCREASED SALARIES OF STEEL EXECUTIVES SINCE 1934 REVEALED

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Company reports to the Securities and Exchange commission, made public through the New York Stock exchange today, revealed an upward trend in salaries for the chairman and president of the Crucible Steel company.

Tom M. Girdler.

In 1934 H. S. Wilkinson, chairman, was paid $145,000, and in each of the two following years $150,000. F. B. Hufnagel, president, was paid $72,500 in 1934. In 1935 he received $75,000 and 4,000 common shares, and in 1936 he was paid $125,000.

In 1936 Tom M. Girdler, chairman and president of Republic Steel corporation, was paid $175,000. On Dec. 31, 1936, he was allowed to buy at $6 a share and interest at 4½ per cent from Aug. 23, 1932, a block of 2,800 shares of common stock. The low and closing price of Republic shares in December was $28.75. R. J. Wysor, executive vice president, was paid $85,000 and took delivery of 1,600 shares. Myron R. Wick, vice president, was paid $75,000 and bought 1,400 shares on the same terms.

In its most recent fiscal year the National Steel corporation paid Ernest T. Weir, chairman, and George R. Fink, president, $200,340 each. Thomas E. Millsop, director, received $73,767.

DOLLAR'S VALUE CLIMBS ON WAR THREAT ABROAD

The dollar gained in terms of several European currencies again yesterday in foreign exchange dealings as reports of renewed massing of German troops near the Czechoslovak border caused more Europeans to transfer their funds into American money.

The British pound closed ⅜ of a cent lower at $4.97⅞, the Netherlands guilder was 0.06 of a cent lower at 55.13 cents, and the Belgium belga declined 0.00½ of a cent to 16.83 sents. Bolstered by stabilization fund support, the French franc advanced 0.00½ of a cent to 2.77⅜ cents. The franc fell 0.01⅝ cent Monday in nervous selling.

No further engagements of gold abroad for shipment were reported. London's gold price was equal to $34.778 an ounce, which was about 1 cent above the New York shipping parity.

Home Building Contracts Gain from Year Ago

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Residential building contracts awarded in the first half of May exceeded figures for the corresponding period last year for the first time since the current recession started, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

Residential construction contracted for in the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains totaled $39,694,000 in the two week period, compared with $38,228,000 in 1937. The upturn was not accounted for by large scale housing, the statistical organization stated.

Index Goes Higher.

The latest gain pushed the Associated Press index of residential building, adjusted for seasonal and building material cost changes, to 51.9 per cent of the 1929-'30 average, 24 per cent above the recession low touched late in February.

Eleven of the fifteen districts included in the survey topped last year so far in May.

Improvement occurred in the middle west and south for the most part. New England, New York, and the middle Atlantic states lagged behind 1937.

11 Areas Gain 27 Per Cent.

The eleven districts doing better than last year showed a 27 per cent gain. The four areas falling behind were 21 per cent lower.

Nonresidential construction in the first half of May was $28,066,000, or 29 per cent less than the total a year ago. Public works and utilities, however, planned 17 per cent more building this year than last.

REPORT DECLINE IN UNEMPLOYED; STILL 10,166,000

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Total unemployment in the country decreased by 233,000 from March to April, lowering the number of unemployed to 10,166,000 persons, according to estimates issued today by the national industrial conference board, a research organization supported by business interests. The total of unemployed included 2,995,000 persons attached to the Works Progress administration and the Civilian Conservation corps.

The biggest increases in employment as reported by the board were in agriculture, with trade, distribution and finance, construction and service industries next in the order named. Decreases were reported in manufacturing, extraction of minerals and transportation.

STATE ORDERS STRICT REPORTS FROM BROKERS

Must Be Certified by Outside Experts.

Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, yesterday announced that brokers and investment dealers who renew their Illinois licenses on July 1 will be required for the first time to file financial statements prepared and certified by outside accountants instead of by their own stafs.

Edward J. Hughes.

The new ruling is understood to result from the failure in April of Hoagland & Allum, a Chicago concern, resulting in large loss to investors. This firm had filed financial statements, prepared by it own staf rather than an outside accountant, showing satisfactory financial condition.

The Investment Bankers Association of America recently went on record as advocating that brokerage house statements be made available to customers.

Must Include Balance Sheet.

The certified financial statements must include a balance sheet, profit and loss statement, and analysis of surplus accounts, Secretary Hughes ruled. He also specified that applicants must show a liquid net worth of at least $5,000. Former regulations required only that net worth of $5,000 be shown.

Letters telling of the new regulations have been mailed to more than 600 brokers and dealers throughout the state. Licenses of brokers and dealers automatically expire June 30 unless renewed before that date.

Statements filed in connection with a registration application must be of a date not earlier than March 31, 1938, Secretary Hughes said. He ruled, however, that certified statements as of a date not earlier than Dec. 23, 1937, will be accepted if supplemented with a balance sheet as of a date not earlier than March 31, 1938. The supplemental balance sheet may be prepared by a firm's own staf.

Audited Statements Required.

"[a] A balancing of the securities position, at market values, as well as the ledger accounts.

"[b] A physical examination, and verification, with the accounts, of securities in the box.

"[c] A verification upon receipt or by confirmation, of all securities in transit, transfer, pledged, or otherwise, to be accounted for.

"[d] Written confirmation of the following:

"1. Bank balances and borrowings.

"2. Accounts with other brokers.

"3. Customers' accounts and securities.

"[e] An examination and accounting for all customers' 'free' or 'safekeeping' securities."

World Wheat Prices Slump on Liquidation

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .73⅝	$ .75	$1.16⅞
Corn	.57⅝	.58⅝	1.20⅝
Oats	.26¼	.26⅞	.43½
Rye	.54⅞	.55¼	1.05¾
Soy beans	.89¾	.90½	1.69

Liquidation developed in the world wheat markets yesterday, with prices declining as much as 2¼ cents a bushel. All deliveries on the Chicago and Kansas City Boards of Trade and the deferred futures at Minneapolis and Liverpool sold at new seasonal low levels.

Continued favorable crop reports and a slow export demand influenced speculative sentiment. Bearish sentiment was increased by reports that combines had started to harvest wheat in south central Texas.

At no time did the wheat market show a pronounced tendency to rally, and closing trades were at the low point of the day. Net losses ranged from 1⅞ to 1⅞ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. Other American markets were 1½ to 2¼ cents lower, and Liverpool declined 1½ to 2¼ cents a bushel. Winnipeg had a holiday.

Other Grains Decline.

Other grains were affected by the weakness in wheat. Corn closed ¾ cent lower. Rye was ⅞ to 2⅛ cents lower, with all deliveries selling at new low levels for the season. Oats declined small fractions of a cent a bushel.

Scattered longs were free sellers of May wheat futures, and some stop loss orders were uncovered as prices declined. There were uncompleted contracts for 7,583,000 bushels of May wheat when trading started yesterday, and pit operations in that delivery will cease at the close of trading tomorrow.

Europe Gets More Rain.

More rains were reported yesterday in parts of Europe, but the trade is inclined to look for subnormal yields in Italy, Portugal, and Greece. France is expected to have a moderate amount of wheat for export.

Trade in corn futures was not large and sentiment was somewhat more bearish. Receipts at Chicago during the last two days have aggregated 2,000,000 bushels and country offerings for deferred shipment showed no signs of decreasing yesterday. Weather conditions were generally more favorable for field work.

The Argentine grain market will be closed today in observance of a national holiday, and also tomorrow, in observance of Ascension day.

U. S. MAINTAINS SECRECY IN AUTO FINANCING QUIZ

South Bend, Ind., May 24.—(AP)—Government attorneys, seeking indictment of the country's three largest automobile manufacturers under the anti-trust laws, fastened in secrecy tonight the progress of their case before a grand jury in federal court here.

"We are not going to make the mistake that was made in Wisconsin," said District Attorney James R. Fleming, referring to the dismissal last Dec. 17 at Milwaukee of a grand jury which was making a similar investigation.

Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger dismissed the Milwaukee grand jury on grounds the government counsel had shown "impropriety" in discussing a proposal of settlement with company attorneys while the jury still was studying the evidence.

The Ford Motor company, General Motors corporation, and Chrysler corporation and their associated finance companies are the objects of the inquiry, the government contending they have been guilty of coercion of automobile dealers and discrimination against independent finance companies.

CHEMICAL FIRM REPORTS LOWER PROFIT IN YEAR

But Cigaret Maker's Earnings Rise.

Reduced earnings for the fiscal year ended March 31 as compared with the preceding fiscal year were reported yesterday by the American I. G. Chemical corporation. On the other hand Philip Morris & Co., Ltd., in a preliminary report covering earnings for similar fiscal years, had sharply increased profits.

Several other companies reported lower earnings for various interim periods, among them Servel, Inc., large refrigerator manufacturer, and the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

D. A. Schmitz, president of American I. G. Chemical, reported that net profit for the fiscal year ended March 31 was $4,186,109, against $4,684,768 for the preceding fiscal year. The company earned $5.26 a share for the 1938 period, against $5.89 in the preceding twelve months.

Cigaret Maker Earns $5,663,220.

Philip Morris, large manufacturer of cigarets, for the year ended March 31 had a consolidated net income of $5,663,220, including a nonrecurring profit of $300,434 on the sale of leaf tobacco. This was equal after charges and federal surtax to $10.91 a share on 519,151 capital shares. In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1937, the company had a net profit of $4,573,617, equal to $6.88 a share.

The company's inventories on March 31 totaled $20,838,265, against $17,053,299 on March 31, 1937, and $8,231,559 on March 31, 1936.

The Servel company for the quarter ended April 30 had a net profit of $603,184 after depreciation, bond interest, federal income, and estimated undistributed profits taxes, compared with $1,904,242 in the corresponding quarter of the preceding fiscal year.

Holding Company Profit Dips.

Commonwealth and Southern, one of the nation's largest utility holding companies, reported that its net income for the twelve months ended April 30 was $13,366,676, equal to 13 cents a share on the common stock, as compared with $15,128,029, equal to 18 cents a share, in the preceding twelve months.

The Schulte Retail Stores corporation and subsidiaries, exclusive of Schultco, Inc., reported for the four months ended April 30 a loss of $114,955 after administrative expenses, depreciation, and special charges and credits, against a loss of $60,887 for the like 1937 period. However, the corporation had a profit of $8,375 for April whereas in April, 1937, it had a loss of $4,127.

Investing at Your Own Convenience

• Some of our customers have long preferred to come in and transact investment business at headquarters—or do it by mail. We maintain a trained staff whose sole duty is to make available our complete facilities to those who call at the office or who wish to be served by correspondence.

Today, investors need this convenience more than before. Facilities for bringing service to investors have been limited by scarcity of new issues and reduced profit in distributing bonds of investment character. This comprehensive service available when you want it is especially well suited to the needs of:

OCCASIONAL BOND BUYERS—who invest in moderate amounts as funds accrue and whose investment connections may have lapsed in recent years.

BUSY MEN—who prefer to choose their own time for consideration of investment matters.

WOMEN INVESTORS—who may not be sufficiently experienced in investment matters to make quick decisions and are better satisfied to come in when they have questions to ask, or who like to have information in writing.

OUT-OF-TOWN INVESTORS—who do not have access to the investment facilities afforded in metropolitan centers. Into their homes or offices our service by mail brings the same advantages as dealing in person.

Full description of this service is contained in our booklet "'Going to Market' for Bonds." It will be sent without obligation, upon request . . . together with list of selected bonds yielding over 5½%. Write for booklet CT-5x.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 24.—An early firm tendency failed to hold up on the stock market today and prices in the last hour dropped fractions to 2 points. The selling, which was of moderate proportions, was attributed to "tired longs." Leading industrial issues were the hardest hit.

Volume was around 416,000 shares. Despite the mild acceleration of activity over Monday's session, the market's chief feature was the extreme dullness of trading, with the tape barely moving at intervals.

Observers expressed no surprise at the market's lethargy, pointing out that there was nothing of consequence in the day's developments to warant traders leaving their sideline positions. Added to the general lack of inspiring news was the revival of the Czech-Reich crisis, it was asserted, thus providing further caution.

Steel shares were prominent in the late decline. Aviation shares were steady for a time under the stimulation of reports that two large American companies had received orders from the British air ministry mission. However, the group turned lower in the late trading and losses ran to 1½ points.

Announcement that crude oil production contracted sharply last week acted favorably on the oil shares for a time, but its effects wore off and fractionally lower prices prevailed in the group at the close.

Coppers and motors displayed no rallying power.

Fairly active and modestly higher in the morning, public utility issues reacted in the afternoon and fractional losses appeared against the majority of favorites.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Most classes of bonds, excepting United States government obligations, drifted to moderately lower levels today in slightly more active trading.

In the corporate group a fairly long list of underlying public utility issues proved vulnerable to the selling, resulting in losses of fractions to about two points.

United States government issues as a group rallied somewhat after their Monday sinking spell and closed with gains of 1-32 to 5-32 of a point predominating. A few of the federal issues eased off the same amount, but the gains far outnumbered the losses.

Rails as a group were mostly lower, but a few rose as much as a point.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks turned downward in afternoon trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday after drifting aimlessly during most of the morning. Of the 66 issues traded, only 9 advanced, 39 closed lower, and 18 held unchanged. The Tribune average of 20 stocks finished at 8.13, off 0.20 and only 0.03 above low point of the session.

Middle West, General Household Utilities, Commonwealth Edison, Swift, and Marshall Field declined fractionally.

The exchange approved the application of the Commonwealth Edison company to list $33,000,000 of first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds, due July 1, 1968; $42,303,840 of convertible debentures, 3½ per cent series, due July 1, 1958; 1,692,154 additional shares of $25 par value capital stock, and 8,460,768 rights to subscribe to convertible debentures. It also approved the application of the Eddy Paper corporation to list 7,151 additional shares of capital stock of no par value, to be exchanged for 3,932 shares of the common stock of Rochester Folding Box company.

Bank Stocks.

April Operating Net Far Below Year Ago.

Net operating incomes of five railroads which reported yesterday showed a continued decline despite higher freight rates which went into effect recently. The aggregate net operating income of the five carriers for April was 83.4 per cent under that of April last year. This compared with an 82.5 per cent drop in March.

The Erie railroad reported net operating income for April of $17,358, compared with $16,865 in March and $1,535,294 in April a year ago. A deficit for the first four months of 1938 of $251,830 was shown, compared with income of $5,730,163 in the same months in 1937.

Norfolk & Western Net Falls.

The Norfolk & Western announced April net income of $710,421, equal to 45 cents a share, against $2,368,244, equal to $1.63 a share, in 1937. For the four months the line reported net income of $2,657,435 against $10,571,178 in the same 1937 period. The earnings were equivalent to $1.67 per share on the common stock in the four months, compared with $7.29 per share in the 1937 period.

Executives of the road asserted that April results were comparable with showings of other eastern carriers which are reporting smaller gross revenues for that month as compared with March. In recent weeks the trend of carloadings has shown a small improvement, although totals still are substantially below a year ago.

April net operating income of $62,445 against $165,542 in 1937 was reported by the Gulf, Mobile & Northern line. Four months' net operating income was $192,584 against $460,320 in 1937.

Soo Line Has Deficit.

The Soo Line reported a net operating deficit of $139,982 for April against net income of $325,627 last year, and four months net operating deficit of $1,102,989 against net income of $99,901 in the corresponding 1937 period.

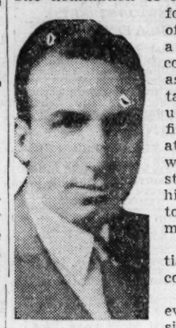
New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Following the lead of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company and the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company today announced third quarter prices unchanged from second quarter quotations, except for flat rolled products. On the latter a schedule similar to those already announced was made public.

SENATE CONFIRMS HANES' NOMINATION FOR TREASURY JOB

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—The nomination of John W. Hanes, former member of the Securities and Exchange commission, for assistant secretary of the treasury was confirmed by the senate today. Hanes was a New York stock broker until his appointment to the SEC some months ago.



John W. Hanes.

Other presidential nominations confirmed were: George C. Mathews, of Wisconsin, for another term as a member of the SEC.

Convention Speakers Flail Attacks on Business.

is rapidly becoming a menace to liberty."

Emery asserted that it is impossible for the RFC to pass on a half a million loan applications without political bias. The government's record in the loan business is far from reassuring, he said.

Recalls Home Loan Foreclosures.

"The last report of the Home Owners' Loan corporation," he said, "shows that it has made 70,000 foreclosures. The loss is estimated above two million dollars. It further showed that 250,000 home owners were delinquent.

"In one year's time the administration has instituted more foreclosure proceedings upon home owners than all the large insurance companies and savings banks in New York put together. Yet Mr. Roosevelt's heart bled for the poor home owners whose mortgages were being foreclosed by insurance companies and savings banks in 1932, when the companies were seeking to protect their millions of policy holders."

Emery said his organization represents an attempt to make the influence of the small business man felt in national affairs. Such influence, he asserted, is greatly needed if the country is to follow a wise economic course.

Other Speakers Rap Policies.

Other speakers at today's sessions included Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, and Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association.

Lichtenstein predicted there would be no pronounced upturn in interest rates because the government has demonstrated its ability to maintain its easy money policy and under pressure of necessity must continue that policy. He expressed the opinion that there is no immediate inflation in prospect in the United States.

Smith told the bankers that unless the country succeeds in its attempt to reduce surpluses of farm products, there is danger of repetition of the deflation in agriculture values experienced from 1928 to 1933.

Condemn Federal Spending.

The convention adopted without dissent the declaration of policy presented at yesterday's session condemning the government's spending policy and advocating a system of direct cash for the idle to be granted by the government as a measure of economy.

F. A. Gerding, who headed the committee that prepared the policy declaration, was elected president of the association for the coming year. He is president of the First National bank of Ottawa. John J. Anton, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, was named vice president. The new treasurer is John D. Blossom, vice president of Central National Bank and Trust company, Peoria.

COTTON

Liquidation by tired holders of cotton futures, combined with heavy selling attributed to Bombay, caused a sharp decline in prices in American cotton markets yesterday. Closing trades were at the low point, with net losses on the Chicago Board of Trade running .10 to .14 cent a pound. Other American markets showed declines of .12 to .17 cent pound, the latter equal to $5 cents a bale.

Houses with Bombay connections were reported to be heavy sellers in the Liverpool as well as the New York market. The strained political situation in Europe also was said to have slowed up the demand for American cotton to some extent. Trade reports indicated that the so-called "parity" price of cotton, relative to what farmers must pay for other commodities, figures at about 8.37 cents a pound.

Spot cotton closed .10 to .15 cent lower, with New Orleans, 8.50 cents; New York, 8.35 cents; Houston, 8.35 cents, and Galveston, 8.30 cents a pound. Prices follow:
